Black Resistance in High School R. Patrick Solomon, 1992-03-16 This book investigates and brings into focus the formidable issues of racial culture left undeveloped in research on multiracial school populations in the United States Britain and Canada Through ethnographic research the author presents significant and provocative insight into the formation of black self concept and captures the complex interplay between black students accommodation to the official achievement ideology and their resistance to the powerful structural forces operating within the school It offers practical suggestions for working constructively with racial and ethnic subcultures as well as offering suggestions to school districts in the process of planning or implementing race and ethnic relations policies

Sailing Against the Wind Kofi Lomotey, 1997-01-01 Experienced American educators discuss the impact of social inequalities created by racism and sexism on the U S educational system

Professionalization, Partnership, and Power Hugh G. Petrie, 1995-08-31 The concept of professional development schools PDS has recently emerged as one of the most exciting possibilities for systematic educational reform These teaching hospitals of the education profession typically are real schools in a district that take on with a cooperating institution of higher education special responsibilities for inquiry and professional preparation Although still in their infancy PDSs as places for professional preparation and of inquiry into teaching learning and teacher education have major policy potential

Mixed Race Students in College Kristen A. Renn, 2012-02-01 It s kind of an odd thing really because it s not like I m one or the other or like I fit here or there but I kind of also fit everywhere And nowhere All at once You know Florence My racial identity I would have to say is multiracial I am of the future I believe there is going to come a day when a very very large majority of everybody in the world is going to be mixed with more than one race It s going to be multiracial for everybody Everybody and their mother Jack Kristen A Renn offers a new perspective on racial identity in the United States that of mixed race college students making sense of the paradox of deconstructing racial categories while living on campuses sharply divided by race and ethnicity Focusing on how peer culture shapes identity in public and private spaces the book presents the findings of a qualitative research study involving fifty six undergraduates from a variety of institutions Renn uses an innovative ecology model to examine campus peer cultures and documents five patterns of multiracial identity that illustrate possibilities for integrating notions of identity construction and deconstruction with the highly salient nature of race in higher education One of the most ambitious scholarly attempts to date to portray the diverse experiences and identities of mixed race college students the book also discusses implications for higher education practice policy theory and research
