Japan at the Millennium David W. Edgington, 2003 Japan today is at an important historical juncture Buffeted in recent years by rapid economic social and political change yet still very much steeped in custom and history the nation has become an amalgam of the traditional and the modern As a result the country has become increasingly difficult to categorize How are we to represent today's Japan effectively and fairly predict its future This critical multi disciplinary collection explores the convergence of past and future in contemporary Japan Contributors comment on a wide range of economic socio cultural and political trends such as the mobilization of Japanese labour the burgeoning Ainu identity movement and the shifting place of the modern woman and conclude that despite the rapid changes many of the traditional facets of Japanese society have remained intact institutional change they assert is unlikely to occur quickly and Japan must find alternate ways to adjust to twenty first century pressures of global competition and interdependence A pleasure to read this broad volume will be welcomed by upper level undergraduates graduates and specialists in Japanese studies

The Japanese Self in Cultural Logic Takie Sugiyama Lebra, 2004-09-30 The self serves as a universally available effective and indispensable filter for making sense of the chaos of the world In her latest book Takie Lebra attempts a new understanding of the Japanese self through her unique use of cultural logic She begins by presenting and elaborating on two models opposition logic and contingency logic to examine concepts of self Japanese and otherwise Guided by these she delves into the three layers of the Japanese self focusing first on the social layer as located in four zones omote front uchi interior ura back and soto exterior and its shifts from zone to zone New light is shed on these familiar linguistic and spatial categories by introducing the dimension of civility The book expands the discussion in relation to larger constructions of the inner and cosmological self Unlike the social self which views itself in relation to the other the inner layer involves a reflexivity in which self communicates with self While the social self engages in dialogue or triologue the inner self communicates through monologue or soliloquy The cosmological layer which centers around transcendental beliefs and fantasies is examined and the analysis supplemented with comments on aesthetics Throughout Lebra applies her methodology to dozens of Japanese examples and makes relevant comparisons with North American culture and notions of self Finally she provides a spirited analysis of critiques of Nihonjinron to reinforce the relevancy of Japanese studies This volume is the culmination of decades of thinking on self and social relations by one of the most influential scholars in the field It will prove highly instructive to Japanese and non Japanese readers alike in a range of disciplines including anthropology sociology and social psychology

Environmental Change in South-East Asia Mike Parnwell, Raymond L. Bryant, 1996 Environmental Change in South East Asia brings together scholars journalists consultants and NGO activists to explore the interaction of people politics and ecology. Ostensibly green activities like plantation forestry, eco tourism, hydro electricity are revealed as guises used by elites to promote their own political and economic interests. Highlighting fatal flaws in presently exclusive economic and ecological approaches, the authors stress that neither the quest for sustainable development nor the process of environmental change itself can be understood without reference to political processes.
