Migration, Agrarian Transition, and Rural Change in Southeast Asia Philip F. Kelly, 2013-10-18 Rural life in Southeast Asia is being transformed by new and intensifying processes of migration and mobility Migration out of rural areas creates new forms of class mobility familial relations production processes and income Migration into rural areas creates a new and sometimes marginalized workforce contestation over resource access and the juxtaposition of culturally different groups At the same time everyday mobility stretches the spatial boundaries of village and family life The bounded space of the village is no longer adequate to understand the dynamics that are driving and resulting from rural social change This collection of original studies explores the cultural economic and environmental dimensions of intensifying migration and mobility in rural Southeast Asia at multiple scales Diverse processes are explored including rural urban flows rural rural movement everyday mobilities and international migrations into regional and global labour markets Drawing on fieldwork in six countries across the region these essays also explore what migration means for our understanding of class citizenship gender and the state in a rapidly changing part of the world This book was based on two parts of a special issue of Critical Asian Studies

Climate Change and Risk in South and Southeast Asia Devendraraj Madhanagopal, Salim Momtaz, 2022-11-30 This book focuses on South and Southeast Asia upgrades our understanding of the influence of multiple sociopolitical and governance factors on climate change and risks Moving beyond science and technology oriented discussions on climate change it argues that the real solutions to climate change problems lie in societies governance systems non state actors and the power and politics underpinning these systems It presents a range of detailed conceptual empirical and policy oriented insights from different nations of South and Southeast Asia including India Bangladesh Sri Lanka Indonesia Vietnam Maldives and Bhutan The chapters bring forth critical discussions of climate change covering a diverse range of topics including livelihoods gender community perspectives relocation resilience local politics climate change communication governance and policy responses By investigating climate change vulnerabilities and as well as offering feasible solutions to the states and other non state actors in responding to climate change and risks this book deepens our existing knowledge of the social and political dimensions of climate change With interdisciplinary perspectives this book will appeal to all students researchers and scholars of environmental studies geography disaster studies sociology policy studies development studies and political science It provides valuable reading to practitioners policymakers and professionals working in related fields

Environment, Climate Change and Migration in South Asia

Amit Ranjan,Rajesh Kharat,Pallavi Deka,2023-03-31 Climate change has been fueling migration and according to some policy reports there could more than one billion climate migrants refugees across the world by 2050 In South Asia disasters environmental degradation and climate change are increasing the number of migrants every year In South Asia like other parts of the world migrants and displaced people mainly move within their respective countries but some cross the porous border At most places the migrants and displaced people face hostile situation as they are not welcome by their local host population The chapters in the book highlight the challenges and inadequacies of governments and communities in protecting the environment as well as the disproportionate effect that climate change has on the poor and marginalized groups The book also discusses the gendered experiences of climate related migrations and policy measures which need to be implemented to counter forced displacements and environment degradation along with the legal and institutional resources which could help mitigate climate change and protect climate refugees This book will be of interest to students and researchers of development studies ecology and environment migration sociology law and governance human ecology climate change and economics

Environmental Uncertainty and Local Knowledge

Anna-Katharina Hornidge,Christoph Antweiler,2014-03-15 Southeast Asia is a laboratory showing current worldwide ecological issues Environmental change natural resource exploitation as well as global climate change increasingly threaten people s livelihoods Environmentally based uncertainties foster a high level of knowledge uncertainty This poses a constantly growing threat to agricultural production Vulnerable communities with a low degree of resilience are most severely affected But local communities have abilities to innovate and develop locally embedded coping strategies The contributors of this volume are most interested in environmental change that fosters knowledge uncertainties Regions discussed include the Mekong Delta in Vietnam Moluccas Central Kalimantan West Sumatra and South Sulawesi in Indonesia and Tangail Region in Bangladesh

Environmental Change in South-East Asia Mike Parnwell,Raymond L. Bryant,1996 Environmental Change in South East Asia brings together scholars journalists consultants and NGO activists to explore the interaction of people politics and ecology Ostensibly green activities plantation forestry eco tourism hydro electricity are revealed as guises used by elites to promote their own political and economic interests Highlighting fatal flaws in presently exclusive economic and ecological approaches the authors stress that neither the quest for sustainable development nor the process of environmental change itself can be understood without reference to political processes Sex, Love and Money in Cambodia Heidi

Hoefinger, 2013-07-04 Dealing with the complex and discomfiting grey area where sex love and money collide this book highlights the general materiality of everyday sex that takes place in all relationships In doing so it draws attention to and destigmatizes the transactional elements within many normative partnerships be they transnational inter ethnic or otherwise Focusing on Cambodia and on a subculture of young women employed in the tourist bar scene referred to as professional girlfriends the book shows that the resulting transnational relationships between Cambodian women and their foreign partners are complex and multi layered It argues that the sex for cash prostitution framework is no longer an appropriate model of analysis Instead a new vocabulary of professional girlfriends and transactional sex is used with which the nuanced complexities of these transnational partnerships are analysed Interdisciplinary in nature the book inspires new understandings of gender power sex love desire political economy and materiality within everyday relationships around the globe It is a useful contribution for students and scholars of Anthropology Sociology Southeast Asian Studies Gender and Sexuality Studies and Cultural Studies Global Environmental Changes in South Asia A.P. Mitra, C.

Sharma, 2012-03-05 The Fourth Assessment Report of IPCC having clinched in 2007 the evidence of global warming on account of anthropogenic activities backed with scientific data gathered and analyzed globally has made it mandatory world over to focus efforts on delineation of the anticipated adverse impacts of global warming on regional temperature and moisture regimes and the linked hydrologic climatic and biospheric processes First and foremost is the requirement to understand vulnerability to food and livelihood security in various ecosystems on mainland mid range and high mountains as well as coastal areas including CEZs The projected global temperature rise of the order of about two degrees or more and further rise at a decadal rate of around 0.2 C is sufficient to make grievous changes in sea surface level and submerge many low lying coastal areas around the world thereby possibly causing unprecedented losses to human habitat and livelihood in the coming years A rise in climate variability is also becoming increasingly evident with potential direct impact on agricultural performance on water accessibility and on weather extremes Developing countries due to their poor infrastructure limited resources and large impoverished population are likely to face more intense and widespread adverse impact of climate change than the developed world and also have limited adaptation capacity Southeast Asia Jonathan Rigg, 1997 Drawing on case studies from across Southeast Asia this work assesses poverty and the ways in which the poor are identified and viewed Progress and change in the rural and urban worlds are examined in detail focusing on the strengthening rural urban interaction as farmers make a living in the urban industrial sector and factories relocate into industrial areas Giving prominence to indigenous notions of development based on Buddhism Islam and the so called Asian Way the author critically assesses the conceptual foundations of the development ideas of post developmentalism and the miracle thesis

Environment, Media, and Popular Culture in Southeast Asia Jason Paolo Telles, John Charles Ryan, Jeconiah Louis Dreisbach, 2022-05-30 This book addresses the increasingly important subject of ecomedia by critically examining the interconnections between environment ecology media forms and popular culture in the Southeast Asian region exploring methods such as textual analysis thematic analysis content analysis participatory ethnography auto ethnography and semi structured interviewing It is divided into four sections I Activism Environment and Indigeneity II Political Ecologies and Urban Spaces III Narratives Discourses and Aesthetics and IV Imperialism Nationalism and Islands covering topics such as broadcast media radio and TV and the environment green cinema and ecodocumentaries ecodigital art digital environmental literature It is of great interest to researchers students practitioners and scholars working in the area of humanities media communications cultural studies environmental humanities environmental studies and sustainability

Routledge Handbook of the Environment in Southeast Asia Philip Hirsch, 2016-09-13 The environment is one of the defining issues of our times and it is closely linked to questions and dilemmas surrounding economic development Southeast Asia is one of the world's most economically and demographically dynamic regions and it is also one in which a host of environmental issues raise themselves The Routledge Handbook of the Environment in Southeast Asia is a collection of 30 chapters dealing with the most significant scholarly debates in this rapidly growing field of study Structured in four main parts it gives a comprehensive regional overview of and insight into the environment in Southeast Asia Wide ranging and balanced this handbook promotes scholarly understanding of how environmental issues are dealt with from diverse theoretical perspectives It offers a detailed empirical understanding of the myriad environmental problems and challenges faced in Southeast Asia This is the first publication of its kind in this field a helpful companion for a global audience and for scholars of Southeast Asian studies from a variety of disciplines

Bioarchaeology and Climate Change Gwen Robbins Schug, 2017-01-10 Using subadult skeletons from the Deccan Chalcolithic period of Indian prehistory along with archaeological and paleoclimate data this volume makes an important contribution to understanding the effects of ecological change on demography and childhood growth during the second millennium B C in peninsular India Michael Pietruszewski University of Hawai'i at Manoa In the context of current debates about global warming archaeology contributes important insights for understanding environmental changes in prehistory and the consequences and responses of past populations to them In Indian archaeology climate change and monsoon variability are often invoked to explain major demographic transitions cultural changes and migrations of prehistoric populations During the late Holocene 1400-700 B C agricultural communities flourished in a semiarid region of the Indian subcontinent until they precipitously collapsed Gwen Robbins Schug integrates the most recent paleoclimate reconstructions with an innovative analysis of skeletal remains from one of the last abandoned villages to provide a new interpretation of the archaeological record of this period Robbins Schug's biocultural synthesis provides us with a new way of looking at the adaptive social and cultural transformations that took place in this region during the first and second millennia B C Her work clearly and compellingly usurps the climate change paradigm demonstrating the complexity of human environmental transformations This original and significant contribution to bioarchaeological research and methodology enriches our understanding of both global climate change and South Asian prehistory

The Changing World of Bali Leo Howe, 2006-06-07 The glossy guide book image of Bali is of a timeless paradise whose people are devoutly religious and artistically gifted However a hundred years of colonialism war and Indonesian independence and tourism have produced both modernizing changes and created an image of Bali as traditional Incorporating up to date ethnographic field work the book investigates the myriad of ways in which the Balinese has responded to the influx of outside influence The book focuses on the fascinating interrelationship between tourism economy culture and religion in Bali painting a twenty first century picture of the Balinese In documenting these diverse changes Howe critically assesses some of the work of Bali's most famous ethnographer Clifford Geertz and demonstrates the importance of a historically grounded and broadly contextualized approach to the analysis of a complex society

Global-Regional Linkages in the Earth System Peter D. Tyson, Roland Fuchs, Congbin Fu, Louis Lebel, Hermine Vloemans, Eric Odada, John Perry, Will Steffen, Hassan Virji, 2002-04-30 Global environmental change occupies a central niche in the pantheon of modern sciences There is an urgent need to know and understand the way in which global biogeochemical cycles have changed over different time scales in the past and are likely to do so in the future Equally important it is necessary to determine the extent to which natural variability and that induced by anthropogenic activities are bringing about change A number of international co-operative scientific programmes address these issues Chief among them are the International Geosphere Biosphere Programme IGBP the World Climate Research Programme WCRP and the International Human Dimensions Programme IHDP for global change This book is one of a series of IGBP syntheses drawing together findings in global environmental change over the past decade or so One focus of IGBP activities is the System for Analysis Research and Training START Co-sponsored by the WCRP and IHDP START establishes regional research networks

for global change science in developing countries stimulates and carries out global change research in developing regions of the world and builds capacity to undertake such research at personal institutional and regional levels Several regional global change networks have been established and much regional research has been accomplished in the last five years or so In this book work relating to four of the older START regions Southern Africa South Asia Southeast Asia and East Asia will be used as case studies to illustrate regional global linkages in Earth System Science Living with Environmental Change W. Neil Adger, P. Mick Kelly, Nguyen Huu Ninh, 2012-12-06 Vietnam and the neighbouring countries of Southeast Asia face diverse challenges created by the rapid evolution of their social economic and environmental systems and resources Taking a multidisciplinary perspective this book provides a comprehensive assessment of the Vietnamese situation identifying the factors shaping social vulnerability and resilience to environmental change and considering prospects for sustainable development Nature in the Global South Paul Greenough, Anna Lowenhaupt Tsing, 2003-08-29 Alternative cultural forms of environmentalism in South and Southeast Asia Energy Sustainability and Climate Change in ASEAN Han Phoumin, Farhad Taghizadeh-Hesary, Fukunari Kimura, Jun Arima, 2021-07-15 This book provides several up to date empirical policy oriented studies on assessing the impacts of climate change on various economic sectors and the role of renewable energy resources in mitigating pollution and climate change It suggests various policy recommendations on how to increase the share of renewable energy resources in the energy baskets of the members of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN and the rest of the world to ensure energy sustainability As of 2020 most of the world s energy investment still went to carbon emitting sources namely fossil fuels On the other hand the Covid 19 pandemic and the economic Project Overview 20 March 2021 08 39 Page 6 of 9 downturns shrank the global energy demand including fossil fuels resulting in a sharp drop in their prices Low fossil fuel prices are harmful to developing renewable energy projects making solar wind and other renewable energy resources less competitive as sources of electricity This is endangering the Paris agreement and the Climate Action goal of the United Nations Given the high share of fossil fuels in the energy mix of the members of ASEAN tremendous challenges must be faced for their energy transition in the post Covid 19 world The authors call for sound policy and applicable technologies to ensure sustainable energy availability accessibility and affordability to reach emission reduction targets
