Volume II covers entries from K to Z Looking South Helen Delpar,2008 A comprehensive ambitious and valuable work on an increasingly important subject In the Preface to her new study Latin Americanist Helen Delpar writes Since the seventeenth century Americans have turned their gaze toward the lands to the south seeing in them fields for religious proselytization economic enterprise and military conquest Delpar consequently aims her considerable gaze back at those Americans and the story behind their longtime fascination with Latin American culture By visiting seminal works and the cultures from which they emerged following the effects of changes in scholarly norms and political developments on the training of students and evaluating generations of scholarship in texts monographs and journal articles Delpar illuminates the growth of scholarly inquiry into Latin American history anthropology geography political science economics sociology and other social science disciplines Interpreting Human Rights Rhiannon Morgan,Bryan Turner,2009-05-07 Written by an international group of leading social science scholars in the field of human rights this volume situates the study of human rights in an open interdisciplinary terrain Ranging over diverse topics and pathways in the theory and practice of human rights this volume will be an invaluable aid to those seeking to understand the complex meanings institutions and practices of human rights Race, Place, and Medicine Julyan G. Peard,1999 Looks at a group of 19th century Brazilian doctors the Bahian Tropicalista School and their efforts to both counter European assumptions about Brazilian racial and cultural inferiority and doomed health and to forge their own definition of tropical medicine The Other Mirror Miguel Angel Centeno,Fernando López-Alves,2001 If social science s cultural turn has taught us anything it is that knowledge is constrained by the time and place in which it is produced In response scholars have begun to reassess social theory from the standpoints of groups and places outside of the European context upon which most grand theory is based Here a distinguished group of scholars reevaluates widely accepted theories of state property race and economics against Latin American experiences with a two fold purpose They seek to deepen our understanding of Latin America and the problems it faces And by testing social science paradigms against a broader variety of cases they pursue a better and truly generalizable map of the social world Bringing universal theory into dialogue with specific history the contributors consider what forms Latin American variations of classical themes might take and which theories are most useful in describing Latin America For example the Argentinian experience reveals the limitations of neoclassical descriptions of economic development but Charles Tilly s emphasis on the importance of war and collective action to statemaking holds up well when thoughtfully adapted to Latin American situations Marxist structural analysis is problematic in a region where political divisions do not fully expresses class cleavages but aspects of Karl Polanyi s socioeconomic theory cross borders with relative ease This fresh theoretical discussion expands the scope of Latin American studies and social theory bringing the two into an unprecedented conversation that will benefit both Contributors are in addition to the editors Jeremy Adelman Jorge I Domínguez Paul Gootenberg Alan Knight Robert M Levine Claudio Lomnitz John Markoff Verónica Montecinos Steven C Topik and J Samuel Valenzuela The Global Evolution of Industrial Relations Bruce E. Kaufman, 2006
