DSM-III-R Casebook Robert L. Spitzer, 1989 This manual of nursing home practice is aimed at psychiatrists and covers topics such as evaluation and management of psychiatric problems in long term care patients with special reference to behavioural problems sexuality in the nursing home and legal and ethical issues DSM-III-R Casebook Robert L. Spitzer, 1989 Revised version of the 1981 publication includes over 100 new cases to aid the clinician using the concepts and terminology of the DSM III R Organized into adult child and adolescent cases international and historical cases No bibliography Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Public Health Aspects of Diagnosis and Classification of Mental and Behavioral Disorders Shekhar Saxena, 2012 Technical reviews presented in the World Health Organization American Psychiatric Institute for Research and Education WHO APIRE conference Public Health Aspects Classification of Mental Disorders P xvii National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1989 The Etherized Wife Leslie Margolin, 2021 The Etherized Wife provides a comprehensive examination of the evolution of sex therapy through the prism of gender The book makes the argument that in sex therapy like other domains of life in which men set the standard of normality women have been judged normal to the degree they match men's expectations What is particularly striking about this bias is that it contradicts therapists' overt identification with feminism and the battle against women's inequality To support these claims Leslie Margolin maps a series of case studies drawn from the discipline's own literature the articles and books that have been and continue to be treated as exemplars of the discipline's collective consciousness Through examination of case studies which focus on discrepancies in sexual desire where the man wants more sex and the woman less the book shows how therapists have favoured the man's side The Etherized Wife shows how the sex therapy discipline has unintentionally enshrined male sexuality as the model of normal natural healthy sexuality

All We Have to Fear Allan V. Horwitz, PhD, Jerome C. Wakefield, 2012-06 Thirty years ago it was estimated that less than five percent of the population had an anxiety disorder Today some estimates are over fifty percent a tenfold increase Is this dramatic rise evidence of a real medical epidemic In All We Have to Fear Allan Horwitz and Jerome Wakefield argue that psychiatry itself has largely generated this epidemic by inflating many natural fears into psychiatric disorders leading to the over diagnosis of anxiety disorders and the over prescription of anxiety reducing drugs American psychiatry currently identifies disordered anxiety as irrational anxiety disproportionate to a real threat Horwitz and Wakefield argue to the contrary that it can be a perfectly normal part of our nature to fear things that are not at all dangerous from heights to negative judgments by others to scenes that remind us of past threats as in some forms of PTSD Indeed this book argues strongly against the tendency to call any distressing condition a mental disorder To counter this trend the authors provide an innovative and nuanced way to distinguish between anxiety conditions that are psychiatric disorders and likely require medical treatment and those that are not the latter including anxieties that seem irrational but are the natural products of evolution The authors show that many commonly diagnosed irrational fears such as a fear of snakes strangers or social evaluation have evolved over time in response to situations that posed serious risks to humans in the past but are no longer dangerous today Drawing on a wide range of disciplines including psychiatry evolutionary psychology sociology anthropology and history the book illuminates the nature of anxiety in America making a major contribution to our understanding of mental health

McRay, 2012-12-05 Mark A Yarhouse Richard E Butman and Barrett W McRay offer this companion volume to Modern Psychotherapies addressing students and mental health professionals who want to sort through contemporary secular understandings of psychopathology in relationship to a Christian worldview

Rewriting the Soul Ian Hacking, 1998-08-23 As Foucault once identified a politics that centers on the body and another that classifies and organizes the human population Hacking has now provided a masterful description of the politics of memory the scientizing of the soul and the wounds it can receive

Culture Charles W. Nuckolls, 1998-09-15 French historian Alexis de Tocqueville observed that the conflict between the ideals of individualism and community defines American culture In this groundbreaking new work anthropologist Charles Nuckolls discovers that every culture consists of such paradoxes thus making culture a problem that cannot be solved He does however find much creative tension in these unresolvable opposites Nuckolls presents three fascinating case studies that demonstrate how values often are expressed in the organization of social roles First he treats the Micronesian Ifaluks opposition between cooperation and self gratification by examining the nature versus nurture debate Nuckolls then shifts to the values of community and individual adventure by looking at the conflicts in the identities of public figures in Oklahoma Finally he investigates the cultural significance in the diagnostic system and practices of psychiatry in the United States Nuckolls asserts that psychiatry treats genders differently assigning dependence to women and independence to men and in some cases diagnoses the extreme forms of these values as disorders Nuckolls elaborates on the theory of culture that he introduced in his previous book The Cultural Dialectics of Knowledge and Desire which proposed that the desire to resolve conflicts is central to cultural knowledge In Culture A Problem that Cannot Be Solved Nuckolls restores the neglected social science concept of values which addresses both knowledge and motivation As a result he brings together cognition and psychoanalysis as well as sociology and psychology in his study of cultural processes

DSM-IV-TR Casebook Robert L. Spitzer, 2002 Newly updated for DSM IV TR the DSM IV TR Casebook facilitates the transition from the concepts and terminology of DSM IV TR to actual clinical situations by providing clinical vignettes for illustration and study Carefully updated it helps both students and clinicians visualize DSM IV TR disorders through the use of clinical vignettes Each is followed by a discussion of the DSM IV TR differential diagnosis The DSM IV TR Casebook is highly recommended for clinicians to help them develop a deeper comprehension of all diagnostic categories

Procrastination and Task Avoidance

Joseph R. Ferrari, Judith L. Johnson, William G. McCown, 2013-06-29 Procrastination is a fascinating highly complex human phenomenon for which the time has come for systematic theoretical and therapeutic effort The present volume reflects this effort It was a labor of love to read this scholarly timely book the first of its kind on the topic It was especially encouraging to find that its authors are remarkably free of the phenomenon they have been investigating One might have expected the opposite It has often been argued that people select topics that trouble them and come to understand their problems better by studying or treating them in others This does not appear to be true of the procrastination researchers represented in this book I base this conclusion on two simple observations First the work is replete with recent references and the book itself has reached the reader scarcely a year following its completion Second when one considers the remarkable pace of psychological research by these contributors during the past decade it is clear that they are at the healthy end of the procrastination continuum The fascinating history of the term procrastination is well documented in this book The term continues to conjure up contrasting eloquent images especially for poets When Edward Young wrote in 1742 Procrastination is the Thief of Time he was condemning the waste of the most precious of human commodities
