Animate Illusions Explorations Of Narrative Structure:

Animate Illusions Harold E. Toliver, 1974-01-01 Animate Illusions; Explorations of Narrative Structure Harold E. Toliver, 1974 The Distinction of Fiction Dorrit Cohn, 2000-12 Winner of the Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize for Comparative Literary Studies from the Modern Language Association Winner of the Modern Language Association s Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize for Comparative Literary Studies The border between fact and fiction has been trespassed so often it seems to be a highway Works of history that include fictional techniques are usually held in contempt but works of fiction that include history are among the greatest of classics Fiction claims to be able to convey its own unique kinds of truth But unless a reader knows in advance whether a narrative is fictional or not judgment can be frustrated and confused In The Distinction of Fiction Dorrit Cohn argues that fiction does present specific clues to its fictionality and its own justifications Indeed except in cases of deliberate deception fiction achieves its purposes best by exercising generic conventions that inform the reader that it is fiction Cohn tests her conclusions against major narrative works including Proust s A la Recherche du temps perdu Mann s Death in Venice Tolstoy s War and Peace and Freud s case studies She contests widespread poststructuralist views that all narratives are fictional On the contrary she separates fiction and nonfiction as necessarily distinct even when bound together An expansion of Cohn s Christian Gauss lectures at Princeton and the product of many years of labor and thought The Distinction of Fiction builds on narratological and phenomenological theories to show that boundaries between fiction and history can be firmly and systematically explored The Temporal Mechanics of the Fourth Gospel Douglas Estes, 2008-01-01 By redefining narrative temporality in light of modern physics this book advances a unique and innovative approach to the deep seated temporalities within the Gospel of John and challenges the implicit assumptions of textual brokenness that run throughout Johannine scholarship Action and Image Roy Armes, 1994 The concern of film theorists to read films as texts has led them to neglect the equally pressing need to see films as drama Roy Armes sets out to redress the balance by drawing on the insights offered by recent developments in the theoretical study of drama and performance Why Narrative? Stanley Hauerwas, L. Gregory Jones, 1997-10-28 Narrative Theology is still with us to the delight of some and to the chagrin of others Why Narrative is in reprint because it represents what is still a very important question This diverse collection of essays on narrative theology has proven very useful in university and seminary theology classes It is also of great use as a primer for the educated layperson or church study group Jones and Hauerwas have done an excellent job of selecting representative essays that deal with appeals to narrative in areas such as personal identity and human action biblical hermeneutics epistemology and theological and ethical method The Rhetoric of Fiction Wayne C. Booth, 2010-05-15 The first edition of The Rhetoric of Fiction transformed the criticism of fiction and soon became a classic in the field One of the most widely used texts in fiction courses it is a standard reference point in advanced discussions of how fictional form works how authors make novels accessible and how readers recreate texts and its concepts and terms such as the implied author the postulated reader and the unreliable narrator have become part of the standard critical lexicon For this new edition Wayne C Booth has written an extensive Afterword in which he clarifies misunderstandings corrects what he now views as errors and sets forth his own recent thinking about the rhetoric of fiction The other new feature is a Supplementary Bibliography prepared by James Phelan in consultation with the author which lists the important critical works of the past twenty years two decades that Booth describes as the richest in the history of the subject

Hemispheric Imaginations Helmbrecht Breinig, 2016-12-06 What image of Latin America have North American fiction writers created found or echoed and how has the prevailing discourse about the region shaped their work How have their writings contributed to the discursive construction of our southern neighbors and how has the literature undermined this construction and added layers of complexity that subvert any approach based on stereotypes Combining American Studies Canadian Studies Latin American Studies and Cultural Theory Breinig relies on long scholarly experience to answer these and other questions Hemispheric Imaginations an ambitious interdisciplinary study of literary representations of Latin America as encounters with the other is among the most extensive such studies to date It will appeal to a broad range of scholars of American Studies

Willa Cather's Modernism Jo Ann Middleton, 1990 Willa Cather's Modernism challenges the assumption that Cather was an old fashioned exponent of styles of fiction demonstrating instead that Cather was clearly aware of the experimentation within the modernist movement Illustrative chapters deal with three central novels A Lost Lady The Professor's House and My Mortal Enemy

Poetry and Science Walter A. Koch, 1983

At the Margins of the Renaissance Giancarlo Maiorino, 2010-11-01 Examines one of the first Renaissance novels to feature an ordinary man not a nobleman or ancient hero as the main character

Irony in Mark's Gospel Jerry Camery-Hoggatt, 2005-10-06 The author of this lucid and interdisciplinary study of Mark's Gospel believes that when applied to Gospel texts sociological analysis and literary criticism may be far closer together in purpose and intent than is often supposed Professor Camery Hoggatt therefore begins his work with an exploration of the social functions of narrative in general and of ironic narrative in particular He then turns to the literary functions of the internal elements of the narrative and draws the two discussions together into a single framework that can be used as a lens through which Mark's Gospel can be read The author's claim is that irony especially dramatic irony thoroughly permeates the Gospel and that this evinces a rhetorical strategy central to Mark's whole narrative The second half of the book shows that the presence of irony is especially powerful when the deeper level of meaning is somehow hidden from the story's characters

Tense and Narrativity Suzanne Fleischman, 2010-07-22 In this pathfinding study Suzanne Fleischman brings together theory and methodology from various quarters to shed important new light on the linguistic structure of narrative a primary and universal device for translating our experiences into language Fleischman sees linguistics as laying the foundation for all narratological study since it offers insight into how narratives are constructed in their most primary context everyday speech She uses a linguistic model designed for natural narrative to explicate the organizational structure of artificial narrative texts primarily from the Middle Ages and the postmodern period whose seemingly idiosyncratic use of tenses has long perplexed those who study them Fleischman develops a functional theory of tense and aspect in narrative that accounts for the wide variety of functions pragmatic as well as grammatical that these two categories of grammar are called upon to perform in the linguistic economy of a narration

Truthfulness and Tragedy Stanley Hauerwas, 2025-02-15 In Truthfulness and Tragedy Stanley Hauerwas provides an account of moral existence and ethical rationality that shows how Christian convictions operate or should operate to form and direct lives In attempting to conceptualize the basis of Christian ethics in a manner that will render Christian convictions morally intelligible the author casts fresh light on traditional theoretical issues and articulates the distinctive Christian response to contemporary concerns such as suicide medical ethics and child care The first section of the book deals with methodological issues the meaning and nature of practical reason obligation claims natural law and self deception and the affinity of story and ethics It focuses on the relation of truthfulness and tragedy and the need for a story a set of religious convictions or grammar of theology that does justice to the tragic character of human existence The second section addresses substantive issues suicide euthanasia and the value of survival the moral limits of population growth the definition of person for medical reasons and social involvement and Christian ethics The overall theme is the need for a community in which truthfulness is a way of life In the final section devoted to the problem of how to care for disabled children the implications of the author's ethical position are given concrete expression He discusses the assumptions underlying the willingness to have children criteria for humanness medical ethics and how truthful communities deal with suffering In Truthfulness and Tragedy Stanley Hauerwas extends and clarifies the ethical position set forth in his earlier books Character and the Christian Life and Vision and Virtue

William Faulkner, Letters & Fictions James G. Watson, 2014-09-10 Besides the groundbreaking novels and stories that brought him fame William Faulkner throughout his life wrote letters to his publisher his lovers his family and his friends In this first major study of epistolarity in Faulkner's work James G Watson examines Faulkner's personal correspondence as a unique second canon of writing separate from his literary canon with its many fictional letters but developing along parallel lines By describing the similarity of forms and conventions in Faulkner's personal and fictional correspondence Watson clearly demonstrates that Faulkner's personal experience as a writer of letters significantly shaped his imaginative work early and late Letters are always about themselves they re create a world between the sender and the receiver In this illuminating study Faulkner's personal letters are treated as a form of reflexive writing first person narratives in which Sender self consciously portrays Self to a specific Receiver likewise portrayed in the letter text This duality of actual experience and imaginative re creation measures the personal distances between the life of the writer and the written self image It reveals that letters are at once fragments of autobiography and fictions of self Such laws of letters apply equally to the letters that appear throughout Faulkner's novels and stories The twenty one letters and telegrams in The Sound and the Fury for example portray character propel plot and convey important themes of failed communication and broken identity From Soldiers Pay to his last work Faulkner's carefully lettered canon of fiction is dramatic evidence of his understanding of epistolarity and of the extent to which he adapted letters including some of his own to shape his fictional world Obscurity's Myriad Components R. Rio-Jelliffe, 2001 On that paradoxical premise Faulkner's theory addresses the writer's dilemma of having only the inadequate word to surmount itself and the practice in fiction seeks to vanquish the enemy not in the wordless as it is often denoted but in silence past the word BOOK JACKET

The Idea of the Book in the Middle Ages Jesse Gellrich, 2019-03-15 This book assess the relationship of literature to various other cultural forms in the Middle Ages Jesse M Gellrich uses the insights of such thinkers as Levi Strauss Foucault Barthes and Derrida to explore the continuity of medieval ideas about speaking writing and texts Time and the Novel Patricia Drechsel Tobin, 2015-03-08 Formalist criticism of the modern novel has concentrated on its spatial aspects Patricia Tobin focuses instead on the modern novel's temporal structure She notes that the genealogical imperative that dominated the nineteenth century novel in which one event gave birth to another has broken down in the twentieth century novels she studies Further she draws parallels between this collapse of linear narrative and the current challenge to linearity from many other areas of modern thought Beginning with Mann's Buddenbrooks as a family chronicle novel that fully embodies the classical genealogical structure the author extends her analysis to include distortions of the linear perspective in Lawrence's The Rainbow Faulkner's Absalom Absalom Nabokov's Invitation to a Beheading and Marquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude She finds that in these novels about family relationships the continuity of time family and story has dissolved so that past present and future have lost their distinctions sins against the dynastic family are not only recognized but celebrated and literary and existential meanings are suspended in unlikely juxtapositions irrational metamorphoses and proliferating possibilities Professor Tobin suggests that the disappearance of the genealogical imperative in the contemporary world's sense of reality may account for much of what appears to be anonymous peripheral and excessive in post modern fiction Originally published in 1979 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1976 Critical Essays on Chinese Fiction Winston L. Y. Yang, Curtis P. Adkins, 1980
