Changing Cities Of Pacific Asia A Scholarly Interpretation:

Changing Cities of Pacific Asia Yue-man Yeung, 1990 In both the literal and metaphorical senses it seemed as if 1970s America was running out of gas The decade not only witnessed long lines at gas stations but a citizenry that had grown weary and disillusioned High unemployment runaway inflation and the energy crisis caused in part by U S dependence on Arab oil characterized an increasingly bleak economic situation As Edward D Berkowitz demonstrates the end of the postwar economic boom Watergate and defeat in Vietnam led to an unraveling of the national consensus During the decade ideas about the United States how it should be governed and how its economy should be managed changed dramatically Berkowitz argues that the postwar faith in sweeping social programs and a global U S mission was replaced by a more skeptical attitude about government s ability to positively affect society From Woody Allen to Watergate from the decline of the steel industry to the rise of Bill Gates and from Saturday Night Fever to the Sunday morning fervor of evangelical preachers Berkowitz captures the history tone and spirit of the seventies He explores the decade s major political events and movements including the rise and fall of d tente congressional reform changes in healthcare policies and the hostage crisis in Iran The seventies also gave birth to several social movements and the rights revolution in which women gays and lesbians and people with disabilities all successfully fought for greater legal and social recognition At the same time reaction to these social movements as well as the issue of abortion introduced a new facet into American political life the rise of powerful politically conservative religious organizations and activists Berkowitz also considers important shifts in American popular culture recounting the creative renaissance in American film as well as the birth of the Hollywood blockbuster He discusses how television programs such as All in the Family and Charlie s Angels offered Americans both a reflection of and an escape from the problems gripping the country

Asian Cities: Colonial to Global Gregory Bracken, 2025-10-01 When people look at success stories among postcolonial nations the focus almost always turns to Asia where many cities in former colonies have become key locations of international commerce and culture This book brings together a stellar group of scholars from a number of disciplines to explore the rise of Asian cities including Singapore Macau Hong Kong and more Dealing with history geography culture architecture urbanism and other topics the book attempts to formulate a new understanding of what makes Asian cities such global leaders

Emerging Urbanity Richard Marshall, 2013-09-05 Discussions on the global economy focus on the hyper mobility of capital the possibility of instantaneous transmission of information and money around the globe the centrality of information outputs to our economic systems and emphasise the neutralisation of geography and of places What is ignored however is that even the most advanced information industries need a material infrastructure of buildings and work processes and considerable agglomeration in order to operate in global markets Further the globalisation of economic activity has brought with it not only a vast dispersal of offices and factories but also a growing importance of central functions to manage and coordinate such worldwide networks of activities The development of global urban projects is one manifestation of this move towards centrality in urban situations These large scale urban projects are the result of governments seeking competitive advantage in the global economy They are critical components of a nation's global infrastructure In the booming economies of the Asia Pacific Rim prior to the Asian Economic Crisis these urban developments were seen as key components of national economic policies In their making they require a conscious effort to arrange material infrastructure and reinforce that there is a role for urban design in this making Emerging Urbanity is an exploration of this role in nine global urban projects in the Asia Pacific Rim

The City in the Developing World Robert B. Potter, Sally Lloyd-Evans, 2014-09-25 The City in the Developing World is a comprehensive and up to date introduction to urbanisation in developing countries The goal of this text is to place an understanding of the developing world city in its wider global context First this is done by developing the concept of social surplus product as a key to understanding the character of the contemporary Third World city Second throughout this text the city in developing areas is centrally placed in the context of global social economic political and cultural change Thus the important themes of globalisation modernity and postmodernity are examined both in relation to the structure of sets of towns and cities which make up the national or regional urban system and in respect of ideas and concepts dealing with the morphology structure and social patterning of individual urban areas The City in the Developing World is a core text for second and third year undergraduates in the fields of geography development studies planning economics and the social sciences taking options which deal with development issues development theory gender and development and Third World development

The Asian Mediterranean François Gipouloux, 2011-01-01 This intensive monograph The Asian Mediterranean is a great synthesis of east west maritime worlds

under an emerging global world Professor Gipouloux has combined historical studies on global maritime seas with regional economic studies on Asia He also integrates historical interaction between maritime seas and coastal port cities by creating the imaginative geo economical concept of the East Asian economic corridor running between Vladivostok and Singapore and locating China Japan and Southeast Asia into this maritime area To attain this goal Professor Gipouloux globalises China through north south east west and past present combinations using cross disciplinary approaches political economy geography and international relations under wide historical perspectives The Asian Mediterranean opens a new horizon to look into Asia from a global perspective and at the same time reminds us of the connection beyond contrast between East and West Takeshi Hamashita Tokyo University Japan and Sun Yat sen University Guangzhou China A fascinating analysis of the proposition that the start of the 21st century is witnessing the rapid rise in South East Asia of a new and powerful transnational economic zone the Asian Mediterranean It uses a wide range of historical and contemporary multidisciplinary sources to systematically explore how why and in what ways we can better interpret and understand this contemporary version of economic globalisation by looking back to the equivalent processes centred on the ports around the Mediterranean and the Baltic seas during the late 16th century Peter Daniels University of Birmingham UK Francois Gipouloux has written a vast and comprehensive history of the Asian economic system In the tradition of Braudel he paints a picture that is detailed full of insight and essentially very long term On the basis of an analysis of the old Mediterranean and Hanseatic economic networks he surveys the pre modern Asian system bringing it up to date with studies of Yokohama Hong Kong Singapore and other Asian hubs The culmination of many years work Gipouloux throws light on a new China a China no longer land based and inward looking but dependent on and a power in a maritime world Christopher Howe University of London UK Gipouloux's ground breaking study based on a long career as a scholar of Asia's past is a most original contribution to the study of globalization Connecting past and present the author has further developed the somewhat vague metaphor of an Asian Mediterranean into a well defined concept that can also be applied to analyzing contemporary affairs While in the past the traditional Chinese and Japanese state systems were failing to formulate adequate answers on a more informal level the port cities were able to meet with the maritime challenges of the emerging modern world system The author convincingly shows how also in the age of globalization a string of coastal metropolises continues to be instrumental in opening up the Far Eastern economy to the global economy Leonard Blussé Leiden University The Netherlands This insightful book draws upon a wide range of disciplines political economy geography and international relations to examine how Asia has returned to its central position in the world economy As in the case of the hosting of the Olympic games it is cities rather than states which compete whether as financial centres logistical hubs or platforms for coordinating international subcontracting Analysing the historical precedents of the Mediterranean maritime republics the Baltic Sea Hanseatic League and the South China Sea mercantile kingdoms the book delineates the way stable economic and legal institutions were developed largely beyond the purview of and at times in conflict with the State Discussing the strong link between history and contemporary economic situation The Asian Mediterranean will appeal to academics including Companion Encyclopedia of Geography Ian Douglas, Mike Robinson, 1996 Cities Feeding People Axumite G. Egziabher, 1994 Cities Feeding People examines urban agriculture in East Africa and proves that it is a safe clean and secure method to feed the world's struggling urban residents It also collapses the myth that urban agriculture is practiced only by the poor and unemployed Cities Feeding People provides the hard facts needed to convince governments that urban agriculture should have a larger role in feeding the urban population New Challenges for Development and Modernization Yue-man Yeung, 2002 This book focuses on three major areas of change and challenge faced by Hong Kong and the Asia Pacific region economic globalization political and social change and regional patterns of transformation It not only encourages a retrospective learning from past failures but also tries to anticipate the challenges of a new century and millennium Global Hong Kong Cindy Wong, Gary McDonogh, 2014-06-03 Global Hong Kong locates Hong Kong in the contemporary globalizing world Hong Kong as the authors argue is an archetypal place sitting at the intersection of East and West It is also a major center for global capital flows and world trade Moreover in recent years the island's global cultural power has become increasingly evident as Hong Kong popular culture has spread to the West via a booming film industry While looking at issues of postcoloniality transnationalism and economic globalization Wong and McDonogh focus on the new cultures and social formations of contemporary Hong Kong as well as the transformation of the physical city itself They also trace the new interconnections economic demographic social and cultural between Hong Kong and other parts of the world that have been fostered by globalization Books in this series look at how nations and regions across the world are navigating the tumultuous currents of globalization Concise descriptive interdisciplinary and theoretically informed they serve as ideal introductions to the peoples and places of our increasingly globalized world Privatization of Urban Land in Shanghai Ling Hin Li, 1996-10-01 This book provides researchers and practitioners with an informed study of the land and real estate market in Shanghai While there are a number of well researched books devoted to studying the economic consequences of China's transition to the capitalist market system few are written about the country's privatization of land control This book fills the gap by examining the land market mechanism arising from the land use rights reform in Shanghai which has important implications for real estate development in China as a whole Asian and Pacific Population Forum, 1991 Urbanization and Mission in Asia and the Pacific Robert Kisala, 2005 Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities Peter W. Daniels, Kong Chong Ho, Tom Hutton, 2005-04-01 During the second half of the twentieth century development in the Asia Pacific region has been dominated by industrialization However at the beginning of the twenty first century services in particular finance information and creative services have become deeply embedded in the processes of urban growth In Asia Pacific the rise of service industries has led to national modernization programmes and globalization strategies Services are also driving change in the internal form of city regions and are being actively deployed as instruments of metropolitan reconfiguration and land use changes. These changes have created problems such as social polarization and the displacement of traditional industries and residential districts. Also, there are tensions between local and global processes in the development of service industries and between the imperatives of competitive advantage and sustainable development.

Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities brings together a multi-disciplinary team of experts to explore and illustrate the theoretical, conceptual and practical issues arising from the transformation of Asia Pacific cities by service industries.

Monsoon Marketplace Elmo Gonzaga, 2023-12-05. Provides vivid accounts of commercial and leisure spaces that captivated the public imagination in the past but have since been destroyed, forgotten or refurbished. Monsoon Marketplace uncovers the entangled vernacular cultures of capitalist modernity, mass consumption and media spectatorship in two understudied postcolonial Asian cities across three crucial historical moments. Juxtaposing Manila and Singapore, it analyzes print and audiovisual representations of popular commercial and leisure spaces during the colonial occupation in the 1930s, national development in the 1960s and neoliberal globalization in the 2000s. Engaging with the work of creators including Nick Joaquin, Kevin Kwan and P. Ramlee, it discusses figures of female shoppers in 1930s Manila, languid expatriates in 1930s Singapore, street hawkers in 1960s Singapore, youthful activists in 1960s Manila, call center agents in 2000s Manila and super-rich investors in 2000s Singapore. Looking at the historical transformation of Calle Escolta, Avenida Rizal, Raffles Place and Orchard Road, it focuses on Crystal Arcade, the Manila Carnival, the Great World and New World Amusement Parks and Change Alley, all of which had once captivated the public imagination but have since vanished from the cityscape. Instead of treating capitalism, media and modernity as overarching systems or processes, the book examines how their configurations and experiences are contingent, variable, pluralistic and archipelagic. Diverging from critical theories and cultural studies that see consumerism and spectatorship as sources of alienation, docility and fantasy, it explores how they create new possibilities for agency, collectivity and resistance.

Facing Global Environmental Change Hans Günter Brauch, Navnita Chadha Behera, Patricia Kameri-Mbote, John Grin, Úrsula Oswald Spring, Béchir Chourou, Czesław Mesjasz, Heinz Krummenacher, 2009-06-04. The year 2007 could perhaps accurately be described as the year when climate change finally received the attention that this challenge deserves globally. Much of the information and knowledge that was created in this field during the year was the result of the findings of the Fourth Assessment Report (AR4) of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC), which were disseminated on a large scale and reported extensively by the media. This was the result not only of a heightened interest on the part of the public on various aspects of climate change but also because the IPCC itself proactively attempted to spread the findings of its AR4 to the public at large. The interest generated on the scientific realities of climate change was further enhanced by the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the IPCC and former Vice President of the US Al Gore. By taking

this decision in favour of a leader who has done a great deal to create awareness on climate change and a body that assesses all scientific aspects of climate change and disseminates the result of its findings the Norwegian Nobel Committee has clearly drawn the link between climate change and peace in the world The Journal of Asian Studies ,1991 An essential resource for those interested in Asia Recognized as the leading publication in its field It features articles on the history arts social sciences and contemporary issues of East South and Southeast Asia as well as a large book review section A Bibliography of Asia-Pacific Studies: Southeast Asia, Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines, Singapore, and Thailand ,1992 Bibliography of Asian Studies ,1996
