Challenging The Growth Machine Neighborh:

Challenging the Growth Machine Barbara Ferman, 1996 Economic development and urban growth are the contested grounds of urban politics Business elites and politicians tend to forge pro growth coalitions centered around downtown development while progressive and neighborhood activists counter with a more balanced approach that features a strong neighborhood component Urban politics is often shaped by this conflict which has intellectual as well as practical dimensions In some cities neighborhood interests have triumphed in others the pro growth agenda has prevailed In this illuminating comparative study Barbara Ferman demonstrates why neighborhood challenges to pro growth politics were much more successful in Pittsburgh than they were in Chicago Operating largely in the civic arena Pittsburgh's neighborhood groups encountered a political culture and institutional structure conducive to empowering neighborhood progressivism in housing and economic development policymaking In contrast the pro growth agenda in Chicago was challenged in the electoral arena which was dominated by machine ward based politicians who regarded any independent neighborhood organizing as a threat Consequently neighborhood demands for policymaking input were usually thwarted Besides revealing why the development policies of two important American cities diverged Ferman's unique comparative approach to this issue significantly expands the scope of urban analysis Among other things it provides the first serious study to incorporate the civic sector neighborhood politics as an important component of urban regimes Ferman also emphasizes institutional and cultural factors often ignored or relegated to residual roles in other studies and expounds on their influence in shaping local politics and policy To add an analytical and normative dimension to urban analysis she focuses on the non elite actors not just the economic and political elites who compose governing coalitions Ultimately Ferman takes a more holistic and balanced view of large cities than is typical for urban studies as she argues that neighborhoods are an important integral part of what cities are and can be For that reason especially her work will have a profound impact upon our understanding of urban politics

The Battle for Boston Don Gillis, 2025-05-06 How Mayor Ray Flynn s leadership and a coalition of activists transformed Boston challenging established powers and setting new precedents for urban governance The Battle for Boston captures the remarkable era under Mayor Ray Flynn whose election in 1983 marked the beginning of a profound shift in the city's political and social landscape. Don Gillis, a Flynn senior advisor, chronicles the inspiring journey of a city that dared to challenge the entrenched power brokers including developers, landlords, and banking industry leaders through powerful grassroots campaigns. Gillis provides a vivid portrayal of the political dynamics and the coalition of community organizers, neighborhood leaders, and residents that played a pivotal role in rejecting the business-backed growth machine and the city's historically divisive racial politics. This book charts the strategic battles fought within the corridors of power and on the streets and highlights the substantial impact these movements had on the city's governance and power dynamics. In a historic turn in 2021, Michelle Wu became the first woman, person of color, and Asian American elected Mayor of Boston. Wu's victory on a similarly progressive platform as Flynn underscores the enduring relevance of his legacy, signaling a hopeful future for more inclusive and effectively governed cities. The Battle for Boston poses a critical inquiry: Can cities truly embrace progressivism and govern effectively in the twenty-first century? This qualitative narrative study is a testament to the possibility of such governance driven by the indomitable spirit of those who strive for a fair and equitable society.

The Reluctant Metropolis William Fulton, 2001-12-04. A Los Angeles Times Bestseller. William Fulton is the Raymond Chandler of Los Angeles real estate. Kevin Starr, California State Librarian and author of Material Dreams: Los Angeles through the 1920s, a Los Angeles Times Bestseller. William Fulton is the Raymond Chandler of Los Angeles real estate. Kevin Starr, California State Librarian and author of Material Dreams: Los Angeles through the 1920s. In twelve engaging essays, William Fulton chronicles the history of urban planning in the Los Angeles metropolitan area, tracing the legacy of short-sighted political and financial gains that has resulted in a vast urban region on the brink of disaster. Looking at such diverse topics as shady real estate speculations, the construction of the Los Angeles subway, the battle over the future of South Central L.A. after the 1992 riots, and the emergence of Las Vegas as the new Los Angeles, Fulton offers a fresh perspective on the city's epic sprawl. The only way to reverse the historical trends that have made Los Angeles increasingly unliveable, Fulton concludes, is to confront the prevailing cocoon citizenship, the mind set that prevents the city's inhabitants and leaders from recognizing Los Angeles's patchwork of communities as a single metropolis.

Public Entrepreneurs Mark Schneider, Paul Teske, Michael Mintrom, 2011-07-01. Seizing opportunities, inventing new products, transforming markets: entrepreneurs are an important and well-documented part of the private sector landscape. Do they have counterparts in the public sphere? The authors argue that they do and test their argument by focusing on agents of dynamic political change in suburbs across the United States where much of the entrepreneurial activity in American politics occurs. The public entrepreneurs they identify are most often mayors, city managers, or individual citizens. These entrepreneurs develop innovative ideas and implement new service and tax arrangements where existing administrative practices and budgetary allocations prove inadequate to meet a range of problems from economic development to the racial transition of neighborhoods How do public entrepreneurs emerge How much does the future of urban development depend on them This book answers these questions using data from over 1 000 local governments The emergence of public entrepreneurs depends on a set of familiar cost benefit calculations Like private sector risk takers public entrepreneurs exploit opportunities emerging from imperfect markets for public goods from collective action problems that impede private solutions and from situations where information is costly and the supply of services is uneven The authors augment their quantitative analysis with ten case studies and show that bottom up change driven by politicians public managers and other local agents obeys regular and predictable rules International Conference on Multi disciplinary Technologies and challenges in Industry 4.0 Dr. Prakash s, dr. Mollenkopf, Todd Swanstrom, 2004 Analyzes the problematic trends facing America s cities and older suburbs and challenges us to put America s urban crisis back on the national agenda Black on the Block Mary Pattillo, 2010-04-02 In Black on the Block Mary Pattillo a Newsweek Woman of the 21st Century uses the historic rise alarming fall and equally dramatic renewal of Chicago s North Kenwood Oakland neighborhood to explore the politics of race and class in contemporary urban America There was a time when North Kenwood Oakland was plagued by gangs drugs violence and the font of poverty from which they sprang But in the late 1980s activists rose up to tackle the social problems that had plagued the area for decades Black on the Block tells the remarkable story of how these residents laid the groundwork for a revitalized and self consciously black neighborhood that continues to flourish today But theirs is not a tale of easy consensus and political unity and here Pattillo teases out the divergent class interests that have come to define black communities like North Kenwood Oakland She explores the often heated battles between haves and have nots home owners and apartment dwellers and newcomers and old timers as they clash over the social implications of gentrification Along the way Pattillo highlights the conflicted but crucial role that middle class blacks play in transforming such districts as they negotiate between established centers of white economic and political power and the needs of their less fortunate black neighbors A century from now when today s sociologists and journalists are dust and their books are too those who want to understand what the hell happened to Chicago will be finding the answer in this one Chicago Reader To see how diversity creates strange and sometimes awkward bedfellows turn to Mary Pattillo s Black on the Block Boston Globe Navigating Challenges of Object Detection Through Cognitive Computing Ahmad, Sadique, Ebrahim, Mansoor, El-Affendi, Mohammed, Hammad, Mohamed, 2025-04-30 Cognitive computing is transforming how machines perceive analyze and make intelligent decisions enabling breakthroughs in object detection segmentation and image processing By integrating cognitive algorithms with machine learning this technology enhances automation accuracy and efficiency across industries such as healthcare finance and agriculture The ability of machines to mimic human reasoning
