Introduction

Significant strides are being made towards peace, democracy and sustainable development across West Africa. These improvements have come with the realisation that democratic governance of the security sector must go hand in hand with other aspects of political good governance. Despite this positive evolution, reflected in increasing support for security sector reform (SSR) within the region, the deterioration of conditions in some countries and the security challenges faced by the region as a whole due to emerging threats and mounting political, economic and social challenges, reinforce the need for effective, well-managed and accountable national security sectors within a strong regional framework of democratic governance and conflict-prevention.

A number of important SSR-related initiatives are underway in West Africa. At the continental level the African Union (AU) has committed its member states to carrying out the necessary reforms in their security sectors. In the Quebec and St. Boniface Declarations, the Organisation Internationale de la Francophonie (OIF) also embraced SSR. Efforts by the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) have complemented national efforts to improve security sector governance. The ECOWAS Conflict Prevention Framework (ECPF) places a strong premium on democratic security sector governance as a key element of the region's human security architecture. It also provides an important mechanism for interaction and collaboration both within the region and with international partners. Work towards an ECOWAS SSR strategy and specific initiatives such as the development of a West African Code of Conduct for Armed Forces and Security Personnel provide further means to reinforce West African SSR capacities.

The development of the United Nations' approach to SSR has also drawn heavily on African experience and expertise. This was highlighted at the International Workshop

Challenges Of Security Sector Governance:

Challenges of Security Sector Governance in West Africa Alan Bryden, Boubacar N'Diaye, Funmi Olonisakin, 2008

There is currently no comprehensive study of the status of security sector governance in West Africa. Many efforts to understand governance of the security sector in Africa have been directed either at individual countries or at providing a general analysis of the state and security in Africa. This book is intended to contribute to confidence and peace building through developing a better understanding of the challenges of security sector governance and generating practical policy recommendations based on work conducted by West African experts. It analyses the nature of security sector governance in each of the 16 West African states, provides an assessment of the effectiveness of governance mechanisms in particular relating to democratic oversight of the security sector, and takes into account the regional and international dimensions to the issue.

Challenges of Security Sector Governance Heiner Hänggi, Theodor Winkler, 2003. The war in Iraq in spring 2003 was a further indication of the resecuritization of international relations triggered by the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001. However, the new or renewed primacy of security will be of a rather different nature as compared to the Cold War period. The underlying assumption of the essays in this volume is that security issues will increasingly be approached from a governance perspective and that in this context the internal dimension of security governance, security sector governance, is an issue whose rapidly growing importance has not yet been duly recognized. Heiner Hänggi is assistant director of the Geneva Centre for the Democratic Control of Armed Forces. Theodor H. Winkler is director of the Geneva Centre for the Democratic Control of Armed Forces.

Reform and Reconstruction of the Security Sector Alan Bryden, Heiner Hänggi, 2004. Security sector reform (SSR) is widely recognised as key to conflict prevention, peace building, sustainable development and democratisation. SSR has gained most practical relevance in the context of post conflict reconstruction of so called failed states and states emerging from violent internal or inter state conflict. As this volume shows, almost all states need to reform their security sectors to a greater or lesser extent according to the specific security, political and socio-economic contexts, as well as in response to the new security challenges resulting from globalisation and post 9/11 developments. Contributions from academics and practitioners elaborate on both the conceptual underpinnings and the practical realities of security sector reform and a crucial aspect of post conflict peace building, security sector reconstruction.

Security Sector Governance in Francophone West Africa Alan Bryden, Boubacar N'Diaye, 2011. Experience shows that successful democratic transitions need to be underpinned by a security sector that is effective, well managed and accountable to the state and its citizens. This is why it is so important to carefully examine security sector governance dynamics in contexts where security has often remained a reserved domain. Understanding the issues and perspectives that divide political elites, the security sector and citizens is the only way to develop security sector reform programs that are legitimate and sustainable at the national level. Through drawing on the close contextual knowledge of practitioners, researchers and diverse local actors this book supports this goal by analyzing security sector governance dynamics in each of the nine Francophone countries within West Africa From this basis strengths and weaknesses are analyzed local capacities evaluated and entry points identified to promote democratic security sector governance in the West African region Series Geneva Centre for the Democratic Control of Armed Forces DCAF Peacebuilding and Security Sector Governance in Asia Yuji Uesugi,2014 Covering Indonesia the Philippines Thailand Nepal Sri Lanka and Timor Leste the case studies in this book explore the relevance of security sector governance and reform for political transition democratization and peace building in Asia Examining the prospects for security sector governance within each case through the lens of political reconciliation government legitimacy civil military relations and democratic accountability the book examines issues of political will local national ownership and the influence of external actors in domestic reform contexts The Nexus Between Security

Sector Governance/Reform and Sustainable Development Goal-16 Oya Dursun-Özkanca,2021-05-27 This Security Sector Reform SSR Paper offers a universal and analytical perspective on the linkages between Security Sector Governance SSG SSR SSG R and Sustainable Development Goal 16 SDG 16 focusing on conflict and post conflict settings as well as transitional and consolidated democracies Against the background of development and security literatures traditionally maintaining separate and compartmentalized presence in both academic and policymaking circles it maintains that the contemporary security and development related challenges are inextricably linked requiring effective measures with an accurate understanding of the nature of these challenges In that sense SDG 16 is surely a good step in the right direction After comparing and contrasting SSG R and SDG 16 this SSR Paper argues that human security lies at the heart of the nexus between the 2030 Agenda of the United Nations UN and SSG R To do so it first provides a brief overview of the scholarly and policymaking literature on the development security nexus to set the background for the adoption of The Agenda 2030 Next it reviews the literature on SSG R and SDGs and how each concept evolved over time It then identifies the puzzle this study seeks to address by comparing and contrasting SSG R with SDG 16 After making a case that human security lies at the heart of the nexus between the UN s 2030 Agenda and SSG R this book analyses the strengths and weaknesses of human security as a bridge between SSG R and SDG 16 and makes policy recommendations on how SSG R bolstered by human security may help achieve better results on the SDG 16 targets It specifically emphasizes the importance of transparency oversight and accountability on the one hand and participative approach and local ownership on the other It concludes by arguing that a simultaneous emphasis on security and development is sorely needed for addressing the issues under the purview of SDG 16

Security Challenges and Management in Modern Nigeria Abimbola Adesoji,Ayodeji Olukoju,Oluyato Adesina,2019-01-15 This collection of essays explores the critical and fluid nature of security challenges that have plagued Nigeria since colonial times Insecurity in diverse forms remains the bane of growth and progressive development in the country and has the capability to derail a society no matter how sophisticated What has generated insecurity at the macro and micro levels How has insecurity been tackled Why have security challenges escalated particularly in the post independence period What lessons could be learnt from the way security matters have been mis handled in the past This volume presents chapters on the historical roots and antecedents of security challenges and considers the nexus between the economy political leadership and development and its impacts on security in modern Nigeria It also explores the effectiveness of the strategies employed to address security challenges and discusses why some security challenges have lingered

Security Sector Reform Albrecht Schnabel,Hans Born,2011-11-07 The persistent gap between theory and practice in SSR can be a source of much irritation and disappointment at failures to implement SSR norms as well as in response to concepts and strategies that seem unhelpfully far removed from local realities This paper compares ideal case SSR environments with real life conditions of implementing SSR Through offering suggestions for better practice in SSR implementation it shows that the art of applied SSR can be learned

Civil Society and the Security Sector Marina Caparini,Philipp Fluri,Ferenc Molnár,2006 This volume analyses the role of civil society in the reform and oversight of the security sector in post communist countries as a key aspect of the transition towards democracy It is widely accepted that civil society actors have an important contribution to make in the governance of the security sector However that specific role has not been subject to much close or comparative examination This book constitutes an attempt to examine and compare experiences of civil society participation in security oversight across Central and Eastern Europe The first part of the volume presents the reader with the theoretical and conceptual background against which the potential role of civil society in security sector governance can be understood and assessed The remainder of the book is comprised of nine country studies of civil society engagement with the security sector Reviewing developments over the past 15 years of regime transformation in the region the book draws upon a rich variety of cases that cast light on the different experiences challenges and successes of civil society actors and the media in democratisation security sector reform and the exercise of democratic oversight of the security sector

Security Sector Transformation in Africa Alan Bryden,'Funmi Olonisakin,2010 The need for security sector transformation SST is prominent in the work of scholars policy makers and practitioners that focus on the security sector and its governance in Africa At the heart of this approach is the requirement for comprehensive change in the orientation values principles and practices that shape the provision management and oversight of security on the African continent The evident obstacles to achieving such far reaching goals mean that it is particularly important to identify the practical utility of the SST concept in supporting positive behaviour change within different African settings It is also necessary to clarify the relationship between the concept of security sector transformation and the evolving security sector reform SSR discourse This volume seeks to provide such additional clarity to SST and its relationship to SSR It includes contributions from a range of acknowledged experts analysing dynamics of security sector transformation at the domestic level as well as beyond the state The resulting insights are intended to help elaborate an understanding of the challenges to and opportunities for the realisation of an operational security sector transformation agenda in Africa

Rethinking Security Governance Christopher Daase, Cornelius Friesendorf, 2010-05-04 This book explores the unintended consequences of security governance actions and explores how their effects can be limited Security governance describes new modes of security policy that differ from traditional approaches to national and international security While traditional security policy used to be the exclusive domain of states and aimed at military defense security governance is performed by multiple actors and is intended to create a global environment of security for states social groups and individuals By pooling the strength and expertise of states international organizations and private actors security governance is seen to provide more effective and efficient means to cope with today's security risks Generally security governance is assumed to be a good thing and the most appropriate way of coping with contemporary security problems This assumption has led scholars to neglect an important phenomenon unintended consequences While unintended consequences do not need to be negative often they are The CIA term blowback for example refers to the phenomenon that a long nurtured group may turn against its sponsor The rise of al Qaeda which had benefited from US Cold War policies is only one example Raising awareness about unwanted and even paradoxical policy outcomes and suggesting ways of avoiding damage or limiting their scale this book will be of much interest to students of security governance risk management international security and IR Christopher Daase is Professor at the Goethe University Frankfurt and head of the research department International Organizations and International Law at the Peace Research Institute Frankfurt PRIF HSFK Cornelius Friesendorf is lecturer at the Goethe University Frankfurt and research fellow at the Peace Research Institute Frankfurt PRIF HSFK

Learning from West African Experiences in Security Sector Governance Alan Bryden, Fairlie Chappuis, 2015-11-05 Many efforts have been undertaken to address dysfunctional security sector governance in West Africa However security sector reform SSR has fallen short of radical transformational change to the fundamental structures of power and governance in the region Looking more closely at specific examples of SSR in six West African countries Learning from West African Experiences in Security Sector Governance explores both progress and reversals in efforts by national stakeholders and their international partners to positively influence security sector governance dynamics Written by eminent national experts based on their personal experiences of these reform contexts this study offers new insights and practical lessons that should inform processes to improve democratic security sector governance in West Africa and beyond

Security Sector Governance in Africa Nicole Ball, Kayode Fayemi, Centre for Democracy & Development, 2004

DAC Guidelines and Reference Series Security System Reform and Governance OECD, 2005-05-31 This publication underlines the positive role that the integrated reform of a country's security system can play in stabilising fragile conflict prone or conflict affected states

Handbook of International Security and Development Paul Jackson, 2015-02-27 Providing a comprehensive introduction to the literature and approaches used in the field this illustrious Handbook explores and interrogates the link between security and development at a global level whilst offering a broad survey of current thinking

Business and Security Sector Reform Pedro Rosa Mendes, 2015-09-20 Challenges to security and human rights involving extractive and other industries gave rise to an evolving framework of policy standards and good practice generally known as business and human rights BHR Problems with inefficient and unaccountable security institutions are addressed by security sector reform SSR From an empirical perspective the view from the often mutual operating grounds of BHR and SSR both approaches share many challenges as well as end goals It is thus striking that only on rare occasions are challenges in governance of the security sector addressed upfront as problems of poor resource governance and vice versa This paper describes the grounds where SSR and BHR coincide in principles actors and activities and which synergies can be built on that base It makes the business case for SSR and the SSR case for business The paper assesses how SSR can channel resources and know how from business to address critical challenges related to ownership capacity and sustainability of reform processes Opportunities for bridging BHR and SSR are drawn from a broad range of policy and guidance and by looking at lessons from case studies on Guinea Colombia and Papua New Guinea SSR and BHR should not collide ideally they should cohere A variety of multistakeholder initiatives open new opportunities to bring this about with particular relevance to SSR in extractive environments The overall conclusion supported by practical propositions for implementation is that the existing policies and standards in SSR and BHR already allow and call for a less rigid approach to the challenges addressed in both fields

The Security Sector Governance-Migration Nexus Sarah Wolff, 2021-05-13 The main argument is that improving migrants rights and conceptual linkages between SSG R and migration is best achieved by decentring our gaze namely going beyond the national and state centric view that characterizes traditionally SSG R and to consider the agency of both migrants and SSR actors First from a migrants perspective it is key for SSR actors to go beyond traditional legal classifications and to consider the diversity of personal situations that involve refugees stranded migrants and asylum seekers which might endorse different roles at different times of their journeys and lives Second the transnational nature of migration calls for a transnationalization of SSG R too For too long the concept has mostly been applied within the national setting of SSR institutions and actors Migration calls for a clear decentring that involves a transnational dimension and more work among transnational actors and policymakers to facilitate a norm transfer from the domestic to the interstate and international level As such the transnational nature of migration and its governance needs to be domesticated within the national context in order to change the mindset of SSG R actors and institutions More importantly the paper argues that poor SSG R at home produces refugees and incentivizes migrants to leave their countries after being victims of violence by law enforcement and security services During migrants complex and fragmented journeys good security sector governance is fundamental to address key challenges faced by these vulnerable groups I also argue that a better understanding of migrants and refugees security needs is beneficial and central to the good governance of the security sector After reviewing the key terms of migration and its drivers in section 2 section 3 reviews how SSG is part of the implementation of the GCM SSR actors play a role in shaping migratory routes and refugees incentives to leave in explaining migrants and refugees resilience in protecting migrants and refugees and in providing security Although it cautions against artificial classifications and the term of transit migration section 4 reviews what the core challenges are in the countries of origin transit and destination Section 5 provides a detailed overview of the linkages between migration and each security actor the military police forces intelligence services border guards interior ministries private actors criminal justice parliaments independent oversight bodies and civil society Section 6 formulates some recommendations

Managing Contemporary Security Challenges in Nigeria Ali Arazeem Abdullahi, Usman A. Raheem, Jimoh Amzat, Kenneth C. Nwachukwu, 2024-10-03 This book covers a wide range of security issues in Nigeria including insurgency terrorism herder farmer conflicts military reforms and internal security the Nigeria Police Force and security management intelligence gathering and insecurity etc It offers an in depth assessment of the national security strategies and policies in Nigeria along with a critical assessment of the role of intelligence gathering in security management It is useful for policymakers students and other important stakeholders in the security studies

Militancy and Violence in West Africa James Gow, Funmi Olonisakin, Ernst Dijkhoorn, 2013-07-18 This volume provides a systematic and cross regional analysis of radicalisation militancy and violence in West Africa Concern about terrorism in or from West Africa has been recognised in academic research and the adoption of militarised approaches to addressing it questioned However the basis for that questioning the need to investigate factors such as the historical and socio economic roots of militancy is not developed nor is it substantiated in existing studies The significant impact of religiously motivated radicalisation and violence in West Africa upon international security makes it essential to understand the issues of militancy and violence in the region In this volume the authors draw upon empirical research in West Africa to develop understanding in these areas Over the course of several chapters written by leading experts in the field the book successfully blends historical and conceptual analysis with new empirical research gathered from focus group discussions and research interviews Each of these core studies is structured around five interrelated issues tracing the antecedents of radicalisation monitoring trends identifying actors anticipating possibilities and analysing the strength of existing preventive mechanisms This book will be of much interest to students of African security African politics radicalisation political Islam war and conflict studies and security studies in general

Public Control of Armed Forces in the Russian Federation Nadja Douglas, 2017-10-06 The volume deals with the fundamentals of the contemporary relations between civic actors and state power structures The main focus lies on public control of armed forces and the question of why civilians should have a vigilant eye on the military institution as well as the civilian authority that legitimizes the use of force Based on the example of conscription and recruitment as an intersection between the military and society this study engages in an analysis of institutional change in the politico military field in post Soviet Russia Taking a critical stance on conventional military sociology the book shifts the focus away from the exclusive power relationship between political and military elites in the context of national security. Instead, it takes into consideration human and societal security, i.e. the needs and demands of individuals and groups at the grassroots level affected by the military and the prevailing security situation in Russia. The book addresses readers with an interest in civil-military relations, contemporary Russian affairs, and social movement theories.
