Black Sea In Crisis:

Black Sea In Crisis, The: Symposium Ii - An Encounter Of Beliefs: A Single Objective Sarah Hobson, Laurence David Mee, 1999-01-25 This book is a record of the proceedings of a remarkable symposium that took place on the Black Sea in September 1997. It was held under the auspices of The Ecumenical Patriarch His All Holiness Bartholomew I and His Excellency Mr Jacques Santer President of the European Commission. It was the second in a series of symposia on the theme of Religion Science and the Environment. The first symposium entitled Revelation and the Environment took place on the Aegean Sea in 1995 to celebrate the 1900th anniversary of the Book of the Apocalypse. Over a period of ten days more than 400 distinguished scientists environmentalists religious leaders and policy makers from 35 countries discussed the environmental problems facing the Black Sea a unique environment sadly degraded by the imprint of humankind and causing profound changes in the economy and life style of the 160 million people in the area. The book offers ideas to help restore the environmental balance of this much threatened region. At the same time it looks at the Black Sea as a paradigm for the world's closed sea problems and demonstrates the value and potential of an integrated approach to global environmental stewardship.

Toxic Timescapes Simone M. Müller, May-Brith Ohman Nielsen, 2023-01-17 An interdisciplinary environmental humanities volume that explores human environment relationships on our permanently polluted planet. While toxicity and pollution are ever present in modern daily life politicians juridical systems media outlets scholars and the public alike show great difficulty in detecting defining monitoring or generally coming to terms with them. This volume's contributors argue that the source of this difficulty lies in the struggle to make sense of the intersecting temporal and spatial scales working on the human and more than human body while continuing to acknowledge race class and gender in terms of global environmental justice and social inequality. The term toxic timescapes refers to this intricate intersectionality of time space and bodies in relation to toxic exposure. As a tool of analysis it unpacks linear understandings of time and explores how harmful substances permeate temporal and physical space as both event and process. It equips scholars with new ways of creating data and conceptualizing the past present and future presence and possible effects of harmful substances and provides a theoretical framework for new environmental narratives. To think in terms of toxic timescapes is to radically shift our understanding of toxicants in the complex web of life. Toxicity pollution and modes of exposure are never static therefore dose timing velocity mixture frequency and chronology matter as much as the geographic location and societal position of those exposed. Together these factors create a specific toxic timescape that lies at the heart of each contributor's narrative. Contributors from the disciplines of history human geography science and technology studies philosophy and political ecology come together to demonstrate the complex reality of a toxic existence. Their case studies span the globe as they observe the intersection of multiple times and spaces at such diverse locations as former battlefields in Vietnam aging nuclear weapon storage facilities in Greenland waste deposits in southern Italy chemical facilities along the Gulf of Mexico.

Ocean Law and Policy Carlos Espósito,James Kraska,Harry N. Scheiber,Moon-Sang Kwon,2016-10-11 In the years since 1994 when the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea UNCLOS entered into force the ocean law regime has been profoundly affected by an interplay of new forces in global ocean affairs Numbered among them are innovations in technology and science the emergence of intensified piracy and other challenges to maritime security national and regional programs In Ocean Law and Policy Twenty Years of Development under the UNCLOS Regime experts from fourteen countries present nineteen papers that provide insightful analyses of these wide ranging issues that form the emerging new context of UNCLOS as a keystone to a working regime system Accessible as well as authoritative this volume offers to general readers as well as academics policy officials and legal experts a set of important analyses and provocative insights forming a major contribution to the literature of ocean studies The Russia Sanctions Christine Abely,2023-12-21 Examines the historic sanctions export controls and import restrictions enacted in response to Russia's 2022 invasion of Ukraine Crisis Diplomacy James L. Richardson,1994-09-29 Although much has been written on international crises the literature suffers from a lack of historical depth and a proliferation of competing theoretical frameworks Through case studies drawing on the rich historical experience of crisis diplomacy James Richardson offers an integrated analysis based on a critical assessment of the main theoretical approaches Due weight is given to systemic and structural factors but also to the specific historical factors of each case and to theories which do not presuppose rationality as well as those which do Crisis diplomacy the major political choices made by decision makers and their strategies judgments and misjudgments is found to play a crucial role in each of the case studies This broad historical inquiry is especially timely when the ending of the Cold War has removed the settled parameters within which the superpowers conducted their crisis diplomacy Merchant Crusaders in the Aegean, 1291-1352 Mike Carr,2015 An examination of the changing nature of crusade and its participants in the late medieval Mediterranean The Russia-Ukraine War from an African Perspective Artwell Nhemachena,2023-09-30 In the Russia Ukraine war attention has been focused on the Special Military Operation This book argues that there are many other special operations in various other arenas in the world that deserve equal and urgent attention Connecting special military operations to what it calls special economic operations special cultural operations special technological operations special sexual operations and special political operations the book argues that special operations are not exclusive Also drawing on topical debates about technoscience the book critically examines invasive technologies in relation to bodily autonomy integrity and privacy and it urges scholars and thinkers to compare these invasive technological operations to invasive special military operations The book grapples with the future of humanity in a world where the human is decentred even as the world is witnessing the proliferation of resource wars The book is relevant for scholars in anthropology sociology politics government studies international relations history media studies science and technology studies and disaster management To Rule Eurasia's Waves Geoffrey F. Gresh,2020-10-27 The first book to weave Eurasia together through the perspective of the oceans and seas Eurasia's emerging powers India China and Russia have increasingly embraced their maritime geographies as they have expanded and strengthened their economies military capabilities and global influence Maritime Eurasia a region that facilitates international commerce and contains some of the world's most strategic maritime chokepoints has already caused a shift in the global political economy and challenged the dominance of the Atlantic world and the United States Climate change is set to further affect global politics With meticulous and comprehensive field research Geoffrey Gresh considers how the melting of the Arctic ice cap will create new shipping lanes and exacerbate a contest for the control of Arctic natural resources He explores as well the strategic maritime shifts under way from Europe to the Indian Ocean and Pacific Asia The race for great power status and the earth's changing landscape Gresh shows are rapidly transforming Eurasia and thus creating a new world order
