Pinn, 2010-01-01 What is the nature and purpose of the Black Church What is the relationship of the scholar of religion to the Black Church While black churches have been a major component of the religious landscape of African American communities for centuries little critical attention has been given to these questions outside an apologetic stance This book seeks to correct this trend by examining some of the major issues facing black churches in the twenty first century From a challenge to traditional ways of addressing sexism within black churches to African American Christianity s relationship to popular culture this set of reflections seeks to offer new perspectives on what it might mean to be Black and Christian in the United States Anthony Pinn s volume seeks to critically understand and sympathetically transform the Black Church Carrying on in the tradition of William R Jones Pinn s perspective on the Black Church is suspicious loving critical committed exasperating and exhilarating

One may not always agree with his conclusions but one cannot ignore his penchant for ferreting out the truth This book is a passionate yet balanced argument which must be heard by anyone who is interested in the future of the black church James H Evans JR Robert K Davies Professor of Systematic Theology Colgate Rochester Crozer Divinity School Pinn is required reading in every Black Church Studies department and theological curriculum that seeks self understanding transformation and healing and an indispensable interlocutor in the broader public conversation about the American dilemma and its democratic possibilities Walter Earl Fluker Coca Cola Professor of Leadership Studies Morehouse College Cultural Migrations and Gendered Subjects Silvia Castro-Borrego, Maria Isabel Romero Ruiz, 2011-01-18 The present volume explores through cultural and literary representations the contributions of women to the construction of knowledge in an ever changing global world as migrant subjects The essays contained in this book also focus on the female body as a site of physical violence and abuse fighting prevalent stereotypes about women s representations and identities This collection intends to enter a forum of discussion in which the colonial past serves as a point of reference for the analysis of contemporary issues Women s strategies for building possible identities are seen to be based on their own experiences seeking the ways in which the public marking and marketing of the female body within the western male imaginary contributes to the making of women s social and personal identities The different articles contained in this volume examine issues of gender and boundaries the realities of women as colonial and postcolonial subjects and darker realities such as alienation and discrimination as a result of migration racism and colonization analysed through a variety of critical perspectives The gendered raced classed dimensions and mixed heritages not only of white women but also of women of the African Diaspora these are important issues for the construction of knowledge and identity in our present multicultural societies and can potentially change the ways we conceptualize situate and engage the humanities in our scholarly work and in our social and cultural policies These women their presumed sexuality and their capacity to produce hybrid subjects as well as their supposed irrationality make them a singularly disruptive figure in our contemporary world this interpretation has its roots in the treatment of women in colonial times especially when they were out of the margins of respectable society The volume is addressed to a wide readership both scholarly and those interested in investigating the dynamics of the social and cultural conceptualizations of our multicultural and multiethnic contemporary societies marked by the intercultural exchanges of migratory subjects from a gender perspective How Black Disadvantaged Adolescents Socially Construct Reality Loretta J. Brunious, 1998 In a pilot study applying Berger and Luckmann s social construction of reality framework Brunious Loyola U Chicago elicits perceptions about school popular culture and mass media from 20 Chicago inner city black teens Refuting the still prevalent myth that poor African American youth suffer Women and Migration Deborah Willis, Ellyn Toscano, Kalia Brooks Nelson, 2019-03-08 The essays in this book chart how women s profound and turbulent experiences of migration have been articulated in writing photography art and film As a whole the volume gives an impression of a wide range of migratory events from women's perspectives covering the Caribbean Diaspora refugees and slavery through the various lenses of politics and war love and family The contributors which include academics and artists offer both personal and critical points of view on the artistic and historical repositories of these experiences Selfies motherhood violence and Hollywood all feature in this substantial treasure trove of women's joy and suffering disaster and delight place memory and identity This collection appeals to artists and scholars of the humanities particularly within the social sciences though there is much to recommend it to creatives seeking inspiration or counsel on the issue of migratory experiences Migrating Music Jason Toynbee, Byron Dueck, 2011-03-31 Migrants bring music from the homeland to the metropolis But music also migrates via the media world music hip hop bossa nova With case studies from across the world this ground breaking collection shows how migrating music is key to the construction of a still emerging global cosmopolitan imagination Art of the Twentieth Century Jason Gaiger, Paul Wood, 2004-03-11 This reader a companion to The Open University's four volume Art of the Twentieth Century series offers a variety of writings by art historians and art theorists The writings were originally published as freestanding essays or chapters in books and they reflect the diversity of art historical interpretations and theoretical approaches to twentieth century art Accessible to the general reader this book may be read independently or to supplement the materials explored in the four course texts The volume includes a general introduction as well as a brief introduction to each piece outlining its origin and relevance The Culture and Politics of Contemporary Street Gang Memoirs Josephine Metcalf, 2012-06-22 The publication of Sanyika Shakur's Monster The Autobiography of an L A Gang Member in 1993 generated a huge amount of excitement in literary circles New York Times book critic Michiko Kakutani deemed it a shocking and galvanic book and set off a new publishing trend of gang memoirs in the 1990s The memoirs showcased tales of violent confrontation and territorial belonging but also offered many of the first journalistic and autobiographical accounts of the much mythologized gang subculture In The Culture and Politics of Contemporary Street Gang Memoirs Josephine Metcalf focuses on three of these memoirs Shakur's Monster Luis J Rodriguez's Always Running La Vida Loca Gang Days in L A and Stanley Tookie Williams's Blue Rage Black Redemption as key representatives of the gang autobiography Metcalf examines the conflict among violence thrilling sensationalism and the authorial desire to instruct and warn competing within these works The narrative arcs of the memoirs themselves rest on the process of conversion from brutal young gang bangers to nonviolent enlightened citizens Metcalf analyzes the emergence production marketing and reception of gang memoirs Through interviews with Rodriguez Shakur and Barbara Cottman Becnel Williams's editor Metcalf reveals both the writing and publishing processes This book analyzes key narrative conventions specifically how diction dialogue and narrative arcs shape the works The book also explores how the memoirs are consumed This interdisciplinary study fusing literary criticism sociology ethnography reader response study and editorial theory brings scholarly attention to a popular much discussed but understudied modern expression Other Sisterhoods

Sandra Kumamoto Stanley, 1998 Where are the women writers of color? Where are their theoretical voices? The fifteen contributors to Other Sisterhoods examine how women writers of color have contributed to the discourse of literary and cultural theory. They focus on the impact of key issues such as social construction and identity politics on the works of women writers of color as well as how these women deal with differences relating to gender, class, race, ethnicity, and sexuality. The book also explores the ways women writers of color have created their own ethnopoetics within the arena of literary and cultural theory, helping to redefine the nature of theory itself.

New Voices on the Harlem Renaissance Australia Tarver, Paula C. Barnes, 2006 This book expands the discourse on the Harlem Renaissance into more recent crucial areas for literary scholars, college instructors, graduate students, upper level undergraduates, and Harlem Renaissance aficionados. These selected essays, authored by mostly new critics in Harlem Renaissance studies, address critical discourse in race, cultural studies, feminist studies, identity politics, queer theory, and rhetoric and pedagogy. While some canonical writers are included, such as Langston Hughes and Alain Locke, others such as Dorothy West, Jessie Fauset, and Wallace Thurman have equal footing. Illustrations from several books and journals help demonstrate the vibrancy of this era.

Australia Tarver is Associate Professor of English at Texas Christian University. Paula C. Barnes is an Associate Professor of English at Hampton University.

Audience, Agency and Identity in Black Popular Culture Shawan M. Worsley, 2009-09-10 Shawan M. Worsley analyzes black cultural representations that appropriate anti-black stereotypes. Her examination furthers our understanding of the historical circumstances that are influencing contemporary representations of black subjects that are purposefully derogatory and documents the consequences of these images.

Discussions in Contemporary Culture Hal Foster, 1987 Texts and transcripts from a series of weekly discussions sponsored by the Dia Art Foundation.

Group Harmony Stuart L. Goosman, 2013-07-17 In 1948 the Orioles, a Baltimore-based vocal group, recorded "It's Too Soon to Know." Combining the sound of Tin Pan Alley with gospel and blues sensibilities, the Orioles saw their first hit reach 13 on the pop charts, thus introducing the nation to vocal rhythm. Today, group harmony continues to resonate for some as doo-wop. Focusing in particular on Baltimore and Washington and drawing significantly from oral histories, Group Harmony details the emergence of vocal rhythm. Deborah Chessler, the manager and songwriter for the original Orioles, Jesse Stone, the writer and arranger from Atlantic Records, Washington radio personality Jackson Lowe, and seminal black deejays Al Big Boy, Jefferson Maurice, Hot Rod, Hulbert, and Tex Gathings.

Keepin' It Hushed Vorris L. Nunley, 2011-02-14 Examines the barbershop as a rhetorical site in African American culture across genres including fiction, film, poetry, and theater. In Keepin' It Hushed, The Barbershop and African American Hush Harbor Rhetoric, Vorris L. Nunley investigates the role of the hush harbor, a safe place for free expression among African American speakers, as a productive space of rhetorical tradition and knowledge generation. Nunley identifies the barbershop as an important hush harbor for black males in particular and traces the powerful cultural trope and its hidden tradition of African American knowledge through multiple texts. From Dunbar's We Wear the Mask to the recent Barbershop movies and the provocative rhetoric of Reverend Jeremiah Wright Nunley's study touches on a range of time periods and genres Nunley's introduction connects African American Hush Harbor Rhetoric AAHHR to everyday considerations of what may or may not be spoken in public and how African American speakers manage numerous hidden transcripts In the first three chapters Nunley charts different iterations of hush harbors and their function in the context of residual and emergent rhetorical traditions He investigates public sphere theory and its application and misapplication to black civil society and hush harbors and connects AAHHR to nommo the power of the word In chapters 4 and 5 Nunley examines the ubiquity of the hush harbor trope in African American culture and considers barbershops as pedagogical sites using literature poetry philosophy and film to make his case In chapter 6 he analyzes the Barbershop movie in detail arguing that the movie's commodified neoliberal version of AAHHR did not represent a hush harbor although that was ostensibly the aim Keepin It Hushed concludes with a presentation of a hush harbor pedagogy in chapter 7 and a distinctive analysis of hush harbor oriented speeches by then Senator Obama and Rev Jeremiah Wright Rhetoricians and readers interested in African American life and culture will appreciate the cogent analysis in Nunley's volume

History Films, Women, and Freud's Uncanny Susan E. Linville, 2004-06-01 History films were a highly popular genre in the 1990s as Hollywood looked back at significant and troubling episodes from World War II the Cold War era and the techno war in the Persian Gulf As filmmakers attempted to confront and manage intractable elements of the American past such as the trauma of war and the legacy of racism Susan Linville argues that a surprising casualty occurred the erasure of relevant facets of contemporary women's history In this book Linville offers a sustained critique of the history film and its reduction of women to figures of ambivalence or absence Historicizing and adapting Freud's concept of the uncanny and its relationship to the maternal body as the first home she offers theoretically sophisticated readings of the films Midnight Clear Saving Private Ryan The Thin Red Line Nixon Courage Under Fire Lone Star and Limbo She also demonstrates that the uncanny is not only a source of anxiety but also potentially a progressive force for eroding nostalgic ideals of nation and gender Linville concludes with a close reading of a recent 9/11 documentary showing how the patterns and motifs of 1990s history films informed it and what that means for our future

Amerikanische Populärkultur in Deutschland Heike Paul, Katja Kanzler, 2002

Constructing Social Reality Loretta Brunious, 2017-10-03 This book examines how black children who grow up in an impoverished environment construct their social reality and why this process is a particularly critical factor in their perception and creation of self It argues that black disadvantaged children develop a lifestyle and adopt values based on an identity grounded in racism inequality violence and poverty Constructing Social Reality Self Portraits of poor Black Adolescents makes a valuable contribution to the scholarship by investigating the phenomena of poverty from cognitive linguistic and experiential perspectives in the lives of disadvantaged black adolescents

From Strength to Strength Robert London Smith, 2007 Drawing on his experience as a member of the clergy and the questions and concerns that arose in the course of ministering to congregants Robert London Smith Jr explores exactly what function the black church performs and importantly why In this provocative work he argues that much black church praxis is less authentic relevant and constructive today because it continues to be implicated by certain values and meanings that are themselves rooted in a historical black thematic universe that is fading and being replaced by a new set of values and meanings located within a contemporary black thematic universe Using a practical theology method Smith develops a theological framework context praxis to create an approach to understanding and creating an informed praxis for the black church He then sets forth a bold project that calls for the critical engagement of black church praxis and what he calls the black thematic universe in its historical and contemporary manifestations The goal is to transform this praxis so that it remains authentic to the Gospel and the religious traditions and history of those who come to interpret and live out its message in the world while being relevant to the issues and challenges of the present historical context in which the black church lives out its meaning and purpose and constructive for the building up and equipping of the Body of Christ Smith s creation of a black existential and theological hermeneutic is an approach that moves toward the realization of this ambitious goal This book challenges many traditional views of black church praxis including pastoral care worship and fellowship and creates a space for a renewed and much needed dialogue about the acts of the black church within contemporary America As such it is an important text for students of practical theology and African American religion as well as those interested in developing a critical understanding of the implications of the intersection of faith and culture
