Changing Same Black Womens Literature Criticism And Theory:

The Changing Same" Deborah E. McDowell,1995-04-22 The Changing Same examines defining moments in African American women's fiction and its reception the Women's Era of the 1890s the Harlem Renaissance and the New Black Renaissance of the 1970s and 1980s Deborah McDowell maps this history in readings of Emma Dunham Kelley Frances E W Harper Jessie Fauset Nella Larsen Alice Walker Toni Morrison and Sherley Anne Williams She examines representations of slavery sexuality and homoeroticism the reception of African American women's fiction in the 1980s and African American feminist writing in the Age of Theory The Cambridge Companion to African American Women's Literature Angelyn Mitchell, Danille K. Taylor,2009-04-30 The Cambridge Companion to African American Women's Literature covers a period dating back to the eighteenth century These specially commissioned essays highlight the artistry complexity and diversity of a literary tradition that ranges from Lucy Terry to Toni Morrison A wide range of topics are addressed from the Harlem Renaissance to the Black Arts Movement and from the performing arts to popular fiction Together the essays provide an invaluable guide to a rich complex tradition of women writers in conversation with each other as they critique American society and influence American letters Accessible and vibrant with the needs of undergraduate students in mind this Companion will be of great interest to anybody who wishes to gain a deeper understanding of this important and vital area of American literature

Beyond the Black Lady Lisa B. Thompson,2023-12-11 In this book Lisa B Thompson explores the representation of black middle class female sexuality by African American women authors in narrative literature drama film and popular culture showing how these depictions reclaim black female agency and illustrate the difficulties black women confront in asserting sexual agency in the public sphere Thompson broadens the discourse around black female sexuality by offering an alternate reading of the overly determined racial and sexual script that casts the middle class black lady as the bastion of African American propriety Drawing on the work of black feminist theorists she examines symptomatic autobiographies novels plays and key episodes in contemporary American popular culture including works by Anita Hill Judith Alexa Jackson P J Gibson Julie Dash Kasi Lemmons Jill Nelson Lorene Cary and Andrea Lee

Richard Wright Keneth Kinnamon,2014-11-04 African American writer Richard Wright 1908 1960 was celebrated during the early 1940s for his searing autobiography Black Boy and fiction Native Son By 1947 he felt so unwelcome in his homeland that he exiled himself and his family in Paris But his writings changed American culture forever and today they are mainstays of literature and composition classes He and his works are also the subjects of numerous critical essays and commentaries by contemporary writers This volume presents a comprehensive annotated bibliography of those essays books and articles from 1983 through 2003 Arranged alphabetically by author within years are some 8 320 entries ranging from unpublished dissertations to book length studies of African American literature and literary criticism Also included as an appendix are addenda to the author's earlier bibliography covering the years from 1934 through 1982 This is the exhaustive reference for serious students of Richard Wright and his critics Anna Julia Cooper, Visionary Black Feminist Vivian M. May, 2012-08-21 Vivian M May explores the theoretical and political contributions of Anna Julia Cooper a renowned Black feminist scholar educator and activist whose ideas deserve far more attention than they have received Drawing on Africana and feminist theory May places Cooper s theorizing in its historical contexts and offers new ways to interpret the evolution of Cooper s visionary politics subversive methodology and defiant philosophical outlook Rejecting notions that Cooper was an elitist duped by dominant ideologies May contends that Cooper s ambiguity code switching and irony should be understood as strategies of a radical methodology of dissent May shows how across six decades of work Cooper traced history s silences and delineated the workings of power and inequality in an array of contexts from science to literature economics to popular culture religion to the law education to social work and from the political to the personal May emphasizes that Cooper eschewed all forms of mastery and called for critical consciousness and collective action on the part of marginalized people at home and abroad She concludes that in using a border crossing intersectional approach Cooper successfully argues for theorizing from experience develops inclusive methods of liberation and crafts a vision of a fundamentally egalitarian social imaginary The Cambridge Companion to Modernist Women Writers Maren Tova Linett, 2010-09-23 Women played a central role in literary modernism theorizing debating writing and publishing the critical and imaginative work that resulted in a new literary culture during the early twentieth century This volume provides a thorough overview of the main genres the important issues and the key figures in women s writing during the years 1890 1945 The essays treat the work of Woolf Stein Cather H D Barnes Hurston and many others in detail they also explore women s salons little magazines activism photography film criticism and dance Written especially for this Companion these lively essays introduce students and scholars to the vibrant field of women s modernism Interracial Encounters Julia H. Lee, 2011-10 2013 Honorable Mention Asian American Studies Association s prize in Literary Studies Part of the American Literatures Initiative Series Why do black characters appear so frequently in Asian American literary works and Asian characters appear in African American literary works in the early twentieth century Interracial Encounters attempts to answer this rather straightforward literary question arguing that scenes depicting Black Asian interactions relationships and conflicts capture the constitution of African American and Asian American identities as each group struggled to negotiate the racially exclusionary nature of American identity In this nuanced study Julia H Lee argues that the diversity and ambiguity that characterize these textual moments radically undermine the popular notion that the history of Afro Asian relations can be reduced to a monolithic media friendly narrative whether of cooperation or antagonism Drawing on works by Charles Chesnutt Wu Tingfang Edith and Winnifred Eaton Nella Larsen W E B Du Bois and YOUNGHILL KANG Interracial Encounters foregrounds how these reciprocal representations emerged from the nation s pervasive pairing of the figure of the Negro and the Asiatic in oppositional overlapping or analogous relationships within a wide variety of popular scientific legal and cultural discourses Historicizing these interracial encounters within a national and global context highlights how multiple racial groups shaped the narrative of race and national identity in the early twentieth century as well as how early twentieth century American literature emerged from that multiracial political context

Remembering the Past in Contemporary African American Fiction Keith Byerman, 2006-05-18 With close readings of more than twenty novels by writers including Ernest Gaines Toni Morrison Charles Johnson Gloria Naylor and John Edgar Wideman Keith Byerman examines the trend among African American novelists of the late twentieth century to write about black history rather than about their own present Employing cultural criticism and trauma theory Byerman frames these works as survivor narratives that rewrite the grand American narrative of individual achievement and the march of democracy The choice to write historical narratives he says must be understood historically These writers earned widespread recognition for their writing in the 1980s a period of African American commercial success as well as the economic decline of the black working class and an increase in black on black crime Byerman contends that a shared experience of suffering joins African American individuals in a group identity and writing about the past serves as an act of resistance against essentialist ideas of black experience shaping the cultural discourse of the present Byerman demonstrates that these novels disrupt the temptation in American society to engage history only to limit its significance or to crown successful individuals while forgetting the victims

What is a Woman? Toril Moi, 1999 Is the sex gender distinction really always fundamental to feminist thought Arguing for a feminism of freedom inspired by Simone de Beauvoir's The Second Sex Toril Moi challenges dominant trends in feminist and cultural theory

Searching for Safe Spaces Myriam Chancy, 1997-09-05 Home Exile Return Words heavy with meaning and passion For Myriam Chancy these three themes animate the lives and writings of dispossessed Afro Caribbean women Understanding exile as flight from political persecution or types of oppression that single out women Chancy concentrates on diasporic writers and filmmakers who depict the vulnerability of women to poverty and exploitation in their homelands and their search for safe refuge These Afro Caribbean feminists probe the complex issues of race nationality gender sexuality and class that limit women's lives They portray the harsh conditions that all too commonly drive women into exile depriving them of security and a sense of belonging in their adopted countries the United States Canada or England As they rework traditional literary forms artists such as Joan Riley Beryl Gilroy M Noubese Philip Dionne Brand Makeda Silvera Audre Lorde Rosa Guy Michelle Cliff and Mari Chauvet give voice to Afro Caribbean women's alienation and longing to return home Whether their return is realized geographically or metaphorically the poems fiction and film considered in this book speak boldly of self definition and transformation

Literature After Feminism Rita Felski, 2003-07 Recent commentators have portrayed feminist critics as grim faced ideologues who are destroying the study of literature Feminists they claim reduce art to politics and are hostile to any form of aesthetic pleasure Literature after Feminism is the first work to comprehensively rebut such caricatures while also offering a clear eyed assessment of the relative merits of various feminist approaches to literature Spelling out her main arguments clearly and succinctly Rita Felski explains how feminism has changed the ways people read and think about literature She organizes her book around four key questions Do women and men read differently How have feminist critics imagined the female author What does plot have to do with gender And what do feminists have to say about the relationship between literary and political value Interweaving incisive commentary with literary examples Felski advocates a double critical vision that can do justice to the social and political meanings of literature without dismissing or scanting the aesthetic

After the Pain Fiona Mills, Keith B. Mitchell, 2006 As a poet playwright novelist short story writer and critic Gayl Jones has always resisted labels in her quest to find a liberating voice for black women and herself With a poet's lyricism and a musician's ear for rhythm she continually seeks new ways to confront the barriers traumas insecurities and prejudices oppressing black women and by extension all women After the Pain Critical Essays on Gayl Jones is the first comprehensive collection of essays dedicated solely to the exploration of Jones's work Ranging from analyses of her use of language and music to reevaluations of her representation of sexuality and gender roles to examinations of the oft overlooked connections between Latin America and African Americans each of these essays investigates Jones's desire to continually complicate the process of identity formation

Women, Compulsion, Modernity Jennifer L. Fleissner, 2020-10-15 The 1890s have long been thought one of the most male oriented eras in American history But in reading such writers as Frank Norris with Mary Wilkins Freeman and Charlotte Perkins Gilman with Stephen Crane Jennifer L. Fleissner boldly argues that feminist claims in fact shaped the period's cultural mainstream Women Compulsion Modernity reopens a moment when the young American woman embodied both the promise and threat of a modernizing world Fleissner shows that this era's expanding opportunities for women were inseparable from the same modern developments industrialization consumerism typically believed to constrain human freedom With Women Compulsion and Modernity Fleissner creates a new language for the strange way the writings of the time both broaden and question individual agency

Deconstruction, Feminist Theology, and the Problem of Difference Ellen T. Armour, 1999-06-15 Ellen T. Armour shows how the writings of Jacques Derrida and Luce Irigaray can be used to uncover feminism's white presumptions so that race and gender can be thought of differently In clear concise terms she explores the possibilities and limitations for feminist theology of Derrida's conception of woman and Irigaray's multiple woman as well as Derrida's thinking on race and Irigaray's work on religion

Words of Fire Beverly Guy-Sheftall, 2011-07-26 In this pathbreaking collection of articles Dr. Beverly Guy-Sheftall has taken us from the early 1830s to contemporary times Only since the seventies have black women used the term feminism And yet it is that concept that she uses to bring into the same frame the ideas and analyses of Maria Stewart Sojourner Truth and Frances W. E. Harper of the early nineteenth century and the work of women such as the late Audre Lorde Barbara Smith and bell hooks who stand on the threshold of the twenty first century She has refused to cut off contemporary African American women from the long line of sisters who have righteously struggled for the liberation of African American women from the dual oppressions of racism and sexism From the epilogue by Johnnetta B Cole President Spelman College The indefatigable Beverly Guy Sheftall has put together a breathtaking sweep of African American feminist thought in one indispensable volume Elizabeth Spelman Professor of Philosophy Smith College The Divided States Laura J. Beard, Ricia Anne Chansky, 2023-01-10 What is an American identity The tension between populism and pluralism between homogeneity and heterogeneity has marked the United States since its inception In The Divided States leading scholars and critics argue that the US is and has always been a site where multiple national identities intersect in productive and challenging ways Scrutinizing conflicting nationalisms and national identities the authors ask Whose stories get told and whose do not Who or what promotes the idea of a unified national identity in the United States How is the notion of a unified national identity disrupted What myths and stories bind the US together How representative are these stories What are the counternarratives And if the idea of national homogeneity is a fallacy what does tie us together as a nation Working across auto biography studies American studies and human geography all of which deal with the current interest in competing narratives alternative facts and accountability the essays engage in and contribute to critical conversations in classrooms scholarship and the public sphere The authors draw from a variety of fields including anthropology class analysis critical race theory diasporic refugee and immigration studies disability studies gender studies graphic and comix studies Indigenous studies linguistics literary studies sociology and visual culture And the genres under scrutiny include diary epistolary communication digital narratives graphic narratives literary narratives medical narratives memoir oral history and testimony This fresh and theoretically engaged volume will be relevant to anyone interested in the multiplicity of voices that make up the US national narrative "Strange Orphans" Beatrix Taumann, 1999 Recovering the Black Female Body Michael Bennett, Vanessa D. Dickerson, 2001 Recovering the Black Female Body recognizes the pressing need to highlight through scholarship the vibrant energy of African American women's attempts to wrest control of the physical and symbolic construction of their bodies away from the distortions of others On Making Sense Ernesto Javier Martínez, 2012-10-31 On Making Sense juxtaposes texts produced by black Latino and Asian queer writers and artists to understand how knowledge is acquired and produced in contexts of racial and gender oppression From James Baldwin's 1960s novel Another Country to Margaret Cho's turn of the century stand up comedy these works all exhibit a preoccupation with intelligibility or the labor of making sense of oneself and of making sense to others In their efforts to make sense these writers and artists argue against merely being accepted by society on society's terms but articulate a desire to confront epistemic injustice an injustice that affects people in their capacity as knowers and as communities worthy of being known The book speaks directly to critical developments in feminist and queer studies including the growing ambivalence to antirealist theories of identity and knowledge In so doing it draws on decolonial and realist theory to offer a new framework to understand queer writers and artists of color as dynamic social theorists Writing Double Bette London, 2002-01-01 Although Roland Barthes and Michel Foucault announced the death of the author several decades ago critics have been slow to abandon the idea of the solitary writer Bette London maintains that this notion has blinded us to the reality that writing is seldom an individual activity and that it has led us to overlook both the frequency with which women authors have worked together and the significance of their collaborative undertakings as a form of professional activity In Writing Double the first full length treatment of women s literary partnerships she goes to the heart of issues surrounding authorial identity What is an author Which forms of authorship are sanctioned and which forms marginalized Which of these forms have particularly attracted women Such questions are central to London s analysis of the challenge that women s literary collaboration presents to accepted notions of authorship Focusing on British texts from the nineteenth and twentieth centuries she considers a fascinating variety of works by largely noncanonical and in some instances highly unconventional authors from the enormously popular novels composed by writing teams at the turn of the century to the Brontë juvenilia and the occult scripts of Georgie Yeats and W B Yeats to automatic writings produced by mediums purporting to be in communication with the spirit world
