The Ethics of Transracial Adoption Hawley Fogg-Davis, 2018-10-18 Transracial adoption is one of the most contentious issues in adoption politics and in the politics of race more generally Some who support transracial adoption use a theory of colorblindness while many who oppose it draw a causal connection between race and culture and argue that a black child's racial and cultural interests are best served by black adoptive parents Hawley Fogg-Davis carves out a middle ground between these positions She believes that race should not be a barrier to adoption but neither should it be absent from the minds of prospective adopters and adoption practitioners Fogg-Davis's argument in favor of transracial adoption is based on the moral and legal principle of nondiscrimination and a theory of race consciousness she terms racial navigation Challenging the notion that children get their racial identity from their parents she argues that children through the process of racial navigation should cultivate their self-identification in dialogue with others The Ethics of Transracial Adoption explores new ground in the transracial adoption debate by examining the relationship between personal and public conceptions of race and racism before during and after adoption

Music Through the Floor Eric Puchner, 2007-07-24 With Music Through the Floor Pushcart Prize winner and former Wallace Stegner Fellow Eric Puchner makes an extraordinary debut a collection of nine unforgettable stories strikingly original fiercely funny and quietly heartbreaking portraying a group of cultural misfits attempting to navigate mainstream America Lost teetering on the edge of normalcy Puchner's characters seek to define themselves in a frequently absurd and hostile world a world that threatens to make outcasts of us all Caught up in loneliness or solitude they can't quite hear the music of their own lives In Children of God a young loner becomes the caretaker and companion for two mentally retarded men seeking solace in their outsider status Essay 3 Leda and the Swan is told in the forlorn be nighted and tragically funny voice of a high school girl who longs more than anything to be loved In Mission an idealistic ESL teacher is faced with the inscrutable wrath of one of his immigrant students And in the unsettling Child's Play Puchner explores the price of nonconformity by following a pack of boys wreaking havoc on Halloween Writing from an impressive range of perspectives men and women children and adults immigrants and tourists Puchner deftly exposes the dark ten der undersides of his characters with arresting beauty and precision Here are people fumbling for identity in a depersonalized world captured in moments that are hilarious shocking and transcendent sometimes all at once Unfailingly true surprisingly moving and impossible to forget these nine stories mark the arrival of a brilliant young writer and one of our most promising literary voices

Race and Ethnicity in Anglo-Saxon Literature Stephen Harris, 2004-06-01 What makes English literature English This question inspires Stephen Harris's wide ranging study of Old English literature From Bede in the eighth century to Geoffrey of Monmouth in the twelfth Harris explores the intersections of race and literature before the rise of imagined communities Harris examines possible configurations of communities illustrating dominant literary metaphors of race from Old English to its nineteenth century critical reception Literary voices in the England of Bede understood the limits of community primarily as racial or tribal in keeping with the perceived divine division of peoples after their languages and the extension of Christianity to Bede's Germanic neighbours was effected in part through metaphors of family and race Harris demonstrates how King Alfred adapted Bede in the ninth century how both exerted an effect on Archbishop Wulfstan in the eleventh and how Old English poetry speaks to images of race

A Companion to the American Short Story Alfred Bendixen, James Nagel, 2020-08-24 A COMPANION TO THE AMERICAN SHORT STORY A Companion to the American Short Story traces the development of this versatile literary genre over the past two centuries. Written by leading critics in the field and edited by two major scholars, it explores a wide range of writers from Edgar Allan Poe and Edith Wharton at the end of the nineteenth century to important modern writers such as Ernest Hemingway, William Faulkner, F. Scott Fitzgerald, and Richard Wright. Contributions with a broader focus address groups of multiethnic Asian and Jewish writers. Each chapter places the short story into context, focusing on the interaction of cultural forces and aesthetic principles. The Companion takes account of cutting-edge approaches to literary studies and contributes to the ongoing redefinition of the American canon, embracing genres such as ghost and detective fiction, cycles of interrelated short fiction, and comic social and political stories. The volume also reflects the diverse communities that have adopted this literary form and made it their own, featuring entries on a variety of feminist and multicultural traditions. This volume presents an important new consideration of the role of the short story in the literary history of American literature.
