American politics tend to perceive the nature of African Americans role in political life and their position in American society in the present age In this retrospective readers have the opportunity to get a sense of what Holden argued of the seven essays that make up his seminal volume and to consider how well Holden s observations have stood the tests of time In addition to the essays presented at the symposium which pointedly discuss Holden s work there are essays dealing with African American Politics in Constancy and Change by contributors including Charles Henry David Covin Robert C Smith Clyde Lusane Cheryl Miller D Linell Finley and Sekou Franklin among others Other features are a highly informative discussion of the Literary Digest magazine s Straw Vote Presidential Polls 1916 1936 and a review essay by Peter Ronaye in which he discusses America as New World Power U S Foreign Policy in the Post Cold War Era The volume concludes with fifteen book reviews by knowledgeable scholars The Politics of the Black Nation is a timely thought provoking volume It will be of immense value to ethnic studies specialists African American studies scholars political scientists historians and sociologists Georgia A Persons is professor in the School of Public Policy at the Georgia Institute of Technology and the current editor of the National Political Science Review

Workers, Capital, and the State in British Columbia Rennie Warburton, David Coburn, 2011-11-01 This collection of essays offers a comprehensive examination of the working class experience in British Columbia and contains essential background knowledge for an understanding of contemporary relations between government labour and employees It treats workers relationship to the province s resource base the economic role of the state the structure of capitalism the labour market and the influence of ethnicity and race on class relations Using different analytical categories and based on primary research the individual studies provide new assessments of the development of capitalist relations of production the way new economic developments changed old and traditional cultures the connection between the demand for labour and the immigration policy the impact of technology on work relations and the various responses of labour to the policies of the state and capital groupings Articles focusing on episodes from the 1870s to the present deal with major staple industries such as the early fur trade fishing mining and forestry and with the struggle of labourers against their employers in communities such as New Westminster and Fraser Mills and in specific sectors such as telecommunications and education Many of the analyses show that ethnicity acts both as a focus of integration and resistance against external forces in the larger society and as a point of division and antagonism internal to the working class The activities of the working class and its relationships to other parts of society are of primary importance in explaining social and economic change in the province and in the country Workers Capital and the State in British Columbia will be of interest to students of class labour and community relations

The Arc of a Bad Idea Carlos A. Hoyt, 2016 For the vast majority of human existence we did without the idea of race Since its inception a mere few hundred years ago and despite the voluminous documentation of the problems associated with living within the racial worldview we have come to act as if race is something we cannot live without The arc of a bad idea Understanding and transcending race presents a penetrating provocative and promising analysis of and alternative to the hegemonic racial worldview How race came about how it evolved into a natural seeming aspect of human identity and how racialization as a habit of the mind can be broken is presented through the unique and corrective framing of race as a time bound versus eternal concept the lifespan of which is traceable and the demise of which is predictable The narratives of individuals who do not subscribe to racial identity despite be ascribed to the black African American racial category are presented as clear and compelling illustrations of how a non racial identity and worldview is possible and arguably preferable to the status quo Our view of and approach to race in theory pedagogy and policy is so firmly ensconced in a sense of it as inescapable and indispensable that we are in effect shackled to the lethal absurdity we seek to escape Theorist teachers policy makers and anyone who seeks a transformative perspective on race and racial identity will be challenged enriched and empowered by this refreshing treatment of one of our most confounding and consequential dilemmas
