,2025-10-21 For Bernard Williams philosophy and history are importantly connected His work exploits this connection in a number of directions he believes that philosophy cannot ignore its own history the way science can that even when engaging with philosophy s history primarily to produce history one needs to draw on philosophy and that when doing the history of philosophy primarily to produce philosophy one still needs a sense of how historically distant past philosophers are because the point of reading them is to confront something different from the present But Williams also holds that systematic philosophy itself needs to be done historically engaging not just with its own history but with that of the concepts it seeks to understand To explore these different ways in which philosophy and history intertwine this volume assembles specially commissioned contributions by A W Moore Terence Irwin Sophie Grace Chappell Catherine Rowett Marcel van Ackeren John Cottingham Gerald Lang Lorenzo Greco Paul Russell Carla Bagnoli Peter Kail David Owen Giuseppina D Oro James Connelly Matthieu Queloz Nikhil Krishnan John Marenbon Ralph Wedgwood Garrett Cullity Hans Johann Glock Geraldine Ng Ilaria Cozzaglio Amanda R Greene and Miranda Fricker They critically appraise Williams s work in and on the history of philosophy as well as his historicist turn and his use of genealogy The collection uniquely combines substantive discussions of historical figures from Homer to Wittgenstein with methodological discussions of how and why the history of philosophy should be done and how and why philosophy should draw on history

Kelly,2018-11-12 Faith in the power and righteousness of retribution has taken over the American criminal justice system Approaching punishment and responsibility from a philosophical perspective Erin Kelly challenges the moralism behind harsh treatment of criminal offenders and calls into question our society s commitment to mass incarceration The Limits of Blame takes issue with a criminal justice system that aligns legal criteria of guilt with moral criteria of blameworthiness Many incarcerated people do not meet the criteria of blameworthiness even when they are guilty of crimes Kelly underscores the problems of exaggerating what criminal guilt indicates particularly when it is tied to the illusion that we know how long and in what ways criminals should suffer Our practice of assigning blame has gone beyond a pragmatic need for protection and a moral need to repudiate harmful acts publicly It represents a desire for retribution that normalizes excessive punishment Appreciating the limits of moral blame critically undermines a commonplace rationale for long and brutal punishment practices Kelly proposes that we abandon our culture of blame and aim at reducing serious crime rather than imposing retribution Were we to refocus our perspective to fit the relevant moral circumstances and legal criteria we could endorse a humane appropriately limited and more productive approach to criminal justice Safety Management Ron C.
