Mohammad Malas,2016-12-15 In 1980 Syrian filmmaker Mohammad Malas traveled to Lebanon to film a documentary about the country's Palestinian refugee camps during which time he kept a diary of his impressions The Dream A Diary of a Film is Malas's haunting chronicle of his immersion in the life of the camps including Shatila Burj al Barajneh Nahr al Bared and Ein al Helweh It also describes the filmmaking process from the research stage to the film's unofficial release in Shatila Camp before it reached a global audience In vivid and poetic detail Malas provides a snapshot of Palestinian refugees at a critical juncture of Lebanon's bloody civil war and at the height of the PLO's power in Lebanon before the 1982 Israeli invasion and the PLO's subsequent expulsion Malas probes his subjects dreams and existential fears with an artist's acute sensitivity revealing the extent to which the wounds and contingencies of Palestinian statelessness are woven into the tapestry of a fragmented Arab nationalism Although he halted his work on the film in 1982 following the massacres of Sabra and Shatila he completed it in 1987 turning 400 interviews into 23 dreams and 45 minutes of screen time Both diary and film present these people somewhere between present and past tense but they are preserved forever in the word magnetic tape and now in digital code The Dream is essential reading for anyone interested in the history of the Palestinians in the modern Middle East and for students and scholars of Arab filmmaking politics and literature

Oxford Companion to Consciousness Tim Bayne,Axel Cleeremans,Patrick Wilken,2009 Consciousness is undoubtedly one of the last remaining scientific mysteries and hence one of the greatest contemporary scientific challenges How does the brain's activity result in the rich phenomenology that characterizes our waking life Are animals conscious Why did consciousness evolve How does science proceed to answer such questions Can we define what consciousness is Can we measure it Can we use experimental results to further our understanding of disorders of consciousness such as those seen in schizophrenia delirium or altered states of consciousness These questions are at the heart of contemporary research in the domain Answering them requires a fundamentally interdisciplinary approach that engages not only philosophers but also neuroscientists and psychologists in a joint effort to develop novel approaches that reflect both the stunning recent advances in imaging methods as well as the continuing refinement of our concepts of consciousness In this light the Oxford Companion to Consciousness is the most complete authoritative survey of contemporary research on consciousness Five years in the making and including over 250 concise entries written by leaders in the field the volume covers both fundamental knowledge as well as more recent advances in this rapidly changing domain Structured as an easy to use dictionary and extensively cross referenced the Companion offers contributions from philosophy of mind to neuroscience from experimental psychology to clinical findings so reflecting the profoundly interdisciplinary nature of the domain Particular care has been taken to ensure that each of the entries is accessible to the general reader and that the overall volume represents a comprehensive snapshot of the contemporary study of consciousness The result is a unique compendium that will prove indispensable to anyone interested in consciousness from beginning students wishing to clarify a concept to professional consciousness researchers looking for the best characterization of a particular phenomenon
