Giveaway

This is a vertical A4 poster template for a giveaway. The background is a vibrant blue with a radial pattern emanating from the center. In the center, a smartwatch with a black face and a light-colored band is displayed on a blue, tiered pedestal. Surrounding the watch are several floating social media icons, including speech bubbles, hearts, and user avatars. At the top, a white speech bubble contains the word 'GIVEAWAY'. Below it, a large white banner with blue text reads 'ENTER TO WIN GIVEAWAY'. To the left of the watch, the website 'www.yoururl.com' is written vertically. To the right, a vertical stack of social media icons is followed by the handle '@yourname'. At the bottom, three numbered steps are listed in white boxes: '1 FOLLOW', '2 LIKE', and '3 SHARE'. Each step is followed by a paragraph of placeholder text in a smaller font. The overall design is modern and eye-catching, suitable for a digital or print giveaway promotion.

Better . . . Lisa Buchanan, 2002-11 It's all too often that designers leave a meeting with clients feeling as if they've been speaking an entirely different language. Graphically Speaking solves such communication problems by breaking down client designer dialogue into something both parties can understand. It visually defines more than 30 of the most common words that clients use to describe what they want in a design. Vague, possibly confusing terms, words like elegant or powerful or warm are made specific as they relate to actual design style. Entries provide visual reference materials including color combinations, fonts, and final designs so that terms are defined both literally and visually. Because of the structure of the book, it's really three must-have books in one: a client communication guide, a designer reference, and an inspiring collection of top design projects. Lisa Buchanan is the Art Director of HOW Design Books. Before joining HOW, she worked with clients on freelance projects including logos, web sites, letterhead, and business cards, all while developing her insights into client designer relationships. Lisa lives in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Las Vegas, the Untold Stories John Romero, 2012-08-14 You're about to enter a city that has no equal. It was built by extraordinary people with imaginative minds. Did they drink? Not sure, but why else would they build it in a Nevada desert? Some say you can go anywhere in the world and discover that people not only know about Las Vegas, they'd give anything to get there. True. As soon as I graduated from college, I took an all-night bus to reach a city I'd heard of but never seen. I stayed 30 years. Damn good years, too. And the mystique of the entertainers and the film stars and the elaborate restaurants and 24-hour-a-day casinos never wore off. I spent 20 of my years at the Sahara on the Strip, got inside the gambling business in the 60s, and loved it. Helped it, too, with my writing and my inventions. The Mob was still around in those days. They were the first venture capitalists and owned a piece of every casino in town. Did that stop anyone from having a good time? Of course not. Gradually, the Mob faded away, which is what happens when an FBI office with 15 agents sets up shop in town. But the gaiety didn't stop for a second, even when corporations realized they were the big guys now. Our Sahara entertainment director stunned us in 1964 when he made a deal with The Beatles to play two shows. I met the boys after dark at a small Las Vegas airport, rode with them to the Sahara, and helped get them to their suite before teen-age girls tore their clothes off. So take a chance, have a seat, and enjoy that drink in front of you. It's time to start the show. John Romero.
