Starting in the early 1990s the Baltics Russia and other BRO countries of the former Soviet Union initiated tax reforms that varied widely at the later stages Recently some of the BRO countries basing decisions on the proposition that lowering of the top marginal income tax rate would significantly benefit economic development and increase tax compliance have initiated a new stage of tax reforms This paper reviews country experiences and suggests that i overall there seems to be little evidence of a substantial improvement in income tax revenues resulting simply from a reduction in the top marginal tax rates and ii in the BRO countries the elasticity of the behavior of economic agents in terms of labor supply saving and investment with respect to income tax rates is not large and a reduction of the existing income tax rates is unlikely to lead to a notable expansion of economic activity The Political Economy of Transnational Tax Reform W. Taxing Capital Income Henry J. Aaron,Leonard E. Burman,C. lost Some analysts would even argue that under our present byzantine tax system we don't really tax capital income at all In this volume eminent economists analyze the problems associated with taxing capital income and propose policy solutions which are then challenged by their peers in informed commentary It may not settle the debate but policymakers scholars and the public will find a wealth of information and ideas to consider Comptroller General's Annual Report United States.
