Changing Course A Wrens Experience Of War 1939-1945:

Naval Eyewitnesses James Goulty, 2022-11-04 Goulty tells the story from the perspective of the ordinary sailor or officer who was there The Northern Mariner Although many books have been written about naval actions during the Second World War histories and memoirs in particular few books have attempted to encompass the extraordinary variety of the experience of the war at sea That is why James Goulty's vivid survey is of such value Sailors in the Royal Navy and the Merchant Navy experienced a war fought on a massive scale on every ocean of the world in a diverse range of vessels from battleships aircraft carriers and submarines to merchant ships and fishing boats Their recollections are as varied as the ships they served in and they take the reader through the entire maritime war as it was perceived at the time by those who had direct personal knowledge of it Throughout the book the emphasis is on the experience of individuals their recruitment and training their expectations and the reality they encountered on active service in many different offensive and defensive roles including convoy duty and coastal defence amphibious operations hunting U boats and surface raiders mine sweeping and manning landing and rescue craft A particularly graphic section describes in the words of the sailors themselves what action against the enemy felt like and the impact of casualties seamen who were wounded or killed on board or were lost when their ships sank A fascinating inside view of the maritime warfare emerges which may be less heroic than the image created by some post war accounts but it gives readers today a much more realistic impression of the whole gamut of wartime life at sea

Books in Print ,1991 A Nation at War, 1939-1945 Terry Copp, Laurier Centre for Military, Strategic and Disarmament Studies, 2004-08 A Nation at War brings together a collection of sixty two essays covering all aspects of the Canadian experience in the Second World War It is a readable and authoritative introduction to both the historical narrative and the interpretive debates by the best selling author of Fields of Fire and Cinderella Army Published by the Laurier Centre for Military Strategic and Disarmament Studies and distributed by Wilfrid Laurier University Press Women in Allied Naval Intelligence in the Second World War Sarah-Louise Miller, 2024-10-17 Closely examining the work of women in the US and British naval services towards Allied naval intelligence during the Second World War this book focuses on their contributions during the Battle of the Atlantic and Pacific Naval War in order to shed new light on arenas of war from which women's narratives are almost always absent Including personal testimonies from those involved and surveying a wide cross section of different roles Sarah Louise Miller analyses the work of women at every level and rank in the US and British naval services and offers a much wider picture of how they assisted the Allied forces behind closed doors With exploration of the work of the WRNS and WAVES on developing naval intelligence this book argues that they played a crucial role in the British and American SIGINT systems and within programs such as those at Bletchley Park and OP 20 G therefore directly impacting the organisation and outcome of Anglo American naval efforts Including analysis of the development of the modern kill chain Miller also re evaluates the effect of the combat taboo to demonstrate that the WRNS and WAVES were in fact at the cutting edge of the emergence of modern warfare The WRNS in Wartime Hannah Roberts, 2017-11-24 The Women's Royal Naval Service WRNS was created in 1917 re formed in 1938 and maintained after 1945 This book determines for the first time the reasons for the expansion and contraction of the service and the impact key individuals had on it and in turn the influence it had on its members Hannah Roberts offers new insights into a previously little studied British military institution which celebrates its centenary in 2017 She shows how political and military decision making within the fluctuating national security situation coupled with a growing cultural acceptability of women taking on military roles allowed for the growth of the service in World War II into realms never expected of women Although it shared a similar pattern in its formation to the Auxiliary Territorial Service ATS and had a similar ethos to its Air Force counterpart the WAAF the WRNS took on a wider ranging role in the war in part due to the latitude afforded to the service because of its uniquely independent origins From 1941 onward the WRNS spread internationally and subverted the combat taboo by adopting semi combatant roles Using twenty one new oral histories and a multitude of archived personal documents this book demonstrates the pivotal importance of the Women's Royal Naval Service in both the world wars The Wrens of World War II Peter Hore, 2021-09-29 The World War II codebreaking station at Bletchley is well known and its activities documented in detail Its decryption capabilities were vital to the war effort significantly aiding Allied victory But where did the messages being deciphered come from in the first place This is the extraordinary untold story of the Y service a secret even more closely guarded than Bletchley Park The Y service was the code for the chain of wireless intercept stations around Britain and all over the world Hundreds of wireless operators many of them who were civilians listened to German Italian and Japanese radio networks and meticulously logged everything they heard Some messages were then used tactically but most were sent on to Station X Bletchley Park where they were deciphered translated and consolidated to build a comprehensive overview of the enemy's movements and intentions Peter Hore delves into the fascinating history of the Y service with particular reference to the girls of the Women's Royal Naval Service Wrens who escaped from Singapore to Colombo as the war raged only to be torpedoed in the Atlantic on their way back to Britain the woman who had a devastatingly true premonition that disaster would strike on her way to Gibraltar the Australian who went from being captain of the English Women's Cricket team to a WWII Wren to the head of Abbotleigh girls school in Sydney how the Y service helped to hunt the German battleship Bismarck in the North Atlantic and how it helped to torpedo a Japanese cruiser in the Indian Ocean Together these incredible stories build a picture of World War II as it has never been viewed before Warship ,2008 The Booklist ,1963 The British Journal of Photography ,1980 U-Boat Attack Logs Daniel Morgan, Bruce Taylor, 2011-11-09 During the Second World War over 250 Allied warships from a dozen navies were sent to the bottom by German U boats This ground breaking study provides a detailed analysis of every sinking for which source material survives from both the Allied and the German sides resulting in detailed treatment of the fate of 110 vessels with the remainder summarised in an extensive appendix Uniquely each entry is built around a specialist translation of the relevant segment of the war diary log of the U boat in question taken directly from the surviving originals remarkably this represents the first large scale publication of the U boat war diaries in any language The book offers a wealth of new information not only with respect to the circumstances of the sinkings from both the Allied and German perspectives but also to the technical environment in which they lived as well as the fate of the crews The entries include background details on the vessels concerned and the men involved with a selection of rare and carefully chosen photos from archives and collections around the world Each entry is itself a compelling narrative but is backed with a list of sources consulted including documents published works and websites A decade in the making this is probably the most important book on the U boat war to be published for many a year
