Change and Continuity in Spatial Planning Vanessa Watson, 2003-12-16 Change and Continuity in Spatial Planning addresses a question of enduring interest to planners can planning really bring about significant and positive change In South Africa the process of political transition appeared to create the preconditions for planners to demonstrate how their traditional humanitarian and environmental concerns could find concrete expression in the reshaping of the built environment Integral to this story is how planning practices have been shaped by the past in a rapidly changing context characterised by a globalising economy new systems of governance a changing political ideology and a culture of intensifying poverty and diversity More broadly the book addresses the issue of how planners use power in situations which themselves represent networks of power relations where both planners and those they engage with operate through frames of reference fundamentally shaped by place and history Change and Continuity in Spatial Planning, 2002 Change and

Continuity in Spatial Planning Vanessa Watson, 2002 This book addresses a question of enduring interest to planners can planning really bring about significant and positive change Ambiguous Restructurings of Post-apartheid Cape Town

Christoph Haferburg, Jürgen Ossenbrügge, 2003 What will tomorrow's Cape Town look like This volume reflects a variety of aspects of urban development and restructuring efforts in Cape Town in the last years A focus lies on the question if the apartheid city is reproducing itself This leads to an evaluation whether current policies really counter societal imbalances The essays presented here illuminate possible pathways towards the urban futures unfolding in a South African city in transition Democracy and Delivery Udesch Pillay, Richard Tomlinson, Jacques Du Toit, 2006 Democracy and Delivery Urban Policy in South Africa tells the story of urban policy and its formulation in South Africa As such it provides an important resource for present and future urban policy processes In a series of essays written by leading academics and practitioners Democracy and Delivery documents and assesses the formulation evolution and implementation of urban policy in South Africa during the first ten years of democracy The contributors describe the creation of democratic local governments from the time of the 1976 Soweto uprising and the intense township struggles of the 1980s the formulation of developmental planning and financial frameworks and the delivery of housing and services by the new democratic order They examine the policy formulation processes and what underlay these debate the role of research and the influence of international development agencies and assess successes and failures in policy implementation Looking to the future the contributors make suggestions based on experience with implementation and changing political priorities Academics students policy makers and government officials as well as an informed public will find this book an enlightening read

The Making of Global City Regions Klaus Segbers, Simon Raiser, Krister Volkmann, 2007 Publisher description South African Urban Change Three Decades After Apartheid Anthony Lemon, Ronnie Donaldson, Gustav Visser, 2021-06-10 This book provides an analysis of South African urban change over the past three decades It draws on a seminal text Homes Apart and

revisits conclusions drawn in that collection that marked the final phases of urban apartheid It highlights changes in demography social as well as economic structure and their differential spatial expression across a range of urban sites in South Africa The evidence presented in this book points to a very complex set of narratives in urban South Africa and one that cannot be reduced to a singular statement so the conclusions of the various investigations are in many ways open As urban apartheid represented one clear outcome its post apartheid urban legacies varies greatly from city to city As such this book is a great resource to students and academics focused on urban change in South African cities since the demise of apartheid and scholars of urban policy making in South Africa and Southern urbanists generally

Handbook of Urban Segregation Sako Musterd,2020-03-28 The Handbook of Urban Segregation scrutinises key debates on spatial inequality in cities across the globe It engages with multiple domains including residential places public spaces and the field of education In addition it tackles crucial group dimensions across race class and culture as well as age groups the urban rich middle class and gentrified households This timely Handbook provides a key contribution to understanding what urban segregation is about why it has developed what its consequences are and how it is measured conceptualised and framed

Transforming South Africa Armin Osmanovic,2002 Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning Thomas Harper,Anthony Gar-On Yeh,Heloisa Costa,2008-06-30 This is the third book in the series offering a new selection of the best urban planning scholarship from each of the world s planning school associations The award winning papers presented illustrate the concerns and the discourse of planning scholarship communities and provide a glimpse into planning theory and practice by planning academics around the world All those with an interest in urban and regional planning will find this collection valuable in opening new avenues for research and debate

Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning Thomas L. Harper,Michael Hibbard,Heloisa Costa,Anthony Gar-On Yeh,2010-12-01 Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning Volume 4 is a selection of some of the best scholarship in urban and regional planning from around the world The internationally recognized authors of these award winning papers take up a range of salient issues from the theory and practice of planning The topics they address include planning and governance in Zimbabwe rebuilding after Hurricane Katrina safety issues in urban spaces and an analysis of French transportation policies The breadth of the topics covered in this book will appeal to all those with an interest in urban and regional planning providing a springboard for further debate and research The papers focus particularly on how planning institutions can meet contemporary environmental demographic economic and socio spatial challenges The Dialogues books are published in association with the Global Planning Education Association Network GPEAN and its member planning schools associations These associations represent 360 planning schools in nearly fifty countries around the globe They have selected these papers based on regional competitions

Reflections on Identity in Four African Cities S. B. Bekker,Anne Leildé,2006 Identity has become the watchword of our times In sub Saharan Africa this certainly appears to be true and for particular reasons Africa is urbanising rapidly cross border migration streams are swelling and globalising influences sweep across the continent Africa is also facing up to the challenge of nurturing emergent democracies in which citizens often feel torn between older traditional and newer national loyalties Accordingly collective identities are deeply coloured by recent urban as well as international experience and are squarely located within identity politics where reconciliation is required between state nation building strategies and sub national affiliations They are also fundamentally shaped by the growing inequality and the poverty found on this continent These themes are explored by an international set of scholars in two South African and two Francophone cities The relative importance to urban residents of race class and ethnicity but also of work space and language are compared in these cities This volume also includes a chapter investigating the emergence of a continental African identity A recent report of the Office of the South African President claims that a strong national identity is emerging among its citizens and that race and ethnicity are waning whilst a class identity is in the ascendance The evidence and analyses within this volume serve to gauge the extent to which such claims ring true in what everyone knows is a much more complex and shifting terrain of shared meanings than can ever be captured by such generalisations

Housing as Governance Astrid Ley,2010 This book explores the dynamic roles and linkages of public sector institutions and civil society actors in housing provision for the urban poor in South Africa Based on actor centred and network theories two cases of civil society alliances are analysed The book reveals that existing civil society structures are hybrids that can oscillate between networks and organisations Moreover they establish informal governance spaces with state actors outside the institutional channels provided by government The emergence of oscillating structures and the informalisation of horizontal governance represent new challenges for local decision making processes Co operation and action oriented approaches in housing seemingly need to be based on a more detailed understanding of the complex interfaces which go far beyond the conventional ideal of partnerships and participation between sectors

New Planning Histories Lauren Andres, Yasminah Beebeejaun, Yvonne Rydin, 2025-08-17 This book brings new scholarship to students on the origins and development of planning thoughts theories policies institutions and practices outlining how these have shaped planning as a state and professional activity It showcases the work of leading scholars working to develop new histories of planning giving particular attention to the impact of colonisation and its approach to race which has significantly impacted planning processes as well as to the importance of women and people of colour as significant actors in the development of planning policy and practices The chapters bring a much needed global and comparative perspective including views from the Global South and from countries where planning remains an under resourced and under recognised profession This is an essential resource for advanced undergraduate and graduate students in planning architecture and urban studies

Governing Megacities in Emerging Countries Dominique Lorrain, 2016-04-22 Megacities are a new phenomenon in history The fact that many of them are in emerging countries deepens the challenges of governing these spaces Can these vast complex entities rife with inequalities and divisions be governed effectively For researchers the answer has often been no The approach developed in this work focuses on the material city and its institutions and shows that without recourse to a big new theory urban leaders have devised mechanisms of ordinary government They have done so through the resolution of practical and essential problems providing electricity drinking water sanitation transportation Three findings emerge from this book Infrastructure networks help to structure cities and function as mechanisms of cohesion Megacities become more governable if there is a legitimate authority capable of making choices Finally anarchic urbanisation has its roots in systems of land ownership in inadequate urban planning and in the practices of developers and local actors In the originality of its hypotheses and the precision of the analyses carried out in the four case study cities of Shanghai Mumbai Cape Town and Santiago de Chile this work is addressed to all those interested in the life of cities politicians local and central government officials executives in urban companies researchers and students

Urban Memory in City Transitions Ali Cheshmehzangi, 2021-04-02 As a continuation of Identity of Cities and City of Identities this book covers the arguments around the memory experience cognition nexus concerning palimpsests and urban places As cities experience transitional phases of growth development decline and decay the author urges considering the notion of urban memory in place making strategies and design decision making processes These explorations would add value to primary fields of architecture architectural history cognitive science human geography and urbanism Divided into eight chapters this book puts together a comprehensive knowledge of urban memory in city transitions By studying urban memory the author delves into conceptions of mental mapping knowledge of environments cognition of places and the perceptual dimension of urbanism Undoubtedly urban memory plays a significant part in the future movements of humanistic urbanism Given the significances of scale pace and mode of city transitions globally we should remember who are the ultimate users of those living environments Therefore in this book the author debates two contradictions of memory of place vs place of memory and significance of place vs place of significance Each of these is believed to be a paradox of its own indicating places are significant through the systematic networks of cities memories are meaningful through the neural information processing and place memories are the essence of urban identities The book's ultimate goal is to demonstrate the effectiveness of the space time frame of place in making memorable places Through the comprehensive explorations of many global examples we can evaluate the significance of place in mind more carefully This is narrated based on the recognition of nostalgia in cities socio temporal qualities in places and the network of processes in our minds In return the aim is to provide new knowledge to make memorable cities enhance social experiences and capture and value the significance of place in mind

Advancing Sustainability at the Sub-National Level Eran

Feitelson,2017-07-05 Notions of sustainability were originally advanced at supra national level and then at local level However less attention has been given to the interim sub national levels until very recently As planners normally focus on these sub national levels this book argues that they now have the opportunity to play a far more significant role in developing and implementing sustainability policies Bringing together a wide range of international case studies from metropolitan and community levels it examines the potential contribution of planning to the advancement of sustainability at sub national levels and the limitations it faces in doing so
