

The background of the entire image is a traditional Japanese ink wash painting (suiboku-ga) depicting a serene forest scene. A stream flows from the upper left towards the lower right, its surface broken by several large, dark, moss-covered rocks. The water is rendered with fine, white, swirling lines, suggesting movement and the sound of flowing water. The banks of the stream are densely covered with trees and foliage, which are painted in various shades of yellow and gold, indicating the autumn season. The brushwork is delicate and expressive, capturing the texture of the leaves and the ruggedness of the rocks. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and contemplative, typical of Edo-period landscape art.
