Black Sons to Mothers M. Christopher Brown, James Earl Davis, 2000 Black Sons to Mothers is the critical site where African American male scholars explore the meanings and connections of the lives of black boys men This book offers literary scholarly and personal space to interrogate the seemingly elusive intersection of race and gender Each chapter in the book is offered in one of two voices one that speaks to teachers as cultural workers and one that represents individual transformation into the cultural space of mothering This book s intent is to both question black men s constructions as sons cultural offspring and to engage in the project of representing mothering as cultural work and specifically the role of black men in this work Because the discourse on the role performance of black boys men is steeped in the hegemonic rhetoric of traditional constructions of masculinity that discourse fails to sensibly represent and elaborate on the diversity and complexity of their lives and relations particularly in the academic enterprise As such Black Sons to Mothers attempts to recontextualize the discourse surrounding the cultural places where the identities of black boys men are shaped and explores how the politics and constructions of manhood are informed and enforced in school settings In Black Sons to Mothers the research subject of extrapolation is the oppressed and or marginalized group In opposition to deficit model inquiry the research on white males is not being applied to black boys men but the research on black boys men is being applied to all students The black male student is at the center of a discourse that is not about a pathology dysfunction at riskness or special education This book s discourse is epigenetic in that it advances a more complex understanding of schooling and cultural work This understanding is not solely about black boys men but about the cornerstone of cultural work un learning

African American Males and Education T. Elon Dancy II, M. Christopher Brown, 2012-10-01 African American Males in Education Researching the Convergence of Race and Identity addresses a number of research gaps This book emerges at a time when new social dynamics of race and other identities are shaping but also shaped by education Educational settings consistently perpetuate racial and other forms of privilege among students personnel and other participants in education For instance differential access to social networks still visibly cluster by race continuing the work of systemic privilege by promoting outcome inequalities in education and society The issues defining the relationship between African American males and education remain complex Although there has been substantial discussion about the plight of African American male participants and personnel in education only modest attempts have been made to center analysis of identity and identity intersections in the discourse Additionally more attention to African American male teachers and faculty is needed in light of their unique cultural experiences in educational settings and expectations to mentor and or socialize other African Americans particularly males

Mentoring African American Males Dr. William Ross, 2014-09-01

Mentoring African American Males provides important black male research and student performance data to guide the efforts of those who accept the enormous task of standing in the gap to increase black male achievement Dr Ross provides guidance for individuals and institutions embracing the important role of developing mentoring programs or serving as a mentor to youth However what makes Dr Ross work such a critically important book for any individual or institution considering such a role is its insight into the social cultural framework within which mentoring must occur at every level from elementary school through college Equally insightful is the structure that such programs must take in response to the socio cultural constructs of the families communities and institutions where they will occur There are far more quantitative studies than qualitative on the topic of mentoring This text addresses that discrepancy and provides the results of several qualitative studies on African American males There is hardly any that offer a mixed method perspective that combine quantitative and qualitative methodological approaches This text reports on the research results that are qualitative in nature in addition to some that are from a quantitative and mixed method approach

Black Males Matter Cherrel Miller Dyce, Julius Davis, Shadonna Gunn, 2021-04-01 A major premise of the book is that teachers school leaders and school support staff are not taught how to create school and classroom environments to support the academic and social success of Black male students The purpose of this book is to help champion a paradigmatic shift in educating Black males This books aims to provide an asset and solution based framework that connects the educational system with community cultural wealth and educational outcomes The text will be a sourcebook for in service and pre service teachers administrators district leaders and school support staff to utilize in their quest to increase academic and social success for their Black male students Adopting a strengths based epistemological stance this book will provide concerned constituencies with a framework from which to engage and produce success

The State of the African American Male Eboni M. Zamani-Gallaher, Vernon C. Polite, 2012-01-01 The circumstances affecting many African American males in schools and society remain complex and problematic In spite of modest gains in school achievement and graduation rates conditions that impede the progress of African American males persist high rates of school violence and suspensions overrepresentation in special education classes poor access to higher education high incidence of crime and incarceration gender and masculine identity issues and HIV AIDS and other health crises The essays gathered here focus on these issues as they exist for males in grades K 12 and postsecondary education in Michigan However the authors intend their analyses and policy recommendations to apply to African American males nationally Although it recognizes the current difficulties of this population overall this is an optimistic volume with a goal of creating policies and norms that help African American males achieve their educational and social potential In this era of widespread change for all members of American society regardless of race this book is a must read for educators and policymakers alike

The Resegregation of Schools Jamel K. Donnor, Adrienne Dixon, 2013-06-07

Access to a quality education remains the primary mechanism for improving one's life chances in the United States and for children of color a good education is particularly linked to their individual and collective well being Despite the popular perception that America is in a post racial epoch opportunities to access quality learning environments and human development resources remain determined according to race class gender and ability Taking a more nuanced approach to race and the resegregation of the American school system this volume examines how and why the education quality for the majority of students of color in America remains fundamentally unequal
