Annual Review Of Anthropology Vol 11 198:

Annual Review of Public Health, 1983 The Anthropology of Security Mark Maguire, Catarina Frois, Nils Zurawski, 2014-07-20 In a post Cold War world of political unease and economic crisis processes of securitisation are transforming nation states their citizens and non citizens in profound ways The book shows how contemporary Europe is now home to a vast security industry which uses biometric identification systems CCTV and quasi military techniques to police migrants and disadvantaged neighbourhoods This is the first collection of anthropological studies of security with a particular but not exclusive emphasis on Europe The Anthropology of Security draws together studies on the lived experiences of security and policing from the perspective of those most affected in their everyday lives The anthropological perspectives in this volume stretch from the frontlines of policing and counter terrorism to border control Annual Review of Gerontology and Geriatrics, Volume 27, 2007 Leonard W. Poon, Thomas T. Perls, 2007-12-12 Though exceptional human longevity has captured the imagination for millennia it has been only in the past fifteen years or so that some of the secrets to very long lives are finally giving way to scientific inquiry Written by an international group of experts this year's review first considers the methodological and design dilemmas faced in conducting centenarian research It then offers guidance in locating literature and data sources for primary and secondary information on centenarians and the oldest old This section includes a list of the world's oldest persons and discusses the difficulties in compiling such a list The remainder of the review is divided in three sections the biology and genetics of longevity the behavioral and social predictors of longevity and methodological issues in qualitative and anthropologic approaches and the study of the very oldest old supercentenarians or those who live to 110 years or more Data is drawn from studies undertaken among populations in diverse parts of the world

An Ethnography of Cosmopolitanism in Kingston, Jamaica Huon Wardle, 2000 The author draws a parallel between Jamaican understandings of the self and the late philosophy of Immanuel Kant The ethnographic material presented here derived from two years fieldwork in Kingston suggest that Jamaicans understand themselves as global citizens This sense of self can be identified across multiple contexts oral performance music kinship and friendship economics and politics In light of Jamaican cultural experience the book argues for a reframing of ethnographic practice as an explicitly cosmopolitan cultural practice BOOK JACKET The Elephant Has Two Sets of Teeth Alice Neikirk, 2023-12-01 This ethnography follows Bhutanese refugees who fled Bhutan resided in camps in Nepal and finally settled in the vastly different culture of Australia Along the way they learn the ways that humanitarian compassion is used to oppress contain and erode human rights They also learn however that this charitable framework has small cracks that allow for action The Bhutanese find ways to move between the contradictory expectations of refugee ness as they strive to become citizens Their experiences illustrate the complex strands of power that intertwine to limit the scope of people who deserve compassion Neikirk also describes how responses to refugee crises have shifted from facilitating the movement of people to enforcing their containment Readers in
