Changing Faces A History Of The Guardian 195688:

Changing Faces Geoffrey Taylor,1993 The British Press, Public Opinion and the End of Empire in Africa

Rosalind Coffey,2022-01-30 This book provides fresh insights into how the British press affected both British perceptions of decolonisation in Africa and British policy towards it during the wind of change period It also reveals for the first time the extent to which British newspaper coverage was of relevance to African and white settler readerships British newspapers informed the political strategies and civic cultures of African activists nationalists liberal whites in Africa the staunchest of white settler communities and the first governments of independent African states and their opponents The British press British public opinion and British journalists became etched into the lived experiences of the end of empire affecting Anglo African and Anglo settler relations to this day Arguing that the press cast a transnational web of influence over the decolonisation process in Africa the author explores the relationships between the British African and settler public and political spheres and highlights the mediating power of the British press during the late 1950s The book draws from a range of British newspapers official government documents newspaper archives interviews memoirs autobiographies and articles printed in African and white settler papers It will be of interest to historians of decolonisation Africa the media and the British Empire Feminism in the News K. Mendes,2011-10-03 An exploration of the representations of the women s movement its members and their goals between 1968 and 2008 in the British and American press Examining over 1100 news articles the book analyses the nuanced ways feminism has historically been supported marginalized and debated in the mainstream press The Israeli-Palestinian Conflict in the British Press Ruth Sanz Sabido,2019-10-15 The Israeli

Palestinian Conflict in the British Press provides an extensive empirical analysis of how the Israeli Palestinian conflict has been constructed in British national newspapers since 1948 It traces the evolution of representations of the conflict by placing them in a historical context with particular reference to Britain s postcolonial relation to Palestine and by presenting an in depth analysis of the evolution of press language including the use of terms such as terrorism and terrorist to classify agents of political violence It applies an original approach to the study of media coverage using a Postcolonial Critical Discourse Analysis framework an innovative method that examines selected case studies in relation to theories of postcolonialism and discourse Using this unique hybrid methodology Sanz Sabido provides a thorough and precise unpicking of a highly mediated conflict International Bibliography of Business History Francis Goodall,Terry Gourvish,Steven

Tolliday,2013-12-16 The field of business history has changed and grown dramatically over the last few years There is less interest in the traditional company centred approach and more concern about the wider business context With the growth of multi national corporations in the 1980s international and inter firm comparisons have gained in importance In addition there has been a move towards improving links with mainstream economic financial and social history through techniques and outlook The International Bibliography of Business History brings all of the strands together and provides the user with a comprehensive guide to the literature in the field The Bibliography is a unique volume which covers the depth and breadth of research in business history This exhaustive volume has been compiled by a team of subject specialists from around the world under the editorship of three prestigious business historians

South Africa and the International Media, 1972-1979 James Sanders, 2012-10-12 This book studies the Anglo American media's representation of South Africa in the 1970s the international media is shown to have been under continuous pressure from both the South African Dept of Information and the anti apartheid movement

On the Roof of the World Richard Nelsson, 2012-06-05 Throughout its history the Guardian has had unparalleled access to mountaineers and climbers and its coverage of the sport is second to none From Edward Whymper's conquest of the Matterhorn in 1865 through to the first ever ascent of Everest in 1953 and on to the extreme climbing and associated apparatus that dominates the modern day incarnation of the sport the paper has chronicled every development with insight and intelligence This beguiling collection draws together a selection of Guardian writing that is both informative and celebratory tracking the sport's history and uncovering how public perception has changed over time Postings on how cigarettes aided breathing on some of the earliest Everest expeditions Victorian advice to lady climbers Small rings should be sewn inside the seams of the skirt so that the whole dress may be drawn up at a moment's notice to the requisite height Articles on scrambling fell running rock climbing and rambling Whether you're a serious mountaineer or a weekend Rambler On the Roof of the World is packed full of insights and stories that make it the perfect bedside companion

Those Who Dared Richard Nelsson, 2012-06-05 Throughout their history the Guardian and the Observer have avidly reported the worlds of exploration and adventure travel In the 19th century they covered the British and European explorers who were trying to fill in the blanks on the map crossing deserts racing to the poles searching for the source of the Nile and trying to be the first to master the peaks of the Alps and later the Himalaya By the turn of the 20th century interest turned to Everest the third pole to the deserts that needed to be conquered and also to the new ways of exploring that opened up a whole new world of adventure airships over the North Pole and Citroen driving across the Sahara in the 1920s to name but two In the post war period explorers upped the ante who would be the first to row across the great oceans Travel unsupported to the Poles Climb Everest without oxygen Add to this the vogue for recreating great voyages the most famous being the Kon Tiki and Vinland expedition to Greenland and soon the newspapers were brimming with tales of derring do This collection draws together a unique collection of first person accounts news reports and inevitably obituaries that demonstrate the awe inspiring lengths to which explorers and adventurers have gone to push back the boundaries of human endeavour Gordon Laing's doomed journey to Timbuctoo in 1828 Captain Webb's epic swim across the English Channel in 1875 Wilfrid Thesiger's 1940s crossing of the Rub al Khali Aron Ralston's harrowing experience in 2003 when he amputated his lower right arm in order to free himself from a rockfall Capturing not only the adrenaline rush the adventurers feel when stepping out into the unknown but also the fear and trepidation that set in when things start to go wrong Those

Who Dared is an adventure anthology that will satisfy the yearnings of the hardened explorer and armchair traveller alike

International Radio Journalism Tim Crook, 2002-09-11 Radio journalists have witnessed much of the history of the twentieth century From early documentary recordings to the ground breaking war reporting of Ed Murrow and Richard Dimbleby to the sophisticated commentaries of Alistair Cooke and reporters such as Fergal Keane International Radio Journalism explores the way radio has covered the most important stories this century and the way in which it continues to document events in Britain America Europe and many other countries around the world International Radio Journalism is both a theoretical textbook and a practical guide for students of radio journalism reporters editors and producers The book details training and professional standards in writing presentation technology editorial ethics and media law in America Britain Australia and other English speaking countries and examines the major public sector broadcast networks such as the BBC CBC NPR and ABC as well as the work of commercial and small public radio stations Timothy Crook investigates the way in which news reporting has been influenced by governments and media conglomerates and identifies an undercurrent of racial and sexual discrimination throughout the history of radio news There are chapters on media law for broadcast journalists the implications of multi media and new technologies digital applications in radio news and glossaries which cover the skills of voice presentation writing radio news and broadcast vocabulary Defenders of the Union D. George

Boyce, Alan O'Day, 2002-01-04 Defenders of the Union is a concise and readable overview of the history and contentious politics of Unionism and the affect it has had on Anglo Irish relations over the last two hundred years It is an essential guide to this confusing topic and covers key areas such as definition of unionism establishment of the union Unionist literature loyalists since 1972 Britain for and Against Europe David Baker, David Seawright, 1998 This study provides up to date analysis of the often problematic relationship between various elements of British political culture and the developing European Union The book concludes by discussing future relations between Britain and Europe War of Words Benjamin

Pogrand,2000-03-07 When Benjamin Pogrand one of South Africa s most distinguished journalists first began his career as a young reporter in the 1950s There had been little reason at that stage to believe that anything revolutionary was about to start As the African affairs reporter and then deputy editor it was Pogrand who first brought the words of black leaders like Robert Sobukwe and Nelson Mandela to the pages of South Africa s leading newspaper the Rand Daily Mail This was the period of apartheid in South Africa and for most of the next thirty years the Rand Daily Mail was the country s liberal white voice against the tyranny of the Afrikaner Nationalist government A riveting memoir and a complex commentary on apartheid and freedom of the press War of Words offers an insider s perspective on one of the most turbulent and arguably one of the most significant periods in modern history The Guardian Index ,1993 Britain's Secret Propaganda War Paul

Lashmar,James Oliver,1998 Britain s Secret Propaganda War is the first book to be written about The Foreign Office s Information Research Department IRD an important chapter in the history of the Cold War The narrative is driven by actual accounts of IRD covert operations and includes a number of exclusives The IRD was set up under the Labour Government in 1948 and clandestinely financed from the Secret Intelligence Service budget A large organisation with close links to MI6 with whom it shared many personnel it waged a vigorous covert propaganda campaign against Eastern Bloc Communism for nearly thirty years using journalists politicians academics and trade unionists none of whom were unwitting Such famous names as George Orwell Denis Healey Stephen Spender Bertrand Russell and Guy Burgess helped or backed the work of IRD

The Ethical Journalist Tony Harcup,2006-11-30 As one of the main scriptwriters of the two internal BBC training sessions which were produced following the Hutton inquiry I can heartily recommend this book Peter Stewart BBC Training Department Packed with illustrations of journalistic heroism and skulduggery This is an engaging and useful reference book and should become essential reading for serious students of journalism and for those who practise it Times Higher Education Supplement A must read for all journalists be they reporters editors or bloggers It is both a straightforward explanation of ethical dilemmas using real life examples and a subtle commentary on the state of British journalism British Journalism Review This engaging nd accessible book cannot fail to inspire those who want to be good journalists in every sense of the word Journalism Practice Everything that journalists do has ethical implications and in this book Tony Harcup explores the range of issues likely to confront those studying journalism or training to become journalists The starting point for this engaging and innovative book is that ethical journalism is good journalism Building on the reflective and questioning approach of the author s acclaimed Journalism Principles and Practice this book discusses journalists personal anecdotes alongside relevant critical studies by academics Original interviews include Andrew Gilligan on his meeting with weapons expert Dr David Kelly and Ryan Parry on being an undercover reporter in Buckingham Palace Informed by new research and the author s own experience within mainstream and alternative journalism The Ethical Journalist addresses topics such as trust the public interest deception news values source relationships crime reporting regulation and the Hutton inquiry This exciting new title discusses ethics as fundamental rather than as a set of problems or an added extra and it should become essential reading for everyone interested in journalism New Statesman Society ,1993 Writing disenchantment Andrew Frayn,2015-11-01 It has become axiomatic that First World War literature was disenchanted or disillusioned and returning combatants were unable to process or communicate that experience In Writing disenchantment Andrew Frayn argues that this was not just about the war non combatants were just as disenchanted as those who fought and writers such as D H Lawrence and Virginia Woolf produced some of the sharpest criticisms Its language already existed in contemporary sociological and historical accounts of the problems of mass culture and the modern city whose structures contained the conflict and were strengthened during it Archival material sales data and reviews are used to chart disenchantment in a wide range of early twentieth century war literature from novels about fears of invasion and pacifism through the modernist novels of the 1920s to its dominance in the War Books Boom of 1928 30 This book will appeal to scholars and students of English literature social and cultural history and gender studies
