Classification of Transition Economies

Using the parameters of population, economic strength, degree of economic liberalization, and general xenophobic temperaments, Tietz (1994) has divided Eastern and Central Europe in three groups (Table 8.1).

Tietz recommended that Yugoslavia's fragmentation into various republics required to be considered separately, due to their involvement in the civil war there during the 1990s. The above grouping could be a good starting point for the classification of the transition economies. Tietz's grouping was based mainly on analysis from the early 1990s, when transformation processes toward market economies had just started. The situation has changed afterward and the rate of success in adjusting to market economy has been different among the transition countries. After the fall of communism, the whole transition area faced setbacks in income, growth, and employment; however, some countries succeeded in

The Economics of Transformation Alfred

Schipke, Alan M. Taylor, 2012-12-06 Janos Kornai The collapse of the socialist system in eastern Europe and the Soviet Union is one of the major events of this century perhaps the most important of all The transformation now taking place is without any precedent in history The original development of capitalism was a process that lasted for centuries The almost total liquidation of capitalism in the countries ruled by communist parties took place in historical terms in a very short period of time but it was carried out by force and repressive methods The transformation which has now begun is diverting these countries back onto the path of capitalist development and the hope is that the process will take place much faster than the original emergence of capitalism And another hope can be expressed that the governments of these countries will not resort during the process to the arsenal of political violence and repression in order to speed it up Although the post socialist transformation is a historically unique phenomenon some components and features of it show a similarity with other processes or events that took place under other circumstances Other empires before the Soviet empire collapsed The political structures of other countries took the path from dictatorship to democracy Under other conditions state assets have been privatized inflation has been curbed foreign capital has flowed in new oligopolies have formed and so on The uniqueness lies in the new specific configuration of these component processes and many other phenomena Economic Opening Up and Growth in Russia Evgeny Gavrilencov, Paul J.J. Welfens, Ralf Wiegert, 2013-03-19 After a decade of sharp economic decline Russia switched to an impressive period of economic growth Yet the economic record is still mixed and many key problems remain unresolved both in the economic sphere and the political system The focus is on economic dynamics in Russia reasons for its hesitant opening up process as well as the special role of the natural resources sector which is expected to continue to grow This analysis highlights the existing deficiencies of the Russian economic system and raises doubts about the sustainability of growth Twin focus is on required reforms and endogenous forces that impair liberalizing trade and investment in an orderly way Russian discussions on WTO and other international topics are reflected Encyclopedia of International Political Economy R. J. Barry Jones, 2002-09-11 This three volume Encyclopedia offers the first comprehensive and authoritative survey of the rapidly developing field of international political economy Its entries cover the major theoretical issues and analytical approaches within the field The set also provides detailed discussion of the contributions of key individuals and surveys a wide range of empirical conditions and developments within the global political economy including its major institutions The Encyclopedia has been designed to be eclectic in approach and wide ranging in coverage Theoretical entries range from discussions of the definition and scope of the field through core methodological questions such as rationalism and the structure agent problem to surveys of the major theories and approaches employed in the study of the international political economy Ukraine on the Road to Europe Lutz Hoffmann, Felicitas

Möllers, 2012-12-06 by Viktor A Yushchenko Prime Minister of Ukraine The intensification of the integration processes on our continent entirely coincides with the national interests of Ukraine a country which is undoubtedly European both geographically and politically What kind of Europe do we now have and what should it be in the future What should the role of Ukrainian society be in the economic social and cultural integration of the countries on the European continent These questions are the subject of research and scientific analysis by the well known economists whose work is contained in this book Let there be no doubt the strategic goal of Ukraine's foreign policy is the active participation of our country in the European integration process Thus the move toward co operation and gradual integration with the European Union was defined as one of the main priorities of the Ukrainian Government's programme Reforms for Well being which is based on President Leonid Kuchma's speech Ukraine Steps into XXI century and was approved by the Ukrainian Parliament This move is not a hasty response to a new trend but rather a pragmatic decision since the EU will define the face of Europe for the next century Systemic Transformation, Trade and Economic Growth Natalja von Westernhagen, 2012-12-06 Since the late

1980s and the beginning of the 1990s the Commonwealth of Independent States CIS and Central and Eastern European Countries CEECs have been involved in the transition process This book compares the progress of some of these economies in transition and analyses their growth potential The focus lies on the special role that foreign trade liberalisation and foreign direct investment plays in economic growth Since foreign trade and foreign direct investment are important channels of technology transfer they can substantially contribute to a higher level of economic growth Based on the gravity model this book investigates potential in foreign trade and foreign direct investment for selected CIS and CEECs with developed OECD economies Policy options for some of these countries are discussed including issues of foreign trade foreign direct investment structural adjustment and economic growth Markets and Organization Richard Arena, Christian Longhi, 2012-12-06

Market economy has become today the predominant economic system in the world One of the tasks of the book is to define analytically the essential features of a market economy The other purpose is to investigate the very working of a market economy which rests on firms defined as organizations and markets seen as institutions It also supposes a renewed conception of cooperation and competition The book will permit the reader to acquire a fresh view on market economies stressing simultaneously their unity and diversity It will also interest specialists of microeconomics as well as industrial organization economics of technology and institutional economics
