Britain and Southern Africa who engage with the problem and the solution and who foreground ambiguity in their ambiguously genred texts Olive Schreiner and Doris Leasing highlight the problem as they embrace the threat posed by poor whites while Robert Tressell and Daphne Anderson foreground the solution as they argue for the incorporation of the poor into imperial myths about white homogeneity and upward mobility Based on an historical approach this book explores three premises The first premise is that poor white is a liminal category that it encompasses economic failures and social transgressors The second premise is that Southern African life writing engages with its historical and political moment The third premise is that philanthropy is central to the articulation of the problem and the solution The final concluding chapter reflects upon the re emergence of poor whiteism since the end of Apartheid and the collapse of Zimbabwe and reflects upon the problem of black poverty

KNOWLEDGE OF HIV TRANSMISSION AND SEXUAL BEHAVIOR AMONG ZIMBABWEAN ADOLESCENT FEMALES IN ATLANTA, GEORGIA Dr. Loveness Mabhunu, 2013-10 It is universally agreed that HIV AIDS constitutes one of the most serious threats to human life in our era The immigration of Zimbabwean people into America plays a major role in the socialization of Zimbabwean adolescents Zimbabwean adolescents are exposed to the Western culture of sexual socialization which is different from the African culture The social bonds and traditions that used to shape

Zimbabwean young people's behavior and help them make the transition to adulthood have weakened in the face of migrating to Western countries. The main problem is the transition and loss of cultural identity that affect Zimbabwean adolescents' knowledge of HIV/AIDS transmission and sexual behavior.

Zimbabwean Communities in Britain Christopher Roy Zembe, 2018-05-15. This book examines why Zimbabwean immigrants in Britain should be viewed as a product of ethno-racial identities and prejudices developed and nurtured during the colonial and post-colonial phases of Zimbabwe's history. In the absence of shared historic socio-economic or cultural commonalities, the book will tackle the key question: Are Zimbabweans in Britain demarcated by race and ethnicity an imagined community? Through an analysis of personal interviews and secondary and primary sources, it identifies and engages historical experiences that had been instrumental in constructing diasporic identities and integration processes of Zimbabwean immigrants. With most literature tending to create perceptions that Zimbabwean immigrants are a monolithic community of Blacks, the book's comparative analysis of Blacks, Whites, Coloureds, and Asians unveils a multi-racial community fragmented by historic racial and ethnic allegiances and prejudices. It is essential reading for scholars and researchers interested in migration, African Diaspora, and colonial and post-colonial studies.

Pre-colonial and Post-colonial Drama and Theatre in Africa Lokangaka Losambe, Devi Sarinjeive, 2001. In this collection of essays written from different critical perspectives, African playwrights demonstrate through their art that they are not only witnesses but also consciences of their societies.

Women and Development in Zimbabwe Olivia N. Muchena, 1984.

Manning the Nation. Father Figures in Zimbabwean Literature and Society Kizito Z. Muchemwa, Robert Muponde, 2007. Gender studies in Zimbabwe have tended to focus on women and their comparative disadvantages and under-privilege. Assuming a broader perspective is necessary at a time when society has grown used to arguments rooted in binaries: colonised and coloniser, race and class, sex and gender, poverty and wealth, patriotism and terrorism, etc. The editors of Manning the Nation recognise that concepts of manhood can be used to repress or liberate and will depend on historical and political imperatives; they seek to introduce a more nuanced perspective to the interconnectivity of patriarchy, masculinity, the nation, and its image. The essays in this volume come from well-respected academics working in a variety of fields. The ideals and concepts of manhood are examined as they are reflected in important Zimbabwean literary texts. However, if literature provides a rich vein for the analysis of masculinities, what makes this collection so interesting is the interplay of literary analysis with chapters that provide a critical examination of the ways in which ideals of manhood have been employed, for example, leadership and the nation as a justification for violent engagement in the field of AIDS and HIV, etc. Manning the Nation: Father figures in Zimbabwean literature and society sets the stage for a fresh and engaging discourse essential at a time when new paradigms are needed.
