Blackfeet Crafts:

Blackfeet Crafts John Canfield Ewers, 1945 Native American Owned and Operated Arts and Crafts Businesses United States. Indian Arts and Crafts Board, 1978 The Blackfoot Papers Adolf Hungrywolf, 2006 A series of illustrated books to help preserve the culture and heritage of the four divisions that make up the Blackfoot Confederacy in the United States and Canada Cover A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran, 2022-08-16 As the Great Depression touched every corner of America the New Deal promoted indigenous arts and crafts as a means of bootstrapping Native American peoples But New Deal administrators romanticization of indigenous artists predisposed them to favor pre industrial forms rather than art that responded to contemporary markets In A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran reveals how positioning the native artist as a pre modern Other served the goals of New Deal programs and how this sometimes worked at cross purposes with promoting native self sufficiency She describes federal policies of the 1930s and early 1940s that sought to generate an upscale market for Native American arts and crafts And by unraveling the complex ways in which commodification was negotiated and the roles that producers consumers and New Deal administrators played in that process she sheds new light on native art s commodity status and the artist s position as colonial subject In this first book to address the ways in which New Deal Indian policy specifically advanced commodification and colonization McLerran reviews its multi pronged effort to improve the market for Indian art through the Indian Arts and Crafts Board arts and crafts cooperatives murals museum exhibits and Civilian Conservation Corps projects Presenting nationwide case studies that demonstrate transcultural dynamics of production and reception she argues for viewing Indian art as a commodity as part of the national economy and as part of national political trends and reform efforts McLerran marks the contributions of key individuals from John Collier and Rene d Harnoncourt to Navajo artist Gerald Nailor whose mural in the Navajo Nation Council House conveyed distinctly different messages to outsiders and tribal members Featuring dozens of illustrations A New Deal for Native Art offers a new look at the complexities of folk art revivals as it opens a new window on the Indian New Deal Indian Handcrafts United States. Bureau of Indian Affairs, Blackfeet Crafts John Canfield Ewers, 1945 The Blackfeet United States. Bureau of Indian Affairs, 1966 Sculpture and Crafts by David Dragonfly David Dragonfly, 1994 Iroquois Crafts Carrie Alberta Lyford, 1957 The Blackfeet John C. Ewers, 2012-11-21 The Blackfeet were the strongest military power on the northwestern plains throughout the eighteenth century But the near extinction of buffalo in the late nineteenth century brought dire poverty to the tribe forcing them to rely in part on the U S government for sustenance In this history of the Blackfeet historian John C Ewers relied on his own experience living among the Blackfeet as well as archival research to tell of not only the events that have so drastically affected the Blackfeet way of life but also the ways the Blackfeet have responded adapting and preserving their culture in the face of a changing landscape ACS Service Report , 1996

Blackfoot War Art L. James Dempsey, 2016-01-29 When the Blackfoot Indians were confined to reservations in the late nineteenth century their pictographic representations of warfare kept alive the rituals associated with war which were essential facets of Blackfoot culture Their war ethic served as a unifying force among the four tribes of the Blackfoot nation Siksika Blood and North and South Piegan In this visually stunning survey L James Dempsey a member of the Blood tribe plumbs the breadth and depth of warrior representational art He has mined archival resources and museum collections and interviewed many tribal members to provide a uniquely Native perspective on the importance of warrior art in Blackfoot history and culture Filled with 160 images of startling beauty and power Blackfoot War Art tells how pictographs served as a record of both tribal and personal accomplishment This singular historical record of all available information on Blackfoot warrior pictography depicts painted robes war tepee covers liners and doors and painted panels Dempsey provides descriptions and a great deal of other information about the pieces included here His survey focuses especially on recent paintings that scholars have overlooked In revealing changing trends in the representation of war Dempsey skillfully weaves together pictures people and histories to convey a fascinating view of this warrior art from a Blood perspective

The Blackfeet; Raiders on the Northwestern Plains John Canfield Ewers,1958 The Blackfeet were the strongest military power on the northwestern plains in the historic buffalo days For half a century up to 1805 they were almost constantly at war with the Shoshonis and came very close to exterminating that tribe They aggressively asserted themselves against the Flatheads and the Kutenais shoving them westward across the Rockies They got on fairly well with English and Canadian traders during the heyday of the fur trade on the Saskatchewan River but on the upper Missouri they took an early dislike to Americans whom they called Big Knives American fur traders such as Manuel Lisa Pierre Menard and Andrew Henry were literally chased out of Montana by the Blackfeet Indians at Work ,1937 Indians at Work United States. Bureau of Indian Affairs,1940 Pueblo Crafts Ruth Underhill,1944 Ojibwa Crafts (Chippewa) Carrie Alberta Lyford,1963

More Than Curiosities Susan L. Meyn,2001-01-01 Beginning in the 1920s anthropologists traders and other admirers of traditional Native American cultures appalled by the degradation of fine crafts into tourist trinkets began cultivating a fine arts market for indigenous textiles jewelry ceramics and basketry In More Than Curiosities Susan Labry Meyn explores how this grassroots revival led to the founding of the Indian Arts and Crafts Board in 1935 Meyn demonstrates how the Board and its activities such as development and marketing of quality arts and crafts targeted loan programs and the creation of artisans cooperatives not only aided in the development of a source of sustained income for Native artists but also were pivotal in overcoming the larger Euro American indifference toward Native culture Under the leadership of Rene d Harnoncourt the Board facilitated cross cultural understanding and provided the mechanisms that allowed Native American artists to revive traditional practices and adapt them to an Anglo market Meyn s novel study will become an invaluable contribution to scholars of the period artists and anyone interested in Native American studies Invisible Reality Rosalyn R. LaPier,2017-01-01 Rosalyn R LaPier demonstrates that Blackfeet history is incomplete without an understanding of the Blackfeet people's relationship and mode of interaction with the invisible reality of the supernatural world. Religious beliefs provided the Blackfeet with continuity through privations and changing times. The stories they passed to new generations and outsiders reveal the fundamental philosophy of Blackfeet existence: namely, the belief that they could alter, change, or control nature to suit their needs and that they were able to do so with the assistance of supernatural allies. The Blackfeet did not believe they had to adapt to nature; they made nature adapt. Their relationship with the supernatural provided the Blackfeet with stability and made predictable the seeming unpredictability of the natural world in which they lived. In Invisible Reality, Rosalyn LaPier presents an unconventional, creative, and innovative history that blends extensive archival research, vignettes of family stories, and traditional knowledge learned from elders along with personal reflections on her own journey learning Blackfeet stories. The result is a nuanced look at the history of the Blackfeet and their relationship with the natural world.

Visiting with the Ancestors Laura Peers, Alison K. Brown, 2016-09-29. In 2010, five magnificent Blackfoot shirts now owned by the University of Oxford's Pitt Rivers Museum were brought to Alberta to be exhibited at the Glenbow Museum in Calgary and the Galt Museum in Lethbridge. The shirts had not returned to Blackfoot territory since 1841, when officers of the Hudson's Bay Company acquired them. The shirts were later transported to England, where they had remained ever since. Exhibiting the shirts at the museums was, however, only one part of the project undertaken by Laura Peers and Alison Brown. Prior to the installation of the exhibits, groups of Blackfoot people, hundreds altogether, participated in special handling sessions in which they were able to touch the shirts and examine them up close. The shirts, some painted with mineral pigments and adorned with porcupine quillwork, others decorated with locks of human and horse hair, took the breath away of those who saw, smelled, and touched them. Long dormant memories were awakened, and many of the participants described a powerful sense of connection and familiarity with the shirts, which still house the spirit of the ancestors who wore them. In the pages of this beautifully illustrated volume is the story of an effort to build a bridge between museums and source communities in hopes of establishing stronger, more sustaining relationships between the two and spurring change in prevailing museum policies. Negotiating the tension between a museum's institutional protocol and Blackfoot cultural protocol was challenging, but the experience described both by the authors and by Blackfoot contributors to the volume was transformative. Museums seek to preserve objects for posterity. This volume demonstrates that the emotional and spiritual power of objects does not vanish with the death of those who created them. For Blackfoot people today, these shirts are a living presence, one that evokes a sense of continuity and inspires pride in Blackfoot cultural heritage.
