Asian Perspectives On International Security:

Asian Perspectives on International Security Donald Hugh McMillen, 1984-06-18 Southeast Asian Perspectives on Security Derek Da Cunha, 2000 The conventional understanding of strategic issues in the modern world has been very much a Western driven phenomenon That is to say Western strategists thinkers and writers have tended to establish the principles of strategic concepts and to develop theories around them While there is utility in much Western strategic thought it is also apt to note that some of it does not have full relevance or validity when applied to a regional setting that is far removed from the geographical boundaries of the Western world In that connection this volume is partly intended to serve as an antidote to much of the Western commentary on Asia Pacific security issues by providing a range of perspectives on those issues from the Southeast Asian point of view It offers a range of Southeast Asian perspectives on the multifaceted security issues that confront the Asia Pacific region in the post Cold War era That there is no unitary perspective emanating from the region is symptomatic of the very fluid geopolitical situation that characterizes Asia Pacific security and of equal import the different schools of thought that analysts in the region have chosen to subscribe to Nuclear Weapons and International Security Ramesh Thakur, 2015-02-11 This volume brings together more than three decades of research and writings by Professor Ramesh Thakur on the challenges posed by nuclear weapons Following an introduction to the current nuclear state of play the book addresses the challenge of nuclear weapons in three parts Part I describes the scholar practitioner interface in trying to come to grips with this challenge the main policy impact on security strategy and the various future nuclear scenarios Part II addresses regional nuclear challenges from the South Pacific to East South and West Asia and thereby highlights serious deficiencies in the normative architecture of the nuclear arms control and disarmament regime In the third and final part the chapters discuss regional nuclear weapon free zones NPT anomalies and their implications for the future of the nuclear arms control regime and finally assess the global governance architecture of nuclear security in light of the three Nuclear Security Summits between 2010 and 2014 The concluding chapter argues for moving towards a world of progressively reduced nuclear weapons in numbers reduced salience of nuclear weapons in national security doctrines and deployments and ultimately a denuclearized world This book will be of much interest to students of nuclear proliferation global governance international organisations diplomacy and security studies Conference on Asian Perspectives on International Security 11-14 April, 1983, 1983 Strategising Energy: An Asian Perspective, 2014-01-15 As energy has become one of the crucial factors in ensuring the economic growth and the sustainable development of people nations societies and ultimately human civilisation in the 21st century global scenario there is a pressing need for treating energy as a strategic commodity and for analysing national regional and global strategies concerning energy This is an attempt to debate and discuss various facets economic technological and political of such strategies and at the same time to encompass concepts like energy security and energy diplomacy that form significant components of such strategies Strategising of energy is an issue that is inextricably linked with the domestic and foreign policies of a nation or a region and it is characteristically futuristic as strategies are supposed to be made with a long term perspective Contemporary Asian realities serve as the perspective of such an analysis for several reasons Asia is the home of two fast growing and energy thirsty countries like China and India as well as Japan and the ASEAN countries There are at least three energy producing regions in Asia that are crucial for global energy security like West Asia the traditional one two upcoming regions of Central Asia and the area around South China Sea The Indian Ocean is one of the most important energy transit routes for international energy transport Even the smallest disruption in the production and transport chain of energy within Asia has the potential of upsetting the global energy balance This volume attempts to focus on a number of significant issues concerning the theme of strategising of energy Contributors analyse debate and discuss the questions from different viewpoints and different angles Thus this volume represents a wide spectrum of views from a scientist s vision of a world with cleaner energy to the strategist s comments on solutions to national energy issues from journalists views on the development of governmental policies on energy to academicians analyses of regional energy strategies and from historians analyses of the restructuring of the national energy infrastructure and the re prioritising of national energy strategies to debates on national regional as well as maritime energy strategies by specialists on international relations

International Security in the Asia-Pacific Alan Chong, 2017-09-13 This volume argues that international security in the Asia Pacific lends itself to contradictory analyses of centrifugal and centripetal trends Transitional polycentrism is intrinsically awkward as a description of the security of states and their populations it implies the loosening of state control and the emergence of newly asserted authority by mixed constellations of intergovernmental organizations and non state actors It implies a competition of agendas threats to the integrity of borders and human security threats such as natural disasters airliner crashes and displacement by man made pollution and food scarcity Conversely polycentrism could also imply a return to a more neo realist oriented international order where great powers ignore ASEAN and steer regional order according to their perceived interests and relative military superiority This book embraces these contradictory trends as a foundation of analysis and accepts that disorder can also be re described from the perspective of studied detachment as polycentric order

Water Resource Conflicts and International Security Dharendra K. Vajpeyi, 2012-01-01 Water Resource Conflicts and International Security A Global Perspective is an edited collection by Dharendra K Vajpeyi which analyzes the increasing global demand for water in economic and social development and the dire need to efficiently manage this vital natural resource particularly in water scarce countries in the Middle East Asia and Africa Several environmental and human induced factors such as urbanization industrialization climate change and agricultural needs have created a near crisis situation in many countries Subsequently there is an increasingly intense competition to utilize available water resources in these most heavily affected regions transboundary rivers lakes and streams which are shared by more than one country pose potential for political conflict armed conflict and in the best of cases cooperation The contributors of Water Resource Conflicts and International Security present ten case studies in seven chapters highlighting the competition between countries in Asia Africa and the Middle East In his conclusion Dhirendra K Vajpeyi suggests several policy measures that governments may implement in order to minimize the potential for conflict

Asian Security in the Age of Globalization Lui Hebron, 2024-05-03 This book examines the security challenges and opportunities that the nation states of Asia confront in an era of globalization With consideration of the increasingly border less nature of international relations via the integrative process of globalization this book explores the emerging threats to regional and national security in Asia It looks beyond traditional military threats analysing non traditional aspects of security including economic social environmental transnational energy health concerns and threats posed by organized crime groups Its approach is organized both theoretically and in a country specific case study form which provides contemporary examples of the threats faced in the region By acknowledging that contemporary Asian security has become much more complex and complicated it highlights the uncertainty and instability that the nation states of the Indo Pacific region confront Presenting both a globally oriented and expanded vision of Asian security this book is an excellent resource for scholars and students of Asian Studies International Relations and Global Studies

Human Security in East Asia Sorpong Peou, 2008-11-19 This book explores human security in East Asia focusing especially on the challenges of coordination and collaboration among actors involved in securing and promoting human security It includes detailed case studies of military interventions in East Asia including East Timor and also non military interventions including international criminal justice in Cambodia

Non-Traditional Security in Asia Mely Caballero-Anthony, Alistair D.B. Cook, 2013 Non Traditional Security in Asia examines the critical security challenges faced by states and societies in Asia including health food water natural disasters internal conflict forced migration energy transnational crime and cyber security Through the development of a comprehensive analytical framework that establishes the key ingredients to policy evaluation the editors draw on a wide variety of experts to collaborate in investigating these crucial issues This inclusive framework ensures that all voices are heard including those oftentimes under represented and marginalized in society to ensure that academic and policy debates are well informed about the often complex and nuanced nature of these non traditional security challenges Through an investigation into these specific non traditional security threats Non Traditional Security in Asia documents and evaluates many of the most pressing challenges faced by Asia today The authors analyse the ways in which particular issues are addressed by the many stakeholders involved in the policy making process both within governments and across societies The question of how these challenges are addressed across and between the different levels of global governance highlights the strengths and weakness that are directly attributable to policy successes and failures It is through this layered and comprehensive approach together with an evaluation of the role of stakeholders which binds together the chapter contributions to this collection The book undertakes an issue specific chapter study of how Asian states and societies address these non traditional security concerns from environmental adaptation and mitigation measures to conflict resolution For each issue area it identifies and explains the concerns of various policy communities identifying the motivations behind some of the key decisions made to affect change or stabilize the status quo Essentially it questions not only what a security issue is but also for whom the issue is important and the interaction this has with policy outcomes With a focus on regional and global institutions as well as national and local ones this collection illustrates the variety of stakeholders involved in non traditional security concerns and reflects on their relative importance in the decision making process Through a systematic evaluation of these non traditional security issues by employing a comprehensive analytical framework critical appreciation of the dynamics of the policy making process surrounding issues of crucial national regional and international significance in Asia are made As a result of sharing these insights the contributors provide the tools as well as a selection of issue specific stakeholders to illuminate the key but complex characteristics of non traditional security in Asia Asian Perspective

,2005 Journal of international development UN Peace Operations and Asian Security Mely Cabellero-Anthony,Amitav Acharya,2005-09-27 This is an unparalleled analysis of the state of the United Nations peace operations and their impact on Asian security This new volume examines new strategies being adopted by the UN including doctrinal shifts in peace operation and assesses the division of labour between the UN regional organisation and non governmental organisations actors Based on selected papers from mostly Asian scholars the book offers regional perspectives from South Southeast and Northeast Asia on the changing nature of UN Peace operations and analyses some of the core issues that are of critical relevance to regional security in Asia In addition it reveals interesting new insights on the new players in the area of peace operations i e China and Japan and considers their projected roles as defined by their respective security concepts It also delves into issues of possible areas of concern caused by the new activism of these regional powers in peace operations Finally the book also revisits the significant lessons learnt from the UN experience in Cambodia and East Timor and examines their impact on future directions of peace operations This book was previously published as a special issue of the leading journal International Peacekeeping Rethinking Security in East Asia J. J. Suh,Peter J. Katzenstein,Allen Carlson,2004 Is East Asia heading towards war This text makes a case for a new theoretical approach called analytical eclecticism by the authors to the study of Asian security Security Politics in the Asia-Pacific William T. Tow,2009-10-15 Asia is experiencing major changes in its security relations This book brings together respected experts to assess both the theoretical and empirical dimensions of the Asian security debate Building on the latest research on Asia s regional security politics it focuses on the regional global nexus as a way to understand the dynamics of Asian security politics and its intersection with global security Contributors to the volume offer diverse but complementary perspectives on which issues and factors are most important in explaining how security politics in Asia can be interpreted at both the regional and global levels of analysis Issues addressed include power balancing and alliances governance and democracy maritime and energy security the relationship between economics and security human security terrorism nuclear non proliferation climate change and pandemics This work will serve as a standard reference on the evolution of key issues in Asian security China, Japan and Regional Leadership in East Asia Christopher M. Dent, 2010-01-01 China Japan and Regional Leadership in East Asia is a compilation which provides a necessary and welcome update to the Asian regionalism debates of the last decade bringing together notable experts in Asian area studies and comparative foreign policy to provide many new insights essential reading both for practitioners of Asian studies and those concerned with the role of comparative regionalism in modern international relations Marc Lanteigne East Asia An International Quarterly this book is strongly recommended reading for everyone interested in Japan China relations leadership and East Asia It proves that looking at complex issues from a variety of angles does bring a much deeper understanding I thoroughly enjoyed it Marie S derberg Journal of Japanese Studies This book addresses one of the most intriguing but also under researched issues of the future of the Asian strategic landscape who will lead the region and replace US leadership Japan and China and what kind of leadership do we have to expect The authors come to the conclusion that it is a matrix or combination of leadership options rather than a single leadership type depending on issue domains governance structure and geospatial scales The conclusions by Christopher Dent admirably draw the theoretical and empirical issues together Reinhard Drifte Pacific Affairs This book considers themes evidence and ideas relating to the prospects for regional leadership in East Asia with particular reference to China and Japan assuming regional leader actor roles Key issues discussed by the list of distinguished contributors include the extent to which there is an East Asian region to lead China Japan relations different aspects of Japan and China s positions in the East Asia region how the seemingly inexorable rise of China is being addressed within the region how China and Japan have explored paths of regional leadership through certain regional and multilateral organisations and frameworks the position of certain intermediary powers i e the United States and Korea with regards to regional leadership diplomacy in East Asia Invaluably the concluding chapter brings together the main findings of the book and presents new analytical approaches for studying the nature of and prospects for leadership in East Asia China Japan and Regional Leadership in East Asia will be essential reading for upper level undergraduate and postgraduate students and researchers of international relations regional studies international political economy and economics as well as Asian and development studies

International Security in the Southeast Asian and Southwest Pacific Region Thomas Bruce Millar, 1983

Uncertainty, Threat, and International Security Ivan Savic, Zachary C. Shirkey, 2017-04-21 The rise of China is changing the strategic landscape globally and regionally How states respond to potential threats posed by this new power arrangement will be crucial to international relations for the coming decades This book builds on existing realist and rationalist concepts of balancing bandwagoning commitment problems and asymmetric information to craft explanations about how states respond when faced with potential threats Specifically the book explores the role different types of uncertainty play in potential balancing situations Particular focus is given to the nature of the rising state s actions the balance of forces and the value of delay These concepts are analysed and illustrated through a series of case studies on Europe in the 1930s as well as the present day Southeast Asia looking at great powers such as Britain and France but also a wide range of smaller powers including Poland Yugoslavia Vietnam and the Philippines Parameters ,1984 Handbook of Asian Security Studies

Sumit Ganguly,Andrew Scobell,Joseph Liow,2009 The Rise of China and International Security Kevin J. Cooney,Yoichiro Sato,2008-08-29 This comprehensive volume fills a gap in the existing literature by focusing on the responses of other East Asian states to China s rise exploring its implications for the region and beyond
