Animals In Film:

Animals in Film Jonathan Burt, 2002 The books that comprise the Locations series address the links between film and society Jonathan Burt's Animals in Film explores the history of the relationship between animals and film and looks at the politics of animals in cinema Animals in Film Jonathan Burt, 2004-02-03 From Salvador Dal to Walt Disney animals have been a constant yet little considered presence in film Indeed it may come as a surprise to learn that animals were a central inspiration to the development of moving pictures themselves In Animals in Film Jonathan Burt points out that the mobility of animals presented technical and conceptual challenges to early film makers the solutions of which were an important factor in advancing photographic technology accelerating the speed of both film and camera The early filming of animals also marked one of the most significant and far reaching changes in the history of animal representation and has largely determined the way animals have been visualized in the twentieth century Burt looks at the extraordinary relationship between animals cinema and photography including the pioneering work of Eadweard Muybridge and Jules Etienne Marey and the technological developments and challenges posed by the animal as a specific kind of moving object Animals in Film is a shrewd account of the politics of animals in cinema of how movies and video have developed as weapons for animal rights activists and of the roles that animals have played in film from the avant garde to Hollywood Animals in Film - Their Stories on and Off Screen Thea Feldman, 2014 The movies War Horse Free Willy and Babe entertain by focusing on animals that show their loyalty emotion and intelligence while forming a close bond with a person These heartwarming tales inform the audience about topics such as world history and the Farmed Animals on Film Stephen Marcus Finn, 2023-03-03 This book aims to show how film can increase awareness of the plight of farmed animals without exploiting them Much has been written on the rights of animals be they in the wild or circuses hunted experimented on used for entertainment or slaughtered and consumed However there has been little that has examined in any detail the filming of farmed animals and nothing on a declaration of rights for such animals thus leaving them in a limbo of neglect Stephen Marcus Finn offers a manifesto on how to foster the rights of farmed animals in filming and sets out to rectify this lacuna Wildlife Films Derek Bousé, 2011-11-29 If as many argue movies and television have become Western culture's premier storytelling media so too have they become for most members of society the primary source of encounters with the natural world particularly wild animals The television fare offered nightly by national and cable networks such as PBS and the Discovery Channel provides millions of viewers with their only experience of the wilderness and its inhabitants The very films that so many viewers take as accurate portrayals of wildlife however have evolved primarily as a form of entertainment following the established codes and conventions of narrative exposition The result has been not the representation of nature but its wholesale reconstruction and reconfiguration according to film and television conventions audience expectations and the demands of competition in the media marketplace Wildlife Films traces the genealogy of the nature film from its origins as the animal locomotion studies that mark the very beginnings of motion pictures themselves to the founding of the Animal Planet cable channel that boasts all animals all the time The narrative and thematic elements that unite wildlife films as a genre have their roots not in the documentary film tradition but in the older traditions of oral and written animal fables as reflections of human society Derek Bous contends that classic wildlife films often portray animal protagonists living in families modeled on an ideal of the human nuclear family and working in communities that resemble an ideal of bucolic human society In these stories presented as documentaries animals are motivated by human emotions and conduct relationships according to human customs This imposition of culturally satisfying narrative patterns upon the lives of animals has not only led to the misrepresentation of the natural world it has promoted the notion that our values our moral vision our models of society and family structure derive from nature rather than being cultural formations

Animals and Greek Cinema Nikitas Fessas, 2025-05-02 This book offers a non anthropocentric account of a national cinema Drawing on cutting edge developments in Animal film studies the book gathers a wide range of species and genres to discuss the Greek cinematic animal This entails recalibrating the readers viewers gazes to include particular nonhumans often displaced in the frame s margins While acknowledging the cost paid in animal suffering for Greek cinema to rise the book features instances of animal human bonding Combining close readings with interviews with directors human actors screenwriters cinematographers producers special effects artists and animal wranglers this book proposes a paradigm of human animal praxis arguing that revisiting nonhuman images can lead to renewed ethical relations and to less speciesist cinemas film industries and societies

Animals in Film, 2004 From Salvador Dal to Walt Disney animals have been a constant yet little considered presence in film Indeed it may come as a surprise to learn that animals were a central inspiration to the development of moving pictures themselves In Animals in Wildlife Film-making Piers Warren, 2011 As technology advances rapidly and viewers options increase this book presents a fascinating exploration of the future of the wildlife film making industry Its unique collection of views and advice make this book an invaluable resource for everyone who wishes to succeed as a wildlife film maker in years to come With articles from many leading figures in the industry and case studies of numerous skilled practitioners

Critical Animal and Media Studies Núria Almiron, Matthew Cole, Carrie P. Freeman, 2015-10-14 This book aims to put the speciesism debate and the treatment of non human animals on the agenda of critical media studies and to put media studies on the agenda of animal ethics researchers Contributors examine the convergence of media and animal ethics from theoretical philosophical discursive social constructionist and political economic perspectives The book is divided into three sections foundations representation and responsibility outlining the different disciplinary approaches application to media studies and covering how non human animals and the relationship between humans and non humans are represented by the mass media concluding with suggestions for how the media as a major producer of cultural norms and values related to non human animals and how we treat them might improve such representations book by Piers Warren packed with guidance and advice for aspiring makers of natural history films Foreword by Jeffery Boswall Described as long overdue and much needed this is not just an essential book for newcomers and wannabes the fascinating case studies of well known individuals and unique discussion of the future of the industry from top professionals make this an important read for those already working in the fields of wildlife underwater and conservation film There has never been a careers guide to the wildlife film industry before and this book covers all aspects of working in this genre Author Piers Warren explains how wildlife films are made describes the variety of jobs and how to get started and then supplies information on education and training wildlife film festivals organisations and projects The section The Future of the Industry involves no holds barred views from individuals with a wide variety of experience of wildlife films combining to produce a fascinating and eye opening vision of the future of wildlife programming

Animal Life and the Moving Image Michael Lawrence, Laura McMahon, 2019-07-25 From the proto cinematic sequencing of animal motion in the nineteenth century to the ubiquity of animal videos online the histories of animal life and the moving image are enigmatically interlocked Animal Life and the Moving Image is the first collection of essays to offer a sustained focus on the relations between screen cultures and non human animals The volume brings together some of the most important and influential writers working on the non human animal s significance for cultures and theories of the moving image It offers innovative analyses of the representation of animals across a wide range of documentary fiction mainstream and avant garde practices from early cinema to contemporary user generated media Individual chapters consider King Kong The Birds The Misfits The Cove Grizzly Man and Microcosmos the work of Sergei Eisenstein Robert Bresson Malcolm Le Grice Peter Greenaway Carolee Schneemann and Isabella Rossellini and YouTube stars Christian the lion and Maru the cat

Animal Spaces, Beastly Places Chris Philo, Chris Wilbert, 2004-08-02 Animal Spaces Beastly Places examines how animals interact and relate with people in different ways Using a comprehensive range of examples which include feral cats and wild wolves to domestic animals and intensively farmed cattle the contributors explore the complex relations in which humans and non human animals are mixed together Our emotions involving animals range from those of love and compassion to untold cruelty force violence and power As humans we have placed different animals into different categories according to some notion of species usefulness domesticity or wildness As a result of these varying and often contested orderings animals are assigned to particular places and spaces Animal Spaces Beastly Places shows us that there are many exceptions and variations on the spatiality of human animal spatial orderings within and across cultures and over time It develops new ways of thinking about human animal interactions and encourages us to find better ways for humans and animals to live together

Teaching Social Issues with Film William B. Russell, 2009-09-01 Since the beginning of the 20th century the film industry has confronted challenged and explored various social issues through its films Social issue films are an excellent resource for teaching social issues Teachers will find this book to be a valuable resource for teaching social issues This book includes a discussion on teaching social issues teaching with film and how social issue films can be utilized to enhance the curriculum This volume offers teachers an effective means for teaching social issues to today's digital and media savvy students Furthermore this volume details how film can be used to teach social issues discusses relevant legal issues surrounding the use of film in the classroom and details two separate models for teaching social issues with film The heart of the book includes a detailed filmography of 180 films that pertain to 30 social issues Each social issue includes a definition explanation of the social issue and details six films Each film detailed includes complete bibliographic information and a synopsis This volume is clearly organized and expertly written for educators and is beneficial to librarians and teachers at the secondary and college level particularly in social studies sociology history political science literature film studies and other social sciences

Film History for the Anthropocene Seth Peabody, 2023 By exploring German film history with the tools of the Environmental Humanities this book offers a case study of the power of film within processes of environmental transformation

Animal Horror Cinema Katarina Gregersdotter, Johan Höglund, Nicklas Hållén, 2016-02-22 This first full length scholarly study about animal horror cinema defines the popular subgenre and describes its origin and history in the West The chapters explore a variety of animal horror films from a number of different perspectives This is an indispensable study for students and scholars of cinema horror and animal studies

Cameras into the Wild Palle B. Petterson, 2011-08-12 The cinematographers and directors who shot film in wilderness areas at the turn of the 19th century are some of the unsung heroes of documentary film making Apart from severe weather conditions these men and women struggled with heavy and cumbersome equipment in some of the most unforgiving locales on the planet This groundbreaking study examines nature wildlife and wilderness filming from all angles Topics covered include the beginnings of film itself the first attempts at nature and expedition filming technical developments of the period involving cameras and lenses and the role film has played in wilderness preservation The individual contributions of major figures are discussed throughout and a filmography lists hundreds of nature films from the period

The Welfare of Performing Animals David A. H. Wilson, 2015-02-20 This timely book describes and analyses a neglected area of the history of concern for animal welfare discussing the ends and means of the capture transport housing and training of performing animals as well as the role of pressure groups politics the press and vested interests It examines primary source material of considerable interdisciplinary interest and addresses the influence of scientific and veterinary opinion and the effectiveness of proposals for supervisory legislation noting the current international status and characteristics of present day practice within the commercial sector Animal performance has a long history and at the beginning of the twentieth century this aspect of popular entertainment became the subject not just of a major public controversy but also of prolonged British parliamentary attention to animal welfare Following an assessment of the use of trained animals in the more distant historical past the book charts the emergence of criticism and analyses the arguments and evidence used by the opponents and proponents in Britain from the early twentieth century to the present noting comparable events in the United States and elsewhere      Teaching the Animal ,      Developing Animals Matthew Brower,2011 How the emergence of wildlife photography changed the way we think about animals      The Media, Animal Conservation and Environmental Education John Blewitt,2013-10-31 Natural History filmmaking has a long history but the generic boundaries between it and environmental and conservation filmmaking are blurred Nature environment and animal imagery has been a mainstay of television campaigning organisations and conservation bodies from Greenpeace to the Sierra Club with vibrant images being used effectively on posters leaflets and postcards and in coffee table books media releases short films and viral emails to educate and inform the general public However critics suggest that wildlife film and photography frequently convey a false image of the state of the world s flora and fauna The environmental educator David Orr once remarked that all education is environmental education and it is possible to see all image based communication in the same way The Media Animal Conservation and Environmental Education has contributions from filmmakers photographers researchers and academics from across the globe It explores the various ways in which film television and video are and can be used by conservationists and educators to encourage both a greater awareness of environmental and conservation issues and practical action designed to help endangered species This book is based on a special issue of the journal Environmental Education Research
