Changing The World Discourse Politics And The Feminist Movement

Jean L. Cohen, Andrew Arato

Changing The World Discourse Politics And The Feminist Movement:

Changing the World Stacey Young, 1997 Changing the World draws on feminist publishing postmodern theory and feminist autobiography to powerfully critique both liberal feminism and scholarship on the women's movement arguing that both ignore feminism's unique contributions to social analysis and politics. These contributions recognize the power of discourse, the diversity of women's experiences and the importance of changing the world through changing consciousness. Young critiques social movement theory and five key studies of the women's movement arguing that gender oppression can be understood only in relation to race, sexuality, class and ethnicity and that feminist activism has always gone beyond the realm of public policy to emphasize improving women's circumstances through transforming discourse and consciousness. Young examines feminist discursive politics, critiques social science methodology and proposes an alternative approach to understanding the women's movement.

Challenging Democracy Madeleine Arnot, Jo-Anne Dillabough, 2014-02-04 This collection establishes a highly topical new international field of study that of gender, education and citizenship. It brings together for the first time important cutting edge research on the contribution of the educational system to the formation of male and female citizens. It shows how gender relations operate behind apparently neutral concepts of liberal democratic citizenship and citizenship education. The editors asked leading international educationalists to describe the theoretical frameworks and methodologies they used to research gender and citizenship. Challenging Democracy suggests ways in which the educational system could help develop genuinely inclusive democratic societies in which men and women play an equal role in shaping the meaning of citizenship.

Community Gardening as Social Action Claire Nettle, 2016-05-23 There has been a resurgence of community gardening over the past decade with a wide range of actors seeking to get involved from health agencies aiming to increase fruit and vegetable consumption to radical social movements searching for symbols of non-capitalist ways of relating and occupying space. Community gardens have become a focal point for local activism in which people are working to contribute to food security, question the erosion of public space, conserve and improve urban environments, develop technologies of sustainable food production, foster community engagement and create neighbourhood solidarity. Drawing on in-depth case studies and social movement theory, Claire Nettle provides a new empirical and theoretical understanding of community gardening as a site of collective social action. This provides not only a more nuanced and complete understanding of community gardening but also highlights its potential challenges to notions of activism, community democracy and culture.

Orienting Feminism Catherine Dale, Rosemary Overell, 2018-03-09 This edited collection explores the meaning of feminism in the contemporary moment which is constituted primarily by action but also uncertainty. The book focuses on feminist modes of activism as well as media and cultural representation to ask questions about organising, representing and articulating feminist politics. In particular it tackles the intersections between media technologies and gendered identities with contributions that cover topics such as twerking, trigger warnings and trans identities This volume directly addresses topical issues in feminism and is a valuable asset to scholars of gender media and sexuality studies

Globalisation and the Challenges of Development in Contemporary India Sita

Venkateswar, Sekhar Bandyopadhyay, 2016-03-14 This volume brings together multidisciplinary situated and nuanced analyses of contingent issues framing a rapidly changing India in the 21st century It moves beyond the ready dichotomies that are often extended to understand India as a series of contrasts and offers new insights into the complex realities of India today thereby enabling us to anticipate the decades to come The editors focus on three major themes each discussed in a section The first section Framing the Macro Economic Environment defines the framework for interrogating globalisation and socio economic changes in India over the last few decades of the 20th century spiraling into India in the 21st century The next section Food Security and Natural Resources highlights critical considerations involved in feeding a burgeoning population The discussions pose important questions in relation to the resilience of both people and planet confronting increasingly unpredictable climate induced scenarios The final section Development Activism and Changing Technologies discusses some of the social challenges of contemporary India through the lens of inequalities and emergent activisms The section concludes with an elaboration of the potential and promise of changing technologies and new social media to build an informed and active citizenry across existing social divides

Writing Philosophical Autoethnography Alec

Grant, 2023-09-15 Writing Philosophical Autoethnography is the result of Alec Grant's vision of bringing the disciplines of philosophy and autoethnography together This is the first volume of narrative autoethnographic work in which invited contributing authors were charged with exploring their issues concerns and topics about human society culture and the material world through an explicitly philosophical lens Each chapter while written autoethnographically showcases sustained engagement with philosophical arguments ideas concepts theories and corresponding ethical positions Unlike much other autoethnographic work within which philosophical ideas often appear to be grafted on or supplementary the philosophical basis of the work in this volume is fundamental to its shifting content focus and context The narratives in this book from scholars working in a range of disciplines in the humanities and human sciences function as narrative conceptual and analytical exemplars to act as a guide for autoethnographers in their own writing and suggest future directions for making autoethnography more philosophically rigorous This book is suitable for students and scholars of autoethnography and qualitative methods in a range of disciplines including the humanities social and human sciences communication studies and education

Missing: Half the Story Kalpana Sharma, 2012-12-31

Toilets trees and gender Can there be a connection Is there a gender angle to a business story Is gender in politics only about how many women get elected to parliament Is osteoporosis a women's disease Why do more women die in natural disasters These are not the questions journalists usually ask when they set out to do their jobs as reporters sub editors photographers of editors Yet by not asking are they missing out on something perhaps half the story This is the question this book edited and written by journalists for journalists and the

lay public interested in media raises Through examples from the media and from their own experience the contributors explain the concept of gender sensitive journalism and look at a series of subjects that journalists have to cover sexual assault environment development business politics health disasters conflict and set out a simple way of integrating a gendered lens into day to day journalism Written in a non academic accessible style this book is possibly the first of its kind in India one that attempts to inject a gender perspective into journalism Published by Zubaan Alain Touraine Jon Clark,Marco Diani,2013-12-19 First published in 2004 The seventeen essays in this volume discuss the work of Alain Touraine and consider his contribution to the social sciences The text includes his most recent thinkings on the market and communities The Women's Movement in Protest, Institutions and the Internet Sarah Maddison,Marian Sawyer,2013-08-15 The death of feminism is regularly proclaimed in the West Yet at the same time feminism has never had such an extensive presence whether in international norms and institutions or online in blogs and social networking campaigns This book argues that the women s movement is not over but rather social movement theory has led us to look in the wrong places This book offers both methodological and theoretical innovations in the study of social movements and analyses how the trajectories of protest activity and institution building fit together The rich empirical study together with focused research on discursive activism blogging popular culture and advocacy networks provides an extraordinary resource showing how the women s movements can survive the highs and lows and adapt in unexpected ways Expert contributors explore the ways in which the movement is continuing to work its way through institutions and persists within submerged networks cultural production and in everyday living sustaining itself in non receptive political environments and maintaining a discursive feminist space for generations to come Set in a transnational perspective this book trace the legacies of the Australian women s movement to the present day in protest non government organisations government organisations popular culture the Internet and the Slut Walk The Women s Movement in Protest Institutions and the Internet will be of interest to international students and scholars of gender politics gender studies social movement studies and comparative politics

Civil Society and Political Theory Jean L. Cohen,Andrew Arato,1994-03-29 In this first serious work on the theory of civil society to appear in many years Jean Cohen and Andrew Arato contend that the concept of civil society articulates a contested terrain in the West that could become the primary locus for the expansion of democracy and rights In this major contribution to contemporary political theory Jean Cohen and Andrew Arato argue that the concept of civil society articulates a contested terrain in the West that could become a primary locus for the expansion of democracy and rights Changing Horizons Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza,2013 Changing Horizons is the second of two volumes highlighting the ways in which Elisabeth Schussler Fiorenza s work constructs a critical feminist theory and praxis of liberation in relation to the biblical text and its legacy and in relation to the theological and ecclesial setting of today Schussler Fiorenza attempts to free both biblical studies and theology from disciplinary constraints and assumptions that have allowed them to acquiesce and even perpetuate forms of oppression from racism and poverty to colonialism and gender equality Writing the Women's Movement Mala Khullar, 2005 Contributed articles presented earlier at several seminars on women's studies and feminism in India Research in Social Movements, Conflicts and Change Patrick G. Coy, 2015-09-03 A long standing characteristic of the series is publishing new theoretical and empirical work that connects previously disparate sub fields This volume continues that tradition as the papers join social movements research with organizational theory new institutionalism strategic action fields and nonviolent action Redeemer Nation Orrin Schwab, 2004 In this book Dr Orrin Schwab develops the concept of the modern technocratic state as part of a global technocratic culture and civilization The author argues that technocratic cultural and institutional forms were and are part of a collective script for Western culture The American script combined the scientific commercial and technological aspects of the Enlightenment with the radical 17th century Protestant belief in America as a new Zion In the twentieth century the synthesis of mission along with global technocratic knowledge and institutions created the Wilsonian liberal technocratic order As the principal agent and protector of the modern capitalist international system America the self defined Redeemer Nation has moved through the controlled anarchy of international relations from one war and crisis to the next confirmed in its self defined role and mission Idioms of Inquiry Terence Ball, Professor of Political Science Terence Ball, 1987-01-01 Idioms of Inquiry reflects the most recent and creative thinking in the field of political theory The contributors agree that the old orthodox political theory is no longer viable arguing instead for a pluralism of approaches Each takes a particular idiom of inquiry on its own terms and analyzes its plausibility and internal limitations The idioms discussed cover the current leading theories rational choice Popperian situational analysis hermeneutics phenomenology critical theory feminism Foucauldian deconstructionism and metascientific realism

Conscious Acts and the Politics of Social Change Robin L. Teske, Mary Ann Tétreault, 2000 The Oxford Handbook of Transnational Feminist Movements Rawwida Baksh-Soodeen, Wendy Harcourt, 2015 The Oxford Handbook of Transnational Feminist Movements explores the historical political economic and social contexts in which transnational feminist movements have emerged and spread and the contributions they have made to global knowledge power and social change over the past half century The publication of the handbook in 2015 marks the fortieth anniversary of the United Nations International Women's Year the thirtieth anniversary of the Third World Conference on Women held in Nairobi the twentieth anniversary of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action and the fifteenth anniversaries of the Millennium Development Goals and of UN Security Council Resolution 1325 on women peace and security The editors and contributors critically interrogate transnational feminist movements from a broad spectrum of locations in the global South and North feminist organizations and networks at all levels local national regional global and global wider civil society organizations and networks governmental and multilateral agencies and academic and research institutions among others The handbook reflects candidly on what we have learned about transnational feminist movements What are the different spaces from which transnational feminisms have operated and in what ways How have they contributed to our understanding of the myriad formal and informal ways in which gendered power relations define and inform everyday life To what extent have they destabilized or transformed the global hegemonic systems that constitute patriarchy From a position of fifty years of knowledge production activism working with institutions and critical reflection the handbook recognizes that transnational feminist movements form a key epistemic community that can inspire and provide leadership in shaping political spaces and institutions at all levels and transforming international political economy development and peace processes The handbook is organized into ten sections each beginning with an introduction by the editors The sections explore the main themes that have emerged from transnational feminist movements knowledge theory and praxis organizing for change body politics health and well being human rights and human security economic and social justice citizenship and statebuilding militarism and religious fundamentalisms peace movements UNSCR 1325 and postconflict rebuilding feminist political ecology and digital age transformations and future trajectories

The Changing Agenda of Israeli Sociology Uri Ram, 2012-02-01 This study explores the changing agenda of Israeli sociology by linking content with context and by offering a historically informed critique of sociology as a theory and as a social institution It examines on the one hand the general theoretical perspectives brought to bear upon sociological studies of Israel and on the other the particular social and ideological persuasions with which these studies are imbued Ram shows how the agenda of Israeli sociology has changed in correlation with major political transformations in Israel the long term hegemony of the Labor Movement up to the 1967 war the crisis of the labor regime following the 1973 war and the ascendance of the right wing to governmental power in 1977 Three stages in Israeli sociology corresponding to these political transformations are identified the domination of a functionalist school from the 1950s to the 1970s a crisis in the mid 1970s and the profusion of alternative and competing perspectives since the late 1970s Ram concludes with a plea for a new sociological agenda that would shift the focus from nation building to democratic and egalitarian citizenship formation This book offers the first systematic and comprehensive overview of sociological thought in Israel and by doing so offers a unique interpretation of the social and intellectual history of Israel

American Book Publishing Record ,2005 From Global to Grassroots Celeste Montoya, 2013-04-11 This examination of the European Union and efforts to combat violence against women provides an empirical feminist analysis of the transnational strategies and processes that connect global and grassroots advocacy efforts It looks beyond policy rhetoric to examine the extent to which this important human rights issue is being addressed
