Black Zodiac:

Southbound Ernest Suarez, T. W. Stanford, Amy Verner, 1999 There s a real flowering I think of southern poetry right now assembling at the edges of everything This observation by Pulitzer Prize winning poet Charles Wright reflects upon the continuing vibrancy and importance of the southern poetic tradition Although the death of James Dickey in 1997 left southern poetry without a recognizably dominant voice an array of other vibrant voices continue to be heard and recognized Southbound Interviews with Southern Poets provides a glimpse of the many poets who promise to keep southern poetry vital into the twenty first century

Understanding Charles Wright Joe Moffett, 2008 In this first book length study of Charles Wright s extensive body of work Joe Moffett offers an introduction to the books and themes that have defined the poet s illustrious career Wright s major work centers around a lengthy self described trilogy of trilogies project in which each volume is a collection of poems stemming from a different trio of books In his study of each segment of the trilogy Moffett finds Wright returning to the distinctive landscape and culture of his native Appalachia in poetic quests for spiritual meaning Moffett concludes with a survey of Wright s three subsequent volumes of poetry as a continuation of the poetic style and dialogue between southern landscapes and divine influences that defined the poet s earlier trilogies

What is a Book? David Kirby, 2002 In What Is a Book David Kirby addresses the making and consuming of literature by redefining the four components of the act of reading writer reader critic and book He discusses his students his work and his practice as a teacher writer critic and reader and positions his theories and opinions as products of real life as much as academic exercise Among the ideas animating the book are Kirby s beliefs that devotion is more important than dissection and practice is more important than theory Covering an impressive range of writers from Emerson Poe and Melville to James Dickey Charles Wright Richard Howard Susan Montez and others Kirby considers the evolution of critical theory from the nineteenth century to the late twentieth and explores the role of criticism in contemporary culture Drawing from his experience writing poetry and reading to children at a local housing project he answers two of his four central questions What is a reader and What is a writer In the largest section of the book What Is a Critic Kirby demonstrates his passionate engagement with the function of the critic in literary culture and offers both overviews and close examinations of literary theory book reviewing and the historical background of criticism from its earliest beginnings In the final section of the book he addresses the question What is a book with an examination of the reading preferences of older readers Kirby s analysis of those responses along with his own notions of the literary canon is an insightful excursion into how books are valued Deeply learned and wonderfully entertaining What Is a Book is a lucid look at the whole of literary culture Kirby makes us think about the books we love and why we love them

Under the Blue Lights David Sheldrake, 2011-06-21 I joined the Essex Ambulance Service on 21 April 1981 at the tender age of twenty one I underwent training at Witham and in the first year completed the driver training and ambulance aid training both of which were conducted at Markfield in Leicestershire When all this training was completed I was ready to undertake emergency calls and as all new students I was indeed very excited but nervous on what I would face dealing with people when they face life changing emergencies I was pleased to be working with David as any new individual needed the experience and guidance of colleagues I can remember sitting in the vehicle outside Southend Hospital when our radio was activated and I was given my first emergency call You hoped for something simple straightforward that would settle the nerves and that would not involve all your new found skills being brought to the fore on the first call I was to be disappointed The call was given as a gas explosion An elderly person was involved My mind raced as to what to expect and more importantly what I would do Dave was great he was calm professional and experienced We set off with Dave driving and me worrying We arrived with the fire service There had been a gas explosion but it was a small gas fire The injuries were not life threatening and we treated my very first 999 call with Dave standing shoulder to shoulder guiding and supporting The patient was conveyed and the emergency call went well I remember this call very vividly as it was my first call and since then thirty years have passed I have gone from that ambulance man to now ensuring we still deliver high quality patient care across Essex as the general manager for this region Over the years I have worked with many new people and that first lesson from Dave paid dividends as that supportive and guiding nature is invaluable to people undertaking this challenging role There were many other occasions I worked with Dave and from that point I have progressed and indeed am extremely grateful for those early formative years
