Blairs Britain A Christian Critique:

Blair's Britain Mark David Chapman, 2005 Mark D Chapman analyses the transformation of British politics since the election of Tony Blair as prime minister in May 1997 raising questions about the role of the state the nature of sovereignty and the meaning of community He exposes what he calls the profound tragedy at the heart of modern politics the betrayal by New Labour of the Christian values of fraternity solidarity and co operation which had underpinned the socialist vision He goes on to offer a remarkably bold and original way forward for radical politics drawing on democratic socialist and pluralist ideas as well as the values of the Gospel and the Christian tradition BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

The Hybrid Church in the City Christopher Richard Baker, 2016-12-05 The era of post colonialism and globalisation has brought new intensities of debate concerning the existence of diversity and plurality and the need to work in partnerships to resolve major problems of injustice and marginalisation now facing local and global communities The Church is struggling to connect with the significant economic political and cultural changes impacting on all types of urban context but especially city centres inner rings and outer estates and the new ex urban communities being developed beyond the suburbs This book argues that theology and the church need to engage more seriously with post modern reality and thought if points of connection both theologically and pastorally are going to be created The author proposes a sustained engagement with a key concept to emerge from post modern experience namely the concept of the Third Space Drawing on case studies from Europe and the USA primarily this book examines examples of Third Space methodologies to ask questions about hybrid identities and methods churches might adopt to effectively connect with post modern cities and civil society Particular areas of focus by the author include the role and identity of church in post modern urban space the role of public theology in addressing key issues of marginalisation and urbanisation as they impact in the 21st century the nature and role of local civil society as a local response to globalised patterns of urban economic social and cultural change

Gerard Mannion, 2008-11-25 Bringing together the prestigious speakers from the inaugural Church in Our Times Lecture Series at Liverpool Hope University this volume explores key current affairs in ecclesiology Hybrid Church in the City

Christopher Baker, 2013-02-11 There has been a growing interest in the rapidly evolving nature of cities in the past 10 15 years but especially in the last 5 years and the profound impact this is having upon our understanding of community belonging and church This book shows that theology in an urban context has developed way beyond the inner city nostalgia It is a challenging critical and constructive study of the role of the church in cities Ecclesiology and Postmodernity

Gerard Mannion, 2017-01-13 What in the world is postmodernity Is it the dominant reality today If it is what does it mean to be a church in a postmodern world It seems that the church had a difficult time coming to terms with a modern world an era ruled by the claims of scientific certainty Having done so more or less it is now confronted by the claims of postmodernity which seem to reverse the whole equation to say that certainty and objectivity are chimeras What is truth Pilate asked and postmodernity at least as caricatured by its opponents responds There s no such thing Gerard Mannion in Ecclesiology and Postmodernity addresses the situation of the church in a postmodern world The fundamental changes in human society and culture wrought by the twentieth century require the church to consider its response in the twenty first century What is the church s moral Vision how does its practice look what is the nature of its aspiration toward holiness in our times Mannion believes that since Vatican II the Catholic Church has been in a kind of limbo awaiting a Vision of its own life for the future Rather than focusing on specific controversies Mannion offers concrete suggestions about how the church can create a better harmony between its own self understanding its ecclesiological Vision and its day to day life its ecclesial practice Gerard Mannion PhD educated at King s College Cambridge University and New College Oxford University is Associate Professor of Ecclesiology and Ethics in the Department of Theology and Religious Studies at Liverpool Hope University UK He is also the director of Church In Our Times Centre for the Study of Contemporary Ecclesiology co director of the Applied Ethics Initiative at Liverpool Hope co chair of the AAR American Academy of Religion Ecclesiological Investigations Program Unit and co ordinator of the Ecclesiological Investigations International Research Network Mannion is the author of Schopenhauer Religion and Morality and co editor of Readings in Church Authority Gifts and Challenges for Contemporary Catholicism both published by Ashgate in 2003 and co editor of the forthcoming volumes The Routledge Companion to the Christian Church and Catholic Social Justice Theological and Practical Explorations Redefining Christian Britain Jane Garnett, 2007 Addresses the state of religion in the UK from post WWII to the new millennium with a selection of case studies from experts in the fields of history sociology and religious studies This book is organised around the themes of authenticity generation and virtue It looks at the impact of Christianity over a range of areas of national life Living the Magnificat

Mark Chapman, 2007-12-15 A reflection by leading Roman Catholic and Anglican writers on the Magnificat Mary's great song of praise and transformation in light of contemporary global struggles and inequalities Faith and Politics After Christendom Jonathan Bartley, 2013-08-01 This groundbreaking book examines the anarchic aspects of Jesus' message and suggests that the demise of the church as pillar of social order gives it a fresh opportunity to exercise its prophetic role challenging injustice shaking institutions and undermining some of the central values and norms on which post-Christian society is built Established Church Mark Chapman, Judith Maltby, William Whyte, 2011-07-28 The Christian Review, 1858 Public Opinion, Legitimacy and Tony Blair's War in Iraq James Strong, 2017-02-17 In the wake of the publication of the Chilcot report this book reinterprets the relationship between British public opinion and the Blair government's decision making in the run up to the 2003 invasion of Iraq It highlights how the government won the parliamentary vote and got its war but never won the argument that it was the right thing to do Understanding how why and with what consequences Britain wound up in this position means understanding better both this specific case and the wider issue of how democratic publics influence foreign policy processes Taking an innovative constructivist approach to understanding how public actors potentially influence foreign policy Strong frames the debate about Iraq as a contest over legitimacy among active public actors breaking it down into four constituent elements covering the necessity legality and morality of war and the government's authority The book presents a detailed empirical account of the British public debate before the invasion of Iraq based on the rigorous interrogation of thousands of primary sources employing both quantitative and qualitative content analysis methods to interpret the shape of debate between January 2002 and March 2003 Also contributing to the wider foreign policy analysis literature the book investigates the domestic politics of foreign policy decision making and particularly the influence public opinion exerts considers the domestic structural determinants of foreign policy decision making and studies the ethics of foreign policy decision making and the legitimate use of force It will be of great use to students and scholars of foreign policy analysis as well as those interested in legitimacy in international conflict British foreign policy the Iraq War and the role of public opinion in conflict situations Doing God Mark David Chapman, 2008 Mark D Chapman attacks the Labour government's vague thinking about community and Britishness and shows how for several years church leaders have colluded with failed approaches to pluralism multi-culturalism and diversity In this provocative essay Chapman argues for a completely new approach Instead of promoting nebulous ideas such as community cohesion the churches should demand social policies that will re-invigorate society at the grass roots level through the concrete redistribution of wealth coupled with radical steps to free local government as far as possible from centralised control Communities Chapman insists cohere through coming together for specific ends Drawing on the political thought of Rowan Williams he argues for a pluralism rooted in the pragmatic need to make decisions at the local level Against the grain of much contemporary thinking Chapman understands Christianity less in terms of fellowship and community and more in terms of justice and mercy ideas
