of the region in a great state of flux for the past two centuries it is impossible to find consistency in the naming process Confucius had stressed that correct names make for the best relationships In this case Professor Leo Suryadinata has been pursuing for decades the elusive goal of finding the right name to give to the large numbers of people who have in one way or another made their homes in or made some difference to Southeast Asia I believe that when he and his colleagues selected the biographies to be included here they have taken a big step towards the rectification of identities for many leading personalities In so doing he has done us all a great service Professor Wang Gungwu National University of Singapore

China and Japan and neglect Korea and Vietnam Essentially 20th century East Asia is re written into the past as though China and Japan was always the core of East Asian development This is not at all how East Asia developed Chinese prehistoric cultures became historic in the 18th century B C Japan was not part of East Asia for over 2300 more years By studying periods of Chinese unity and disunity and their effects on Chinas neighbors Korea and Vietnam a distinct culture zone East Asia gradually emerged and slowly included Japan The main elements of East Asiacultural social political philosophical religious and linguistic were derived from China but the others were not minor replicas of China Each was unique its people ethnically distinct from China and each other its native language and linguistic blend with Chinese also unique Korea and Vietnam resisted Chinese colonization but adopted and adapted advance Chinese elements to their own needs Emerging later Japan underwent wholesale adoption of Tang Chinas advances replicated in the 19th century when Japan was the first East Asian country to modernize Spanning some thirty eight centuries from the 18th century B C to 2012 A D this diversity with common elements derived from China is a major theme of this work It is often overlooked by those who prefer general views based on surface impressions to more complex realities The former often lead to mistakes the latter become the basis for more sound understanding After all these four countries and people share the eastern end of the Eurasian continent yet each countrys geographic situation is also unique As the twenty first century continues to unfold this new approach to East Asia should help to produce clearer and more accurate understanding of this important world region

Science and National Consciousness in Bengal J. Lourdasamy, 2004 This book gives a flavour of the Indian response to modern science by analysing the lives and careers of four scientifically influential personalities in Bengal His analysis of the careers of two scientists J C Bose and P C Ray and two institution builders Mahendralal Sircar and Asutosh Mookerjee brings to light the issues related to science at a time of colonialism and nationalism Scientists often had to depend on British institutions for legitimation and funding while also supporting the nationalist cause for greater autonomy One of the central claims of this book is that the protagonists aimed to contribute to a modern world science one based on a strong sense of universalism They did not aim to construct any alternative sciences though they did express and apply their work by drawing on their cultural heritage This makes Science and National Consciousness a work of particular relevance today when a homogenous instrumentalist and totally Western conception of science is being globally accepted
