Allergies, Poisoning and Intolerance to Common Substances Marlon Gustavo Múnera Gómez, Oscar Correa Jimenez, Juana Bustillo Arias, 2025-09-01 The purpose of this book is to provide guidance on issues that can be confused in clinical practice such as allergies intolerance and poisoning to common substances like alcohol certain foods meats shellfish and vegetables medications metals and vitamins among others Our experience in the study of allergic diseases and toxicology at the clinical and basic level has shown that there is some confusion and difficulty to understand the underlying mechanisms in the development of allergic responses and intolerance for example to shellfish This often delays or may mislead the diagnosis and management of both clinical entities For this reason this book offers a structure that allows first to understand the bases of the allergic response to different substances of consumption or frequent exposure Second to compare the mechanisms explaining the intolerance towards these substances For example in the chapter discussing allergy and intolerance to dairy products we present an immune mechanism mediated by IgE in the case of allergy while intolerance indicates a metabolic mechanism of enzyme deficiency However in both cases there are usually errors or misinterpretation in their knowledge Lastly regarding toxicology the bases of poisoning by these substances will be described when applicable This is the case of alcohol for example The work will be a useful tool for the training of medical personnel in these areas and for students and researchers interested in the investigation of these phenomena      High Value Fermentation Products, Volume 1 Saurabh Saran, Vikash Babu, Asha Chaubey, 2019-04-09 Green technologies are no longer the future of science but the present With more and more mature industries such as the process industries making large strides seemingly every single day and more consumers demanding products created from green technologies it is essential for any business in any industry to be familiar with the latest processes and technologies It is all part of a global effort to go greener and this is nowhere more apparent than in fermentation technology This book describes relevant aspects of industrial scale fermentation an expanding area of activity which already generates commercial values of over one third of a trillion US dollars annually and which will most likely radically change the way we produce chemicals in the long term future From biofuels and bulk amino acids to monoclonal antibodies and stem cells they all rely on mass suspension cultivation of cells in stirred bioreactors which is the most widely used and versatile way to produce Today a wide array of cells can be cultivated in this way and for most of them genetic engineering tools are also available Examples of products operating procedures engineering and design aspects economic drivers and cost and regulatory issues are addressed In addition there will be a discussion of how we got to where we are today and of the real world in industrial fermentation This chapter is exclusively dedicated to large scale production used in industrial settings

Products and Applications of Biopolymers Casparus Verbeek, 2012-03-07 It is interesting to consider that biopolymers are by no means new to this world It is only because of our fascination with petrochemical products that these wonderful materials have been neglected for so long Today we face a different challenge Environmental pressure is pushing away from synthetic or petrochemically derived products while economic factors are pulling back from often more expensive green options This book presents two aspects of biopolymers potential products and some applications of biopolymers covering the current relevance of biopolymers
