Fashioning Society in Eighteenth-Century British Jamaica Chloe Northrop, 2024-03-20 White women who inhabited the West Indies in the eighteenth century fascinated metropolitan observers In popular prints novels and serial publications these women appeared to stray from proper British societal norms Although many women who lived in the Caribbean island of Jamaica might have fit the model extant writings from Ann Brodbelt Sarah Dwarrris Margaret and Mary Cowper Lady Maria Nugent and Ann Appleton Storrow show a longing to remain connected with metropolitan society and their loved ones separated by the Atlantic Sensibility and awareness of metropolitan material culture masked a lack of empathy towards subordinates and opened the white women in these islands to censure Novels and popular publications portrayed white women in the Caribbean as prone to overconsumption but these women seem to prize items not for their inherent value They treasured items most when they came from beloved connections This colonial interchange forged and preserved bonds with loved ones and comforted the women in the West Indies during their residence in these sugar plantation islands This book seeks to complicate the stereotype of insensibility and overconsumption that characterized the perception of white women who inhabited the British West Indies in the long eighteenth century This book will appeal to students and researchers alike who are interested in the social and cultural history of British Jamaica and the British West Indies more generally A

Tague,2002 An examination of the interaction between ideology and experience in the lives of English women during a period of great social and intellectual change Focusing on the complex relationship between discourse and experience Women of Quality examines the role of gender in aristocratic women s daily lives during a period of significant cultural change In the years followingthe Glorious Revolution didactic writers and other social critics responded to a perceived crisis of gender relations by creating a new discourse of natural feminine behavior in opposition to the luxury and decadence of fashionable women Modern scholars have often portrayed this agenda as representing the rise of a middle class ideology but Ingrid Tague argues that the new rhetoric held enormous appeal for those women who would appear to be its greatest targets wealthy fashionable women of quality Using the correspondence and diaries of these women Tague traces the ways in which they adopted adapted and exploited ideals of femininity In their hands feminine values could become powerful tools that enabled them to compete for status and reputation Ironically by identifying femininity with private trivial concerns these ideals created unique opportunities for elite women Female participation in informal social and political activities placed women at the heart of aristocratic power in the early eighteenth century even as they employed the language of wifely subordination and domesticity Ingrid Tague is Assistant Professor of History at the University of Denver The Painter's Touch Ewa Lajer-Burcharth,2018-01-08 A new interpretation of the development of artistic modernity in eighteenth century France What can be gained from considering a painting not only as an image but also a material object How does the painter

s own experience of the process of making matter for our understanding of both the painting and its maker The Painter s Touch addresses these questions to offer a radical reinterpretation of three paradigmatic French painters of the eighteenth century In this beautifully illustrated book Ewa Lajer Burcharth provides close readings of the works of Fran ois Boucher Jean Sim on Chardin and Jean Honor Fragonard entirely recasting our understanding of these painters practice Using the notion of touch she examines the implications of their strategic investment in materiality and sheds light on the distinct contribution of painting to the culture of the Enlightenment Lajer Burcharth traces how the distinct logic of these painters work the operation of surface in Boucher the deep materiality of Chardin and the dynamic morphological structure in Fragonard contributed to the formation of artistic identity Through the notion of touch she repositions these painters in the artistic culture of their time shifting attention from institutions such as the academy and the Salon to the realms of the market the medium and the body Lajer Burcharth analyzes Boucher s commercial tact Chardin s interiorized craft and Fragonard s materialization of eros Foregrounding the question of experience that of the painters and of the people they represent she shows how painting as a medium contributed to the Enlightenment s discourse on the self in both its individual and social functions By examining what paintings actually say in brushstrokes texture and paint The Painter s Touch transforms our understanding of the role of painting in the emergence of modernity and provides new readings of some of the most important and beloved works of art of the era
