Adolescent Psychology, 1997-1998 Anita M. Meehan, Eileen Astor-Stetson, Astor-Stetso, 1996-08 Popular culture often depicts adolescence as a period of raging hormones, emotional upheaval, rejection of parents, and blind conformity to peers. One goal of this anthology is to present a more balanced picture of adolescence, including both positive and negative aspects of this developmental transition. Many readings present controversial topics that the editors hope will spur classroom debate. To the reader: Within the pages of this volume are interesting, well-illustrated articles by psychologists, educators, researchers, and writers providing effective and useful perspectives on today's important topics in the study of adolescent psychology.

Back cover Howard Gardner Under Fire Jeffrey A. Schaler, 2006 Thirteen critical essays challenge Howard Gardner's theories of multiple intelligences, ability traits, U-shaped curves in development, and other psychological concepts of spirituality, creativity, and leadership. All are answered by Gardner himself, and his pungent replies, coupled with the essays, create a provocative, no-holds-barred debate. Also included are an intellectual autobiography and bibliography.

Intelligence Reframed Howard E. Gardner, 2000-09-18 Harvard psychologist Howard Gardner has been acclaimed as the most influential educational theorist since John Dewey. His ideas about intelligence and creativity explicated in such bestselling books as Frames of Mind and Multiple Intelligences (over 200,000 copies in print combined) have revolutionized our thinking. In his groundbreaking 1983 book Frames of Mind, Howard Gardner first introduced the theory of multiple intelligences, which posits that intelligence is more than a single property of the human mind. That theory has become widely accepted as one of the seminal ideas of the twentieth century and continues to attract attention all over the world Now in Intelligence Reframed Gardner provides a much needed report on the theory its evolution and revisions He offers practical guidance on the educational uses of the theory and responds to the critiques leveled against him He also introduces two new intelligences existential intelligence and naturalist intelligence and argues that the concept of intelligence should be broadened but not so absurdly that it includes every human virtue and value Ultimately argues Gardner possessing a basic set of seven or eight intelligences is not only a unique trademark of the human species but also perhaps even a working definition of the species Gardner also offers provocative ideas about creativity leadership and moral excellence and speculates about the relationship between multiple intelligences and the world of work in the future Annual Editions John J. Sullivan, Joseph L. Victor, 1997 The Shadow's Gift Robin Robertson, 2011-04-01

There is no change that doesn't begin in the darkness of the human soul The necessity for the confrontation with the Shadow has been known by all cultures in all times and recorded in their myths and legends When the obligation to become whole is laid upon an individual the first task he must undertake is to confront his Shadow The Shadow's Gift Find Who You really Are is about the Shadow contained in each of us and why we must each join with our shadow the archetype of darkness and evil in order to become whole This heroic process is crucial as the projection or denial of the Shadow twists its true meaning into a destructive counter evolutionary force Owning and integrating our shadow allows its transformation in both the world and us The Shadow is a paradox While it initially appears to us as loathsome and despicable it actually contains all our future potentialities for development Perhaps more than any other Robin Robertson discusses it from a the perspective of a belief in the inherent potential good of the Shadow and its ability to assist us in our quest for self actualization Robin Robertson draws from stories of real people's lives the Bible fairy tales and legends modern fiction and the work of famed depth psychologist C G Jung as well as his own experiences His writing is intimate and accessible and his insights and wisdom are conveyed in anecdotal and easy to understand language with clarity and depth Art and Intimacy Ellen Dissanayake, 2015-08-03 To Ellen Dissanayake the arts are biologically evolved propensities of human nature their fundamental features helped early humans adapt to their environment and reproduce themselves successfully over generations In Art and Intimacy she argues for the joint evolutionary origin of art and intimacy what we commonly call love It all begins with the human trait of birthing immature and helpless infants To ensure that mothers find their demanding babies worth caring for humans evolved to be lovable and to attune themselves to others from the moment of birth The ways in which mother and infant respond to each other are rhythmically patterned vocalizations and exaggerated face and body movements that Dissanayake calls rhythms and sensory modes Rhythms and modes also give rise to the arts Because humans are born predisposed to respond to and use rhythmic modal signals societies everywhere have elaborated them further as music mime dance and display in rituals which instill and reinforce valued cultural beliefs Just as rhythms and modes coordinate and unify the mother infant pair in ceremonies they coordinate and unify members of a group Today we humans live in environments very different from those of our ancestors They used ceremonies the arts to address matters of serious concern such as health prosperity and fecundity that affected their survival Now we tend to dismiss the arts to see them as superfluous only for an elite But if we are biologically predisposed to participate in artlike behavior then we actually need the arts Even or perhaps especially in our fast paced sophisticated modern lives the arts encourage us to show that we care about important things
