Changing Face Of Peru:

The Changing Face of Peru Don Harrison, Janet Ramirez, 2007 Examines the resources environment and population of Peru and what changes the twenty first century is bringing to the country and its way of life Peruvian Street Lives Linda J. Seligmann, 2004-03-17 For more than twenty years Linda J Seligmann has walked the streets of Peru in city and countryside alike talking to the women who work in the informal and open air markets of the Andean highlands of Cuzco In this readable ethnography composed of vignettes and accompanied by a superb series of photographs Seligmann offers a humane yet incisive portrayal of their lives Peruvian Street Lives argues that the sometimes invisible and informal economic social and political networks market women establish although they may appear disorderly and chaotic in fact often keep dysfunctional economies and corrupt bureaucracies from utterly destroying the ability of citizens to survive from day to day Seligmann asks why the constructive efforts of market women to make a living provoke such negative social perceptions from some members of Peruvian society who see them as symbols and actual catalysts of social disorder domestically and publicly The book traces the impact on market women and market activities of distant yet enormously powerful forces such as economic globalization At the same time it shows how market women eke out a living combat discrimination and creatively transgress existing racial and gender ideologies within the rich and expressive cultural traditions they have developed
