Changing Countries:

Adaptation to a Changing Climate in the Arab Countries Dorte Verner, 2012-11-16 The Arab region already suffers adverse consequences from climate change This book provides information on climate change and its impact as well as technical guidance on climate adaptation options for policy makers Climate Change and Developing Countries Nijavalli H. Ravindranath, Jayant A. Sathaye, 2005-12-16 Among global environmental issues climate change has received the largest attention of national and global policy makers researchers industry multilateral banks and NGOs Climate change is one of the most important global environmental problems with unique characteristics It is global long term up to several centuries and involves complex interactions between climatic environmental economic political institutional and technological pressures It is of great significance to developing countries as all the available knowledge suggests that they and particularly their poorer inhabitants are highly vulnerable to climate impacts The projected warming of 1.4 to 5.8 °C by 2100 and the related changes in rainfall pattern rise in sea level and increased frequency of extreme events such as drought hurricanes and storms are likely to threaten food security increase fresh water scarcity lead to decline in biodiversity increase occurrence of vector borne diseases cause flooding of coastal settlements etc Recognizing the potential threat of severe disruptions the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development was organized in 1992 in Rio de Janeiro Brazil to begin to address ways to reduce these impacts which led to the formulation of the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change This Convention and the subsequent Kyoto Protocol recognize the common but differentiated responsibility of developing and industrialized countries in addressing climate change Developing countries thus have a unique role to play in formulating a sound reasoned and well informed response to the threat of climate change Sustainable development in a changing climate Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: International Development Committee, 2009-06-03 Climate change threatens to destroy gains made in poverty reduction in many developing countries Substantial funding will be needed to help poor countries tackle climate change This funding must be additional to pledges already made for development assistance because developing countries are not responsible for the emissions which have caused climate change and the estimated costs cannot be met from existing development assistance or national budgets The current economic crisis could derail efforts to tackle climate change or it could provide an opportunity to chart a new greener growth strategy in developing Climate change should be central to the Department for International Development's DFID's work in developing countries and it needs to start establishing comprehensive climate change programmes Sustainable management of the natural resource base is vital DFID has focussed on water resources management and it should now consider the creation of marine and forestry management strategies to ensure that these sectors can continue to contribute to economic growth in a sustainable manner Developed countries should ensure that actions taken to reduce emissions do not impact negatively on developing countries Tourism and export horticulture are important contributors to poverty reduction in many poor countries and these sectors should be supported to increase their pro poor benefits and reduce their climate change impact There is a need for more research into low carbon options which are appropriate for poor countries and for mechanisms to facilitate knowledge and technology transfer The Copenhagen Conference to decide the successor to the Kyoto Agreement must agree stringent emission reduction targets or increase the risk of more severe climate change impacts Climate Change in Developing Countries M. A. van Drunen,R. Lasage,C. Dorland,2006-01-01 This book presents an overview of the studies conducted by the Netherlands Climate Change Studies Assistance programme The programme was set up in recognition of the need for developing countries in particular to face the challenges confronting all countries under the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change The book presents an overview of the main results in 13 countries Bolivia Colombia Ecuador Egypt Ghana Kazakhstan Mali Mongolia Senegal Suriname Vietnam Yemen and Zimbabwe It provides a critical evaluation of the methodologies and approaches used a cross country synthesis and recommendations for further studies Subjects dealt with include not only impact studies but also vulnerability and adaptation mitigation and climate related policy Change Leadership in Developing Countries Franca Ovadje,2014-04-16 Selected as an Outstanding Academic Title by Choice Magazine in 2014 In Change Leadership for Developing Countries Franca Ovadje offers readers a comprehensive and integrative model for the design implementation and evaluation of organizational change This unique book embodies an African perspective discussing the specific needs and issues associated with leading change within the institutional economic social and cultural contexts of developing economies Based on extensive research as well as the first hand experiences of managers who have led change initiatives in Africa this book envisions a change leadership model based on conscious decision making rather than taking a prescriptive approach With examples and case studies drawn from African organizations this book is a vital tool for students and managers who are based in or interact with emerging economies

Innovation and Structural Change in Post-Socialist Countries: A Quantitative Approach David A. Dyker,S. Radosevic,2012-12-06 This book uses a range of S T and structural indicators to analyse the transformation process in particular the transformation of science technology and industry in the former communist countries The book originates from a sense of the tremendous need for quantitative indicators for assessing trends and performance in the post socialist economies S T systems in the region have passed through the first phase of rapid deterioration or as it is called by some analysts implosion After ten years of transformation we are witnessing a process of increasing differentiation of these countries in terms of general patterns of growth and structural change as well as specific lines of restructuring in their S T systems The question of sources of growth or indeed of stagnation is an increasingly urgent one from both the policy and academic perspectives In that context there is a pressing need for in depth assessment of restructuring patterns in science technology and industry in the region as a basis for understanding how restructuring in S T is linked to industrial restructuring and to general economic and social transformation As the contributions to this volume show there is now a critical mass of quantitative data across the post socialist countries which deserves to be studied more thoroughly in a comparative manner The changes of the last ten years have produced varying patterns of adjustment which are now clearly visible in S T and structural indicators Scandinavia's Population Groups Originating from Developing Countries: Change and Integration Pieter Bevelander,2013-12-09 Scandinavia s foreign origin population has steadily increased over the past six decades Migration flows into the region have been linked to societal phenomena such as growing labour demands family reunification and the acceptance of refugees fleeing wars and political conflicts Whereas earlier migration streams were generally expected to integrate relatively easily concerns about the current streams are high on the political agenda This report is a cross country research into selected key features of population change and the integration of population groups with roots in Iran Iraq Pakistan Somalia Turkey and Vietnam in Denmark Sweden and Norway The research has sought to achieve three objectives The first is to determine how and when the groups came to the three Scandinavian countries and how they have since developed The second is to analyze two aspects of the groups integration namely their participation in education and their participation in the labour market And the final objective is to provide a brief overview of the groups situation in each of the three countries with regards to economic development immigration history and policy development

Managing Forest Carbon in a Changing Climate Mark S. Ashton,Mary L. Tyrrell,Deborah Spalding,Bradford Gentry,2012-01-06 The aim of this book is to provide an accessible overview for advanced students resource professionals such as land managers and policy makers to acquaint themselves with the established science management practices and policies that facilitate sequestration and allow for the storage of carbon in forests The book has value to the reader to better understand a carbon science and management of forests and wood products b the underlying social mechanisms of deforestation and c the policy options in order to formulate a cohesive strategy for implementing forest carbon projects and ultimately reducing emissions from forest land use Climate change adaptation in developing countries: issues and perspectives for economic analysis Muyeye Chambwera, Mainstreaming Adaptation to Climate Change in Least Developed Countries (LDCs) Saleemul Huq,2003

Introduction to Climate Change Mr. Rohit Manglik,2024-03-06 EduGorilla Publication is a trusted name in the education sector committed to empowering learners with high quality study materials and resources Specializing in competitive exams and academic support EduGorilla provides comprehensive and well structured content tailored to meet the needs of students across various streams and levels New Perspectives on Structural Change Ludovico Alcorta,Neil Foster-McGregor,Adam Szirmai,Bart Verspagen,2021 A comprehensive edited volume that outlines the historical roots and state of the art debates on the role of structural change in the process of economic development including both orthodox and heterodox perspectives and contributions from prominent scholars in this field Comparative International Perspectives on Education and Social Change in Developing Countries and Indigenous Peoples in Developed Countries Gaëtane Jean-Marie,Steve Sider,Charlene Desir,2015-07-01 Democratizing educational access and building capacity in developing countries and amongst indigenous peoples in developed countries may be elusive but are hopeful goals Many developing countries are striving to reengineer their incoherent education systems at a time when they are most vulnerable particularly with susceptibility to natural disasters political unrests and economic instabilities UNESCO 2007 Similarly indigenous peoples in developed countries are seeking more control over education as they consider the long term effects of educational policies that have been forced on them Research on education and social change in developing countries has a long history Glewwe 2002 Hanushek 1995 Sider 2011 However there is limited research on educational capacity building in developing countries such as Kenya Honduras Haiti Ghana Hong Kong India Peru China and Thailand Further the educational frameworks by which Indigenous peoples M ori Canada s First Nations and American Indian Alaska Natives have been educated have some significant similarities to those encountered in developing countries The compilation of chapters illuminates research and collaborative initiatives between the authors and local leaders in developing countries and Indigenous peoples in developed countries efforts to solve the complexity of social inequities through educational access and quality learning The authors draw on theoretical lens knowledge bases and strategies and identify trends and developments to provide the scope of educational improvement in a globalization context Brooks Jean Marie Normore Brooks 2009

COVID-19 and Climate Change in BRICS Nations Ndivhuho Tshikovi, Andréa Santos, Xiaolong Zou, Fulufhelo Netswera, Irina Zotovna Yarygina, Sriram Divi, 2023-12-29 This book provides a quantitative and qualitative overview of the overall impact that the COVID 19 pandemic had on the capacity of Brazil Russia India China and South Africa BRICS countries to reshape global climate governance and explore areas for mutual cooperation BRICS countries account for nearly 40% of the total world population and are thus intrinsic to the global efforts and results for Agenda 2030 the Sustainable Development Goals the Paris Agreement and beyond The outbreak of the COVID 19 pandemic does not at first appear to be directly related to BRICS policies to address climate change but it has influenced the pace and nature of climate action due to the loss of human and financial capital This book examines this correlation and raises awareness of the COVID 19 pandemic s impacts and potential solutions on BRICS climate strategies Drawing on case studies from each country the authors use examples from urban governance energy transition strategy foreign investment and more to illustrate how COVID 19 has negatively or positively impacted climate data and draw wider conclusions about the long term climate policies that may be implemented This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change environmental politics and governance and global development studies

Climate Change Challenges and Opportunities in Latin America and the Caribbean Anna Ivanova, Ms. Julie A Kozack, Ms. Sònia Muñoz, 2024-07-19 The analysis in the book suggests that LAC countries are facing substantial challenges related to climate change but have tools at their disposal to seize the opportunities that the climate change presents To maximize opportunities and minimize the risks LAC countries will need to improve flexibility and adaptability of their economies Policies aimed at supporting the reallocation of labor and capital across sectors investing in basic skills and human capital improving transparency and economic governance to encourage investment in technology and know how and creating fiscal space to manage the climate transition would help LAC countries position themselves to take advantage of the opportunities afforded by the climate transition

Eu and Climate Change,30th Report of Session Great Britain. Parliament. House of Lords. European Union Committee,2004 The Committee believes that climate change is and will continue to be one of the most important challenges facing the EU and the world Thjs report examines what the the EU is doing about climate change what policies are in place and how they are working Chapters cover the international context for EU policy the EU emissions trading scheme transport other policy areas including energy efficiency renewable energy policy nuclear energy waste and agriculture and the EU and the international community The EU adopted a European Climate Change Programme a comprehensive and relevant set of measures but progress has been mixed The report also finds that most member countries have not made significant progress towards their Kyoto targets for greenhouse gas reduction It recommends that the EU emissions trading scheme be endorsed by the G8 as a model to be followed throughout the world The lack of action to deal with the effects of aviation on climate change is seen as a major problem that needs to be addressed internationally
