Drugs Crime And Corruption Thinking The Unthinkable:

Drugs, Crime, and Corruption Richard Clutterbuck,1995-07 An entire chapter is devoted to chronicling how the 500 billion a year that is paid for these drugs more than the GDP of all but the world s seven richest nations is efficiently laundered The Political Economy of Narcotics Julia Buxton,2013-07-04 This book explores the origins history and organisation of the international system of narcotic drug control with a specific focus on heroin cannabis and cocaine It argues that the century long quest to eliminate the production trade in and use of narcotic drugs has been a profound failure The statistics produced by the international and domestic narcotic drug control agencies point to a sustained expansion of the drug trade despite the imposition of harsh criminal sanctions against those engaged as producers traffickers or consumers in the narcotic drugs market The roots of this major international policy failure are traced back to the outdated ideology of prohibition which is shown to be counterproductive utopian and a fundamentally inadequate basis for narcotic drug policy in the twenty first century Prohibition championed by many US policy makers has left the international community poorly positioned to confront those changes to the drug trade and drug markets that have resulted from globalisation Moreover prohibition based approaches are causing more harm than good as is demonstrated through reference to issues such as HIV AIDS the environment conflict development and social justice As the drug control system approaches its centenary there are signs that the global consensus on narcotic drug prohibition is fracturing Some European and South American states are pushing for a new approach based on regulation decriminalisation and harm reduction But those seeking to revise prohibition strategies faces entrenched resistance primarily by the U S This important text argues that successive American governments have pursued a contradictory approach acting decisively against the narcotic drug trade at home and abroad while at the same time working with drug traffickers and producer states when it is in America s strategic interest As a result US policy approaches emerge as a decisive factor in accounting for the failure of prohibition

Black Women and The Criminal Justice System Biko Agozino,2018-12-14 First published in 1997 this book identifies the problems that face black women in the criminal justice system as the result of the articulation of unequal and oppressive class race and gender relations the research aims to be aware of all three rather than prioritising isolating or reducing one or two of these relations The focus of this research primarily on black women is based on the belief that they are marginalised in both society and criminological research Black women are poorly represented in education employment the professions commerce industry and politics while in prison their presence is highly disproportionate to their wider numbers in society The author examines the problems facing black women and compares these with those facing black men and white women to demonstrate the articulation of social relations He addresses the structural positions of black women in society their social relations and the nature of the institutional practices of the criminal justice system
