Of Onias:

A Critical and Exegetical Commentary on the Book of Daniel R. H. Charles, 2006-05-04 With the exception of Dr Montgomery in his Commentary in the International Critical Commentary Series all my forerunners in the study of Daniel have been handicapped in many respects owing to the lack of an Aramaic grammar which dealt with the historical development of the language Accordingly a large section of the Introduction is devoted to the grammatical development of Aramaic idioms so far as these have any bearing on the Aramaic of our text Again I may remark that though many of the greatest Semitic scholars have edited Daniel not one of them seems to have had a first hand knowledge of the characteristics of Apocalyptic outside Daniel In publishing this Commentary my chief claim is so far as possible to recover the oldest form of the text and to interpret that text in conformity with the usages of Jewish Apocalyptic from the Preface

A History of the Mishnaic Law of Holy Things, Part 2 Jacob Neusner, 2007-04-01 The history of Jews from the period of the Second Temple to the rise of Islam From A History of the Mishnaic Law of Appointed Times Part 1 This volume introduces the sources of Judaism in late antiquity to scholars in adjacent fields such as the study of the Old and New Testaments Ancient History the ancient Near East and the history of religion In two volumes leading American Israeli and European specialists in the history literature theology and archaeology of Judaism offer factual answers to the two questions that the study of any religion in ancient times must raise The first is what are the sources written and in material culture that inform us about that religion The second is how have we to understand those sources in reconstructing the history of various Judaic systems in antiquity The chapters set forth in simple statements intelligible to non specialists the facts which the sources provide Because of the nature of the subject and acute interest in it the specialists also raise some questions particular to the study of Judaism dealing with its historical relationship with nascent Christianity in New Testament times The work forms the starting point for the study of all the principal questions concerning Judaism in late antiquity and sets forth the most current critical results of scholarship

History of the Jewish People in the Time of Jesus Christ Emil Schürer, 1896 Building Jewish in the Roman East Peter Richardson, 2005-02-01 Archaeology has unearthed the glories of ancient Jewish buildings throughout the Mediterranean But what has remained shrouded is what these buildings meant Building Jewish first surveys the architecture of small rural villages in the Galilee in the early Roman period before examining the development of synagogues as Jewish associations Finally Building Jewish explores Jerusalem's flurry of building activity under Herod the Great in the first century BCE Richardson's careful work not only documents the culture that forms the background to any study of Second Temple Judaism and early Christianity but he also succeeds in demonstrating how architecture itself like a text conveys meaning and thus directly illuminates daily life and religious thought and practice in the ancient world Jesus, the Temple, and Early Christian Memory Scott Brevard, 2025-08-07 Jewish identity during the Second Temple period 515 BCE 70 CE was complex multifaceted and variable but many studies of this period treat Jewish attitudes toward one key feature the Jerusalem temple as simple and uniform Brevard aims to complicate this notion by examining early Christian traditions of Jesus's relationship with the temple Early Christian memory constructed transformed and transmitted traditions about the past into their present contexts Examining early Christian memory as represented by canonical and noncanonical gospel traditions in the first three centuries CE allows scholars to ask how certain figures institutions or beliefs were remembered and represented as well as to posit theories as to why memories were constructed in particular ways and how these memories related to their contemporary historical and social frameworks Early Christians remembered Jesus as having a complex relationship with the Jerusalem temple and these early Christian traditions of Jesus impacted their own contemporary worldviews This complicated relationship with the temple however was not a new phenomenon but one that was already familiar to those constructing experiencing remembering and transmitting their Jewish identity throughout the diaspora world in the Second Temple period
