inheritance      The Presidents & Their Faith Darrin Grinder,Steve Shaw,2012-03-21 The old adage never discuss religion and politics is roundly rejected in this incisive exploration of presidential history and religious faith The Presidents religious instruction was the responsibility of religious societies not the civil state What drove Washington to make that argument and what if he had lost Who wouldn t feel like the exasperated FDR when he said I can do almost everything in the Goldfish Bowl of the President s life but I ll be hanged if I can say my prayers in it It bothers me to feel like something in the zoo being looked at by all the tourists in Washington when I go to church No privacy in that kind of going to church and by the time I have gotten into that pew and settled down with everybody looking at me I don t feel like saying my prayers at all But even more importantly what s real what s a show and why does it matter when it comes to faith and politics These questions and more are unpacked and examined leading to a whole new understanding of how religion and politics interfaced through America s history and how they will play out in our future In this climate of religious and political tensions The Presidents Their Faith casts a civil yet entertaining and insightful spotlight on the unique mix and frequent mix ups of politics and religion in America      The Elected and the Chosen Denis Brian,2012 Why american presidents have supported jews and

David A J Richards s Resisting Injustice and The Feminist Ethics of Care in The Age of Obama Suddenly All The Truth Was Coming Out builds on his and Carol Gilligan s The Deepening Darkness to examine the roots of the resistance movements of the 1960s the political psychology behind contemporary conservatism and President Obama's present day appeal as well as the reasons for the reactionary politics against him Richards begins by laying out the basics of the ethics of care and proposing an alternative basis for ethics relationality which is based in convergent findings in infant research neuroscience and evolutionary psychology He critically analyzes patriarchal politics and states that they are rooted in a reactionary psychology that attacks human relationality and ethics From there the book examines the 1960s resistance movements and argues that they were fundamentally oriented around challenging patriarchy Richards asserts that the reactionary politics in America from the 1960s to the present are in service of an American patriarchy threatened by the resistance movements ranging from the 1960s civil rights movements to the present gay rights movement Reactionary politics intend to marginalize and even reverse the ethical achievements accomplished by resistance movements creating in effect a system of patriarchy hiding in democracy Richards consequently argues that Obama's appeal is connected to his challenge to this system of patriarchy and will examine both Obama's appeal and the reactions against him in light of the 2012 presidential election This book positions recent American political development in a broad analysis of the role of patriarchy in human oppression throughout history and argues that a feminist based ethics of care is necessary to form a more humane and inclusive democratic politics

Healing the Split Marc Elihu Hofstadter, 2011 Healing the Split consists of the collected essays of poet literary critic and philosopher Marc Elihu Hofstadter The essays stretch from Hofstadter's early scholarly articles about poets William Carlos Williams and Yves Bonnefoy through articles published in the Redwood Coast Review about poetry art music science politics and France to recent articles concerning the split between the sciences and the humanities reason and feeling intuition faith The book embodies Hofstadter's consistent belief in the idea that all human activities are composed of an objective element and a subjective element Human knowledge whether scientific mathematical philosophical or artistic contains a degree of objective certainty mixed with a component of subjective feeling The differences between science and the humanities are differences of degree of objectivity not of essence and the knowledge the humanities display is a genuine form of knowledge less certain than science but rich in tangible felt experience Even early in his career as a literary critic Hofstadter was interested in how such otherwise diverse poets as Williams and Bonnefoy sacralize the coming together of mind and world in all forms of human experience As Williams put it No ideas but in things by which he meant not Let there not be any ideas but Let all ideas be inextricably entwined with the physical world Hofstadter argues that in all our activities there is a mixture of the thinking reasoning mind and the parts of us that feel perceive touch our bodies our hearts Science and philosophy are the great achievements of the mind while art and religion are the most powerful consummations of sensing and feeling yet science and philosophy are partly emotive and art and theology partly rational The difference again is in degree Healing the Split is an attempt to bring reason and feeling intuition faith together to show how they are intimately related The Buddhist faith is key to this effort because Buddhism doesn't analyze out reason and non rational knowledge as separate faculties but tries to unite them in a direct embodied kind of experience that heals the split between them and makes the individual human being whole In Buddhism everything we know is known through consciousness and distinctions between subject and object mind and world logic and faith become artificial since consciousness is essentially unitary And Buddhism sees all phenomena known through consciousness as being related in a universal web everything is connected ultimately to everything else and the world is essentially One Healing the Split is finally a work of mysticism in the line of Parmenides who believed that everything is one or the Kabbalists who worshipped the All in the form of Ha Shem the unnamable Name Marc Elihu Hofstadter was born in New York City in 1945 He received his B A in French literature from Swarthmore College in 1967 and his Ph D in Literature from the University of California at Santa Cruz in 1975 He has taught American literature at Santa Cruz the University of Orleans on a Fulbright Lectureship and Tel Aviv University In 1980 he obtained his Master of Library Science degree from the University of California at Berkeley and from 1982 to 2005 served as the Librarian of the City of San Francisco's transit agency He has published five volumes of poetry House of Peace Visions Shark's Tooth Luck and Rising at 5 AM all of which are available on amazon.com and his poems translations and essays have appeared in over sixty magazines He lives in the retirement community of Rossmoor in Walnut Creek California with his partner the artist David Zurlin

John F. Kennedy, Barack Obama, and the Politics of Ethnic Incorporation and Avoidance Robert C. Smith, 2013-03-01 Fascinating look at the challenges faced by John F Kennedy and Barack Obama in their quests to win the presidency

Beyond the Boundaries Georgia A. Persons, 2017-09-29 In the past African American aspirations for political office were assumed to be limited to areas with sizeable black population bases By and large black candidates have rarely been successful in statewide or national elections This has been attributed to several factors limited resources available to African American candidates or identification with a black liberationist ideological thrust Other factors have been a relatively small and spatially concentrated primary support base of black voters and the persistent resistance of many white voters to support black candidates For these reasons the possibility of black candidates winning elections to national office was presumably just a dream Conventional wisdom conceded a virtual cap on both the possible number of black elected officials and the level of elective office to which they could ascend But objective political analysis has not always made sufficient allowances for the more universal phenomenon of individual political ambitions The contributors to this volume explore the ways ambitious individuals identified and seized upon strategies that are expanding the boundaries of African American electoral politics This volume is anchored by a symposium that focuses on new possibilities in African American politics Both the electoral contests of 2006 and the Barack Obama presidential campaign represent an emergent dynamic in American electoral politics Analysts are beginning to agree that the contours of social change now make the electoral successes of black candidates who are perceived as ideologically and culturally mainstream increasingly likely The debate captured in this volume will likely inspire further scholarly inquiry into the changing nature and dimensions of the larger dynamic of race in American politics and the subsequent changing political fortunes of African American candidates

Race and the Obama Phenomenon G. Reginald Daniel, Hettie V. Williams, 2014-07-17 The concept of a more perfect union remains a constant theme in the political rhetoric of Barack Obama From his now historic race speech to his second victory speech delivered on November 7 2012 that striving is evident Tonight more than two hundred years after a former colony won the right to determine its own destiny the task of perfecting our union moves forward stated the forty fourth president of the United States upon securing a second term in office after a hard fought political contest Obama borrows this rhetoric from the founding documents of the United States set forth in the US Constitution and in Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address How naive or realistic is Obama's vision of a more perfect American union that brings together people across racial class and political lines How can this vision of a more inclusive America be realized in a society that remains racist at its core These essays seek answers to these complicated questions by examining the 2008 and 2012 elections as well as the events of President Obama's first term Written by preeminent race scholars from multiple disciplines the volume brings together competing perspectives on race gender and the historic significance of Obama's election and reelection The president heralded in his November 2012 acceptance speech The idea that if you're willing to work hard it doesn't matter who you are or where you come from or what you look like whether you're black or white Hispanic or Asian or Native American These essayists argue the truth of that statement and assess whether America has made any progress toward that vision
