Changing Work Changing Workers Critical Perspectives On Language Literacy And Skills:

Changing Work, Changing Workers Glynda Hull, 1997-03-06 Changing Work Changing Workers looks at U S factories and workplace education programs to see what is expected currently of workers The studies reported in Hull s book draw their evidence from firsthand sustained looks at workplaces and workplace education efforts Many of the chapters represent long term ethnographic or qualitative research Others are fine grained examinations of texts curricula or policy Such perspectives result in portraits that honor the complex nature of work people and education For example one chapter examines the shop floor of a computer manufacturer in Silicon Valley and shows how well intentioned organizational changes such as the imposition of self directed work teams often go awry particularly in multicultural workplaces Another chapter provides the history of a federally funded literacy project designed for garment workers in New York City documenting the struggles and achievements that accompanied this attempt to prepare immigrants for alternatives to work in a rapidly downsizing industry Other settings and topics include a community college where minority women are prepared for the skilled trades an auto accessory plant with a pay for knowledge training program a union based literacy program designed for hospital workers and the popular vocational curriculum called applied communications

Changing Work, Changing Workers Glynda Hull, 1997-03-06 This glimpse into factories hospitals other work settings and work related literacy programs shows the massive changes in expectations for workers skills in the twenty first century especially regarding language and literacy

Work, Change and Workers Stephen Billett, 2006-06-22 This book aims to provide a fresh account of the changing nature of work and how workers are changing as result of the requirements of contemporary working life It also identifies implications for preparing individuals for work and then maintaining their skills throughout working life It does this by examining the relations between the changing requirements for working life and how individuals engage in work through an analysis that engages a range of disciplinary perspectives These include the psychological sociological philosophical and anthropological literatures as they relate to work and empirical research that represents both the perspectives of work and work practice as social institutions and as a vocation that individuals exercise with intentionality and agency This body of work is also used to identify implications for vocational education professional development and on going learning throughout working life This book is the product of a now long term project to understand contemporary working life and its implications for learning throughout working life Along the way it has benefited from a range of contributions It commenced with research from the early to the late 1990s that sought to understand how people learn through their work The Australian Research Council state government funding private enterprise sponsorships and the National Research and Evaluation Committee of the Australian National Training Authority supported these investigations as did the many workplaces and workers who contributed time insights and sometimes patience

International Handbook of Research in Professional and Practice-based Learning Stephen Billett, Christian Harteis, Hans Gruber, 2014-07-15 The International Handbook of Research in Professional and Practice based Learning discusses what constitutes professionalism examines the concepts and practices of professional and practice based learning including associated research traditions and educational provisions It also explores professional learning in institutions of higher and vocational education as well the practice settings where professionals work and learn focusing on both initial and ongoing development and how that learning is assessed The Handbook features research from expert contributors in education studies of the professions and accounts of research methodologies from a range of informing disciplines It is organized in two parts The first part sets out conceptions of professionalism at work how professions work and learning can be understood and examines the kinds of institutional practices organized for developing occupational capacities The second part focuses on procedural issues associated with learning for and through professional practice and how assessment of professional capacities might progress The key premise of this Handbook is that during both initial and ongoing professional development individual learning processes are influenced and shaped through their professional environment and practices Moreover in turn the practice and processes of learning through practice are shaped by their development all of which are required to be understood through a range of research orientations methods and findings This Handbook will appeal to academics working in fields of professional practice including those who are concerned about developing these capacities in their students In addition students and research students will also find this Handbook a key reference resource to the field

Writing Power Dorothy A. Winsor, 2012-02-01 Winner of the 2004 Distinguished Publication on Business Communication presented by the Association of Business Communication Writing Power examines the way that texts knowledge and hierarchy generate and support one another within a for profit corporation By encouraging us to see texts and writing as powerful operators in the corporate world this book presents a case study focused on how one engineering organization uses texts to create and maintain its knowledge and power structure Based on over five years of observations the book describes the co generation of power knowledge text from several points of view including that of managers engineers interns and blue collar workers These groups of people use texts to build knowledge within their own areas and establish control over their work when it is passed along to the other groups Employing Bourdieu s notion that people possess different kinds of capital that can be converted to one another under the right circumstances the book demonstrates that text is one of the major ways that this conversion of capital takes place and is thus one of the major ways that power and knowledge are generated and accumulated The Oxford Handbook of Applied Linguistics Robert B. Kaplan,2010-09-30 A monumental editorial enterprise It is to be commended and used widely and wisely ESL Magazine Community Literacy Programs and the Politics of Change Jeffrey T. Grabill,2001-08-30 An examination of community literacy programs with an eye toward radical change Review of Adult Learning and Literacy, Volume 7 John Comings,Barbara Garner,Christine Smith,2023-05-31 Review of Adult Learning and Literacy Connecting Research Policy and Practice Volume 7 is the newest volume in a series of annual publications of the National Center for the Study of Adult Learning and Literacy NCSALL that address major issues the latest research and the best practices in the field of adult literacy and learning Each Review opens with an overview of significant recent developments in the field of adult literacy followed by a set of chapters presenting in depth reviews of research and best practices on topics of high interest to the field and concludes with a Resources section Chapter topics in Volume 7 Persistence Helping Adult Students Reach Their Goals Achieving Adult Education Program Quality Assistive Technology and Adult literacy Individualized Group Instruction Health Literacy Research on Professional Development and Teacher Change Opportunities Transitions and Risks Perspectives on Adult Literacy and Numeracy Development in Australia Adult Basic Education in South Africa Annotated Bibliography on Workplace Education The Review of Adult Learning and Literacy serves as the journal of record for the field and is an essential resource for all stakeholders who need to know what research can reveal about how best to serve adult learners The National Center for the Study of Adult Learning and Literacy NCSALL is a federally funded research and development center focused solely on adult learning NCSALL s efforts are dedicated to improving practice in educational programs that serve adults with limited literacy and English language skills and those without a high school diploma For more information on NCSALL please visit <http://www.ncsall.net> Resources in Education ,1998 The Routledge Handbook of Multilingualism Marilyn Martin-Jones,Adrian Blackledge,Angela Creese,2012-05-31 The Routledge Handbook of Multilingualism provides a comprehensive survey of the field of multilingualism for a global readership and an overview of the research which situates multilingualism in its social cultural and political context The handbook includes an introduction and five sections with thirty two chapters by leading international contributors The introduction charts the changing landscape of social and ethnographic research on multilingualism theory methods and research sites and it foregrounds key contemporary debates Chapters are structured around sub headings such as early developments key issues related to theory

Work, Subjectivity and Learning Stephen Billett, Tara Fenwick, Margaret Somerville, 2007-06-03 In recent year efforts to understand learning for and throughout working life have moved away from a focus on workplace training to concerns about learning as a component and outcome of engaging in work and work related activities and interactions This shift acknowledges a broader set of workplace factors that shape workers learning and development Yet equally it acknowledges that this learning through engagement is also necessarily shaped by the diverse ways that individuals elect to engage or participate in workplace activities Central here is the issue of individuals subjectivity and how this is shaped by but shapes engagement in work and therefore what learning flows from their participation It is in considering the relations among subjectivity learning and work that it is possible to advance both the conceptual and procedural bases for understanding learning through and for working life Moreover the focus on relations among subjectivity work and learning represents a point of convergence for diverse disciplinary traditions and practices that are provided by the book s contributors In this way the contributions represent something of the emerging perspectives that are elaborating the complex relations among subjectivity work and learning and circumstances in which they are played out

Retooling the Mind Factory Alan Sears, 2003-01-01 Alan Sears examines education reform in relation to a broad process of cultural and economic change His book makes the case that education reform is one aspect of a broad ranging neo liberal agenda that aims to push the market deeper into every aspect of our lives by eliminating or shrinking non market alternatives The author begins by showing that advocates of education reform have had to make the case that the current system is not working This sets the ground for an examination of the so called Common Sense Revolution a claim that drastic change was required to redesign government policies to fit a changing world Lean production methods are a crucial component of this changing world and broader social and cultural change is now required to consolidate the emerging order built on the spread of these methods Education reform is designed to recast the relations of citizenship contributing to the cultural and social change promoted through the social policy of the lean state

Literacy and Globalization Uta Papen, 2006-09-27 Using literacy practices in the newly independent post apartheid Namibia as a lens through which to examine the effects of globalisation this broad case study looks at issues surrounding tourism state control and the new forces of consumerism By placing literacy at the centre of an investigation into social and cultural change as experienced by individuals Papen shows that in times of change reading and writing are always implicated in structures of power and inequality The book considers language practices that can exclude some members of Namibian society and also looks at the strategies used by local people to accommodate and even embrace the onward march of global English and the influx of foreign visitors practices and modes of commerce and interaction The Annual Review of Adult Learning and Literacy John Comings, Barbara Garner, Cristine Smith, 2001-07-10 This is an encompassing review that addresses all aspects of literacy reading numeracy and technological literacy for example with a global perspective It connects the objectives of literacy education with broader areas of social welfare including health employment and political and economic empowerment The second volume in a new annual series this unique publication for practitioners in the field of adult learning and literacy collects in one yearly volume the best new knowledge and practice advances identified by the prestigious Harvard based and federally funded literacy center NCSALL A single user friendly source for information on best practices in the field of adult learning literacy The editors introduction in each volume covers news from the world of policy and research while six distinguished writers and practitioners contribute articles on the most pressing topics in adult literacy Each volume also includes annotated reviews of the best books and key journal articles published in the past year Learning Through Practice Stephen Billett, 2010-06-02 Practice based learning the kind of education that comes from experiencing real work in real situations has always been a prerequisite to qualification in professions such as medicine However there is growing interest in how practice based models of learning can assist the initial preparation for and further development of skills for a wider range of occupations Rather than being seen as a tool of first time training it is now viewed as a potentially important facet of professional development and life long learning This book provides perspectives on practice based learning from a range of disciplines and fields of work The collection here draws on a wide spectrum of perspectives to illustrate as well as to critically appraise approaches to practice based learning The book's two sections first explore the conceptual foundations of learning through practice and then provide detailed examples of its implementation Long standing practice based approaches to learning have been used in many professions and trades Indeed admission to the trades and major professions e.g. medicine law accountancy can only be realised after completing extended periods of practice in authentic practice settings However the growing contemporary interest in using practice based learning in more extensive contexts has arisen from concerns about the direct employability of graduates and the increasing focus on occupation specific courses in both vocations and higher education It is an especially urgent issue in an era of critical skill shortages rapidly transforming work requirements and an aging workforce combined with a looming shortage of new workforce entrants We must better understand how existing models of practice based learning are enacted in order to identify how they can be applied to different kinds of employment and workplaces The contributions to this volume explore ways in which learning through practice can be conceptualised enacted and appraised through an analysis of the traditions purposes and processes that support this learning including curriculum models and pedagogic practices Improving Adult Literacy Instruction National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on Learning Sciences: Foundations and Applications to Adolescent and Adult Literacy, 2012-04-26 A high level of literacy in both print and digital media is required for negotiating most aspects of 21st century life including supporting a family education health civic participation and competitiveness in the global economy Yet more than 90 million U S adults lack adequate literacy Furthermore only 38 percent of U S 12th graders are at or above proficient in reading Improving Adult Literacy Instruction synthesizes the research on literacy and learning to improve literacy instruction in the United States and to recommend a more systemic approach to research practice and policy The book focuses on individuals ages 16 and older who are not in K 12 education It identifies factors that affect literacy development in adolescence and adulthood in general and examines their implications for strengthening literacy instruction for this population It also discusses technologies for learning that can assist with multiple aspects of teaching assessment and accommodations for learning There is inadequate knowledge about effective instructional practices and a need for better assessment and ongoing monitoring of adult students proficiencies weaknesses instructional environments and progress which might guide instructional planning Improving Adult Literacy Instruction recommends a program of research and innovation to validate identify the boundaries of and extend current knowledge to improve instruction for adults and adolescents outside school The book is a valuable resource for curriculum developers federal agencies such as the Department of Education administrators educators and funding agencies Transforming English Studies Lori Ostergaard, Jeff Ludwig, 2009-02-23 Transforming English Studies provides a uniquely interdisciplinary view of English studies crises both real and imagined and works toward resolving the legitimate pathologies that threaten the sustainability of the discipline The Roles of Evaluation for Vocational Education and Training W. Norton Grubb, Paul Ryan, 1999 Focuses on the why and how of evaluation before presenting and assessing the value of a range of evaluation techniques Discusses the use and abuse of evaluation results in policy making particularly in relation to recent trends and issues in vocational education and training such as decentralization a declining role for the State a shift towards work based learning and a concern for issues of equality Handbook of Research on Writing Charles Bazerman, 2009-03-04 The Handbook of Research on Writing ventures to sum up inquiry over the last few decades on what we know about writing and the many ways we know it How do people write How do they learn to write and develop as writers Under what conditions and for what purposes do people write What resources and technologies do we use to write How did our current forms and practices of writing emerge within social history What impacts has writing had on society and the individual What does it mean to be and to learn to be an active participant in contemporary systems of meaning This cornerstone volume advances the field by aggregating the broad ranging interdisciplinary multidimensional strands of writing research and bringing them together into a common intellectual space Endeavoring to synthesize what has been learned about writing in all nations in recent decades it reflects a wide scope of international research activity with attention to writing at all levels of schooling and in all life situations Chapter authors all eminent researchers come from disciplines as diverse as anthropology archeology typography communication studies linguistics journalism sociology rhetoric composition law medicine education history and literacy studies The Handbook's 37 chapters are organized in five sections The History of Writing Writing in Society Writing in Schooling Writing and the Individual Writing as Text This volume in summing up what is known about writing deepens our experience and appreciation of writing in ways that will make teachers better at teaching writing and all of its readers better as individual writers It will be interesting and useful to scholars and researchers of writing to anyone who teaches writing in any context at any level and to all those who are just curious about writing
