Changing Melanesia Cyril S. Belshaw, 1976 Social Change in Melanesia Paul Sillitoe, 2000-04-13 This book first published in 2000 is a companion volume to An Introduction to the Anthropology of Melanesia 1998 It gives a clear and absorbing account of social change in Melanesia since the arrival of Europeans covering the history of the colonial period and the new postcolonial states Paul Sillitoe deals with economic and technological change labour migration and urbanisation and formation of the modern state but he also describes the sometimes violent reactions to these dramatic transformations in the form of cargo cults secession movements and insurrections against multinational companies He discusses development projects but brings out associated policy dilemmas reviews developments that threaten the environment and implications for local identity such as romanticises primitive culture This fascinating account of social change in the Pacific is addressed to students with little or no background in the region's history and development

Changing Melanesia Paul Philip Howell, 1954 Labor Commitment and Social Change in Developing Areas Social Science Research Council (U.S.). Committee on Economic Growth, 1960 This work examines the intended and unanticipated consequences of economic advancement in developing areas and the commitment of industrial labor Both the short term acceptance of the attitudes and beliefs appropriate to a modernized economy are discussed A Melanesia Bibliography Terence A. Wesley-Smith, Michael P. Hamnett, 1984 Melanesians and Missionaries Darrell L. Whiteman, 2002-05-10 In Melanesians and Missionaries one of the best of the younger generation of missionary anthropologists demonstrates that a commitment to the missionary enterprise on the part of a solid scholar facilitates rather than hinders the anthropological study of a missionary topic This is better anthropology because Dr Whiteman is able to probe more deeply into his topic and demonstrates that he understands and appreciates both Melanesians and missionaries Charles H Kraft Professor of Anthropology School of World Mission Fuller Theological Seminary Pasadena Exchange and Markets in Early Economic Development John D. Conroy, 2023-05-12 The idea of an informal economy emerged from and is a critique of the ideology of economic development It originated from Keith Hart's recognition of informal economic activity in 1960s Ghana In the context of four colonialisms German British Australian and Dutch this book recounts Hart's effort in 1972 to introduce the informal sector into development planning in Papua New Guinea This was problematic because the market was scarcely institutionalized and traditional modes of exchange persisted stubbornly Rather than conforming with post colonial economic ideology the subjected people pushed back against imposed bureaucracy to practice informal and hybrid modes of economic activity Cash Cropping, Catholicism and Change Olga Gostin, Australian National University. National Centre for Development Studies, 1986 Circulation in Population Movement (Routledge Revivals) Murray Chapman, R. Mansell Prothero, 2013-09-05 First published in 1985 this collection of essays deals with processes of population movement and how they have operated over time It is also about people Melanesians who number some five million and inhabit the region

stretching from the Indonesian province of Irian Jaya to the Independent State of Fiji Standard work on Movement in third world societies has emphasized migration involving a shift in residence from one domicile to another at the expense of the interchange of people between diverse places and different circumstances Many moves as from villages and towns are circulatory they begin at go away from but ultimately end in the same dwelling place and community This book focuses on the full range of territorial mobility especially circulation and its meanings for the people involved This volume brings together indigenous scholars foreign field researchers and international authorities from many of the social sciences anthropology demography economics geography and sociology It presents a set of multicultural statements about the mobility of particular peoples within a region of the third world This collection about specifically Melanesian issues aims to stimulate broader visions among population scholars and it underlines the pressing need for more theoretical and empirical work on a volatile yet neglected category of population movement

Themes in Economic Anthropology

Raymond Firth, 2013-11-05 The main focus of the volume the processes of choice and decision making in different economic systems offers exceptional scope for the convergence of economic and anthropological perspectives It concentrates on transactions that both express and influence social relationships and values Covering a wide geographic area there are specific studies on societies in Equatorial Africa Colombia South India and the Balkans First published in 1967 How Do We Know? Applying Theories and Methods for Anthropology Cyril Belshaw, 2011 Cyril Belshaw likes to explore outside the box He has been called the anthropologist of anthropology He has been told You are not really an anthropologist Whether or not such statements are accurate he does like to find new paths so that often his contributions appear away from the main roads of publication Thus in the hopes of stimulating discussion perhaps new applications and debate amongst graduate students and colleagues alike he has brought some of them together here He is now approaching his nineties so that some of his ideas date back as far as the forties while some follow is retirement The ethnographic base for his theoretical constructs and explanations is derived from the Pacific Islands Canadian society Switzerland and widespread travels influenced by the belief that a major objective of anthropology is to use explanation to improve the world

Marxist Analyses and Social Anthropology

Maurice Bloch, 2013-10-11 Reflecting the first evaluation among British and American anthropologists of the relevance of Marxist theory for their discipline the studies in this volume cover a wide geographical and social spectrum ranging from rural Indonesia Imperial China Highland Burma and the Abron kingdom of Gyaman A critical survey assesses the value of some key ideas of Marx and Engels to social anthropology and places in historical perspective the changing attitudes of social anthropologists to the Marxist tradition Originally published in 1975 God's Gentlemen David Hilliard, 2013-05-01 David Hilliard's God's Gentlemen originally published in 1978 remains the only detached and detailed historical analysis of the work of the Melanesian Mission Starting with its New Zealand beginnings and its Norfolk Island years 1867 1920 the work follows the Mission's shift of headquarters to the Solomon Islands and on until the beginning of the Second World War The Mission which grew out of the personal vision of the first Church of England Bishop of New Zealand George Selwyn formally defined its field of work as the Islands of Melanesia although its activities were confined almost entirely to the island groups that now make up Vanuatu and the Solomon Islands The Diocese of Melanesia was a fully constituent diocese of the Anglican Church of New Zealand from its formation in 1861 until the creation of the autonomous Church of the Province of Melanesia in 1975 Based on a wide range of sources God s Gentleman is the inner history of the slow growth of an important and genuinely Melanesian church The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science ,1955 Nature, Culture, and History K. R. Howe,2000-03-01 Explores the changing ways in which Pacific Islanders have been seen and represented by outsiders over the last 200 years The Pacific Islands has been a testing ground for various Western ideas and ideologies and the author looks at this long intellectual history as an artifact of the Western imagination Of particular concern is to see how concepts of nature culture and history have defined Western perceptions of Pacific Islanders

Workers and Narratives of Survival in Europe Angela Procoli,2012-02-01 Workers and Narratives of Survival in Europe explores the growing problem of job uncertainty in Europe at the end of the twentieth century The management of professional precariousness is reconsidered against the backdrop of far reaching social economic and political changes in Europe in recent decades including the instability of the traditional family the emergence of new forms of parenthood globalization of the economic sphere attempts to impose a uniform pattern of culture and the breakdown of borders with former Communist countries The contributors utilize extensive field studies in both Western and Central Europe to understand the meaning of professional uncertainty as perceived by its victims and the strategies they develop to face it

Cultures of the Pacific Thomas G. Harding,Ben J. Wallace,1970-04 Cultures of the Pacific offers a selection of 28 readings representing anthropological research interests cultural variation in the Pacific The selections emphasize anthropological significance and relevance rather than substantive and geographical coverage The articles are divided into 6 topical areas of major importance Culture History Technology Economics Social Life Politics Social Control Religion Culture Change Among the selections included are The Kon Tiki Myth by Robert C Suggs The Primitive Economics of the Trobriand Islanders by Bronislaw Malinowski and The Rights of Primitive Peoples by Margaret Mead Many of the selections including 4 previously unpublished papers have not been readily available to the reader Editors introductions to each section indicate the place of the individual contributions in Pacific studies in particular and in anthropology in general Illustrations tables complement the text Cultures of the Pacific is designed primarily for undergraduate graduate courses in the anthropology of Pacific peoples cultures It will also find application in courses dealing with the cultural geography history of the Pacific as well as those concerned with the political science economic development of the area Cargo Cult Lamont Lindstrom,2019-03-31 Who is not captivated by tales of Islanders earnestly scanning their watery horizons for great fleets of cargo ships bringing rice radios and refrigerators ships that will never arrive Of all the stories spun about the island peoples of Melanesia tales of cargo cult are among the most fascinating The term cargo cult Lamont Lindstrom contends is one of anthropology s most successful conceptual offspring Like culture worldview and ethnicity its usage has steadily proliferated migrating into popular culture where today it is used to describe an astonishing roll call of people It s history makes for lively and compelling reading The cargo cult story Lindstrom shows is more significant than it at first appears for it recapitulates in summary form three generations of anthropological theory and Pacific studies Although anthropologists enthusiasm for the notion of cargo cult has waned it now colors outsiders understanding of Melanesian culture and even Melanesians perceptions of themselves The repercussions for contemporary Islanders are significant leaders of more than one political movement have felt the need to deny that they are any kind of cargo cultist Of particular interest to this history is Lindstrom s argument that accounts of cargo cult are at heart tragedies of thwarted desire melancholy anticipation and crazy unrequited love He makes a convincing case that these stories expose powerful Western scenarios of desire itself giving cargo cult its combined titillation of the fascinating exotic and the comfortably familiar The Politics of Land in Vanuatu Howard Van Trease,1987 *Changing Melanesia, Social Economics of Culture Contact.
