Political Change in the Third World

Charles F. Andrain, 2010-11-26 In this informative and highly readable book first published in 1988 Charles Andrain explores the ways in which public policies and socio political beliefs and structures cause political change in the Third World The author examines 3 types of political change 1 transitions in political leaders and their policies 2 fundamental transformations in political structures policy priorities and political strategies for dealing with policy issues and 3 the impact of economic education and health care policies on the society itself including changes in unemployment inflation economic growth literacy and birth and death rates In the first part of the book Professor Andrain presents a general overview of political change in the Third World explaining how different models of political systems explain the dynamics of political events in Latin America Asia Africa and the Middle East In the second part of the book he then applies these models to specific changes in five developing nations Vietnam Cuba Chile Nigeria and Iran The book is unique in its careful blending of a policy focus with a structural analysis of nation states domestic social groups and international institutions in the often turbulent regions of the developing world It thus provides a very useful systematic approach to political developments in the Third World that will be welcomed by students faculty and general readers

Changing Political Economy of Vietnam Martin

Gainsborough, 2003-08-27 This book explores the way in which the state has become commercialised under reform as party and government officials have gone into business and considers the impact that this has had on politics within Ho Chi Minh City and Hanoi The book charts the way in which power has been decentralised to the lower levels of the party state but argues that the central state retains significant power These issues are explored through a variety of case studies including the implementation of different reform policies struggles over political and business activity and the prosecution of two major corruption cases Particular emphasis is placed on piecing together the myriad of informal practices which dominate business and political life in Vietnam

The Political Economy of Institutional Change in the Electricity Supply Industry

Carlos Rufin, 2003-01-01 Through a variety of analytical lenses formal modeling econometrics and case study comparisons Carlos Rufin fills a gap in the political economy of second wave or microeconomic reforms around the world More specifically he does so in the context of the electricity supply industry where such reforms have been as problematic as they have been widespread The author shows that ideological considerations and bargaining over the distribution of economic rents accruing from certain institutional arrangements are powerful shapers of institutional change At the same time the legacy of the past does not appear to have a clear or systematic effect on the direction of second wave reforms that seek to transform existing economic institutions If distributional conflicts can be resolved these conclusions provide grounds for optimism about the ability to create new institutions even in countries where little favorable precedent exists
