Ben Penglase,2014-09-01 The residents of Caxambu a squatter neighborhood in Rio de Janeiro live in a state of insecurity as they face urban violence Living with Insecurity in a Brazilian Favela examines how inequality racism drug trafficking police brutality and gang activities affect the daily lives of the people of Caxambu Some Brazilians see these communities known as favelas as centers of drug trafficking that exist beyond the control of the state and threaten the rest of the city For other Brazilians favelas are symbols of economic inequality and racial exclusion Ben Penglase s ethnography goes beyond these perspectives to look at how the people of Caxambu themselves experience violence Although the favela is often seen as a war zone the residents are linked to each other through bonds of kinship and friendship In addition residents often take pride in homes and public spaces that they have built and used over generations Penglase notes that despite poverty their lives are not completely defined by illegal violence or deprivation He argues that urban violence and a larger context of inequality create a social world that is deeply contradictory and ambivalent The unpredictability and instability of daily experiences result in disagreements and tensions but the residents also experience their neighborhood as a place of social intimacy As a result the social world of the neighborhood is both a place of danger and safety Drugs and Public Housing United States. Fijnaut, Jannemieke Ouwerkerk, 2009-11-23 Since the early 1990s cross border police and judicial cooperation has become a very important domain of the European Union. The Lisbon Treaty if accepted by all the Member States will certainly be a major stimulus to its further development in the field of internal security as well as in the field of external policy. In any event the recent proposal for a new third comprehensive policy programme with regard to the Area of Freedom Security and Justice the so called Stockholm Programme foreshadows some of the changes the Brussels institutions and the Member States would like to embrace in the coming years. This book contains the contributions of scholars and practitioners to a conference on the future of police and judicial cooperation in the European Union that took place in November 2008 at Tilburg University. Referring to what has been achieved in this domain since the Treaty of Maastricht these papers not only assess the proposals that have been put forward in successive policy documents relating to the Stockholm Programme but they also pinpoint to the ongoing problems in the theory and practice of police and judicial cooperation within the European Union and to the ways in which these questions could best be solved.
