Aspects Of Transylvanian Hungarian Literature 1919-1929:

Aspects of Transylvanian Hungarian Literature, 1919-1929 Ion Chinezu, 1997 Storia, identità e canoni letterari Ioana Both, Ayşe Saraçgil, Angela Tarantino, 2013 This volume collects the interventions of the post doctoral fellows and PhD students of the University of Cluj Napoca the University of Bucharest and the University of Florence Mediterranean Cultures Doctoral School of Comparative Languages Literatures and Cultures specialisation in Language Literature Philology Intercultural Perspectives presented in occasion of the seminar Storia identità e canoni letterari History identity and literary canons Florence 22-23 November 2011 The contributions are centred on the idea of canon as a cultural construct founding modern national identities Another trace is the literary and cultural hybridisations between different geographies For the Romanian context the contributions pay particular attention to the movements of the avant garde of the early 1900s Some contributions account for the most problematic aspects of the contemporary world using interdisciplinary approaches

Romanian Literature as World Literature Mircea Martin, Christian Moraru, Andrei Terian, 2017-12-28 Approaching Romanian literature as world literature this book is a critical theoretical manifesto that places its object at the crossroads of empires regions and influences and draws conclusions whose relevance extends beyond the Romanian Romance and East European cultural systems This intersectional revisiting of Romanian literature is organized into three parts Opening with a fresh look at the literary ideology of Romania's national poet Mihai Eminescu part I dwells primarily on literary cultural history as process and discipline Here the focus is on cross cultural mimesis the role of strategic imitation in the production of a distinct literature in modern Romania and the shortcomings marking traditional literary historiography's handling of these issues Part II examines the ethno linguistic and territorial complexity of Romanian literatures or Romanian literature in the plural Part III takes up the trans systemic rise of Romanian Jewish Romanian and Romanian European avant garde and modernism Socialist Realism exile and migr literature and translation Europe and the Historical Legacies in the Balkans Raymond Detrez, Barbara Segaert, 2008 The enlargement of the EU with the Balkan countries has aroused the skepticism of many Although EU admission is primarily a matter of economic and political concerns questions of cultural import are readily brought into play Does the country in question conform sufficiently to our standards of a European identity The problematic status of the Balkans in this respect largely consists in their common Byzantine and Ottoman legacies By focusing on Bulgaria and its neighbours Romania Greece and Turkey the authors of this collection attempt to elucidate how mutually incompatible the cultural identity of the Ottoman successor states and that of Europe are Ample attention is devoted not only to the perception of the Balkans in the West but also to the self image of people in the Balkans and perceptions they hold of the West If anything like a Balkan identity can be said to exist what is its relation to the various ethnic national religious and linguistic communities Notably what was and is the role played by religion in nation state formation The relationship with Europe forms the thread that runs through the discussion of these issues The Remote Borderland Laszlo

Kurti, 2001-07-19 The Remote Borderland explores the significance of the contested region of Transylvania to the creation of Hungarian national identity. Author L. szl K rti illustrates the process by which European intellectuals, politicians, and artists locate their nation's territory, embody it with meaning, and reassert its importance at various historical junctures. The book's discussion of the contested and negotiated nature of nationality in its East-Central European setting reveals cultural assumptions profoundly mortgaged to twentieth-century notions of home, nation, state, and people. The Remote Borderland shows that it is not only important to recognize that nations are imagined but to note how and where they are imagined in order to truly understand the transformation of European societies during the twentieth century. History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe Marcel Cornis-Pope, John Neubauer, 2006-09-13 Continuing the work undertaken in Vol 1 of the History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe, Vol 2 considers various topographic sites, multicultural cities, border areas, cross-cultural corridors, multiethnic regions that cut across national boundaries, rendering them permeable to the flow of hybrid cultural messages. By focusing on the literary cultures of specific geographical locations, this volume intends to put into practice a new type of comparative study. Traditional comparative literary studies establish transnational comparisons and contrasts but thereby reconfirm, however inadvertently, the very national borders they play down. This volume inverts the expansive momentum of comparative studies towards ever broader regional, European, and world literary histories. While the theater of this volume is still the literary culture of East-Central Europe, the contributors focus on pinpointed local traditions and geographic nodal points. Their histories of Riga, Plovdiv, Timișoara, or Budapest, of Transylvania or the Danube corridor, to take a few examples, reveal how each of these sites was during the last two hundred years a home for a variety of foreign or ethnic literary traditions next to the one now dominant within the national borders. By foregrounding such non-national or hybrid traditions, this volume pleads for a diversification and pluralization of local and national histories. A genuine comparatist revival of literary history should involve the recognition that treading on native grounds means actually treading on grounds cultivated by diverse people. Transylvanian Review, 1999 Bibliographic Guide to Slavic, Baltic, and Eurasian Studies, 2000 Transilvania, 2010 Scriitori români din anii '80-'90: A-F Ion Bogdan Lefter, 2000 Altera, 2000 Modern Rumanian Literature Basil Munteanu, 1939 Guide to Hungarian Studies Elemer Bako, 1973 The National Union Catalog, Pre-1956 Imprints Library of Congress, American Library Association.
