Troubling Images Federico Freschi, Brenda Schmähmann, Lize van Robbroeck, 2020-02-01 Troubling Images explores how art and visual culture helped to secure hegemonic claims to the nation state via the construction of a unified Afrikaner imaginary Emerging in the late nineteenth century and gaining currency in the 1930s and 1940s Afrikaner nationalist fervour underpinned the establishment of white Afrikaner political and cultural domination during South Africa's apartheid years Focusing on manifestations of Afrikaner nationalism in paintings sculptures monuments buildings cartoons photographs illustrations and exhibitions Troubling Images offers a critical account of the role of art and visual culture in the construction of a unified Afrikaner imaginary which helped secure hegemonic claims to the nation state This insightful volume examines the implications of metaphors and styles deployed in visual culture and considers how the design production collecting and commissioning of objects images and architecture were informed by Afrikaner nationalist imperatives and ideals While some chapters focus only on instances of adherence to Afrikaner nationalism others consider articulations of dissent and criticism By troubling these images looking at them teasing out their meanings and connecting them to a political and social project that still has a major impact on the present moment the authors engage with the ways in which an Afrikaner nationalist inheritance is understood and negotiated in contemporary South Africa They examine the management of its material effects in contemporary art in archives the commemorative landscape and the built environment Troubling Images adds to current debates about the histories and ideological underpinnings of nationalism and is particularly relevant in the current context of globalism and diaspora resurgent nationalisms and calls for decolonisation

The Bureaucracy of Beauty Arindam Dutta,2007 Publisher description

Colonial Heritage and Urban Transformation in the Global South Christian Ernten,2021-10-27 This book traces and analyses the role of heritage in the urban transformation of the city of Cape Town By looking at discourses of heritage and urban design the book shows how Cape Town positions itself as an emerging global city in the context of a series of global events The book points at how a heritage focus on the themes of post colonial and post apartheid reconciliation restitution and memory in the city shifts to a focus on creativity design and the arts Thereby showing how traumatic remnants of colonialism and apartheid are reframed as design challenges Furthermore it argues that the idea of a transformed society is projected into a future time and the chaotic present everyday life is left to its own devices Against this backdrop the book lays out the opportunities for epistemological reset and decolonial reflection on the city's deep histories its embedded injustices and traumas that surfaced

The Political Afterlife of Sites of Monumental Destruction Andrea Connor,2017-06-14 What happens when a monumental thing is physically destroyed Is its life as a socially significant presencing thing at an end Or might the process of destruction work to enhance its symbolic force mediating work and presencing power In this book Andrea Connor traces the afterlife of two exemplary examples of monumental destruction and their re investment with cultural value and symbolic significance In 1993 during the Bosnian war the Mostar Bridge was completely destroyed Reconstructed in 2004 as an exact copy of the original this new Old Bridge has assumed an afterlife as an intentional monument to reconciliation The World Trade Centre in New York has also been transformed since its destruction in 2001 as a place of national mourning and remembrance a symbolic void marking a singular act of terrorism Using recent work on affect and object agency Connor considers their contested reconfiguration as sites of collective remembering and forgetting in new highly charged political contexts She argues for a more expansive notion of reconstruction encompassing not only the material and symbolic afterlife of both things but also their affecting afterlives as they are re assembled in the present Provoking a reconsideration of the way monuments and heritage sites even in their absence become powerful agents of historical narrativization this work will be of interest to students and scholars in a range of fields including international relations cultural studies critical heritage studies and material culture studies

Home Spaces, Street Styles Leslie J. Bank,2011-01-10 This book revisits the classic anthropology study the Xhosa in Town series based on research in the South African city of East London conducted during the 1950s The original studies revealed that there were two opposed responses to urbanisation in East London's African locations one embracing Westernisation European values and Christianity and another opposed to it Leslie Bank returned to the areas of East London studied in the 1950s to assess how social and political changes have transformed these areas in particular the apartheid reconstruction of the 1960s and 1970s and the struggle for liberation followed by the post Apartheid period in the 1980s and 1990s Bank has added important theoretical insights to this rich ethnography and forged strong links with issues that transcend the particularities of his urban study Postcolonial African Cities Fassil Demissie, 2013-09-13

The book focuses on contemporary African cities caught in the contradiction of an imperial past and postcolonial present The essays explore the cultural role of colonial architecture and urbanism in the production of meanings in the inscription of power and discipline as well as in the dynamic construction of identities It is in these new dense urban spaces with all their contradictions that urban Africans are reworking their local identities building families and creating autonomous communities made fragile by neo liberal states in a globalizing world The book offers a range of scholarly interpretations of the new forms of urbanity It engages with issues themes and topics including colonial legacies postcolonial intersections cosmopolitan spaces urban reconfigurations and migration which are at the heart of the continuing debate about the trajectory of contemporary African cities The collection discusses contemporary African cities as diverse as Dar Es Salaam Dakar Johannesburg Lagos and Kinshasa offering new insights into the current state of postcolonial African cities This was previously published as a special issue of African Identities
