The External Balance Assessment Methodology: 2018 Update Mr. Luis M. Cubeddu, Signe Krogstrup, Gustavo Adler, Mr. Pau Rabanal, Mai Chi Dao, Mrs. Swarnali A Hannan, Luciana Juvenal, Ms. Carolina Osorio Buitron, Cyril Rebillard, Daniel Garcia-Macia, Callum Jones, Jair Rodriguez, Kyun Suk Chang, Deepali Gautam, Zijiao Wang, Miss Nan Li, 2019-03-19 The assessment of external positions and exchange rates is a key mandate of the IMF This paper presents the updated External Balance Assessment EBA framework a key input in the conduct of multilaterally consistent external sector assessments of 49 advanced and emerging market economies following the two rounds of refinements adopted since the

framework was introduced in 2012 as described in Phillips et al 2013 It also presents new complementary tools for shedding light on the role of structural factors in explaining external imbalances and assessing potential biases in the measurement of external positions Remaining challenges and areas of future work are also discussed Understanding American Economic Decline Michael Alan Bernstein, David E. Adler, 1994-07-29 The public has long been painfully aware of the economy's stagnation The contemporary recession has brought to the foreground problems which have been germinating for decades Falling real wages slow productivity growth and the loss of international competitiveness in major industries all are outgrowths of long term developments that predate this crisis As the United States moves from a position of global economic leadership to one of economic interdependence we need alternative approaches to explain the dramatic changes in the US economy This collection of essays written by leading scholars presents a systematic analysis of the nation's economic woes The authors furnish more than hard hitting criticisms of the US economy They provide hope as they offer solutions to America's most pressing economic problems U.S. Fiscal and Savings Crisis--implications for Long-term Growth United States. Research Dept., 1990-01-01 This paper analyzes macroeconomic effects of projected population aging in industrial countries The effects of population aging are examined with a theoretical model and simulations of the IMF's multiregion econometric model MULTIMOD The study highlights that an older population will consume more of aggregate disposable income require higher government expenditure and decrease labor supply These effects should raise real interest rates and lower capital stock and output Effects on current balances will depend on the relative speed and extent of aging 2015 External Sector Report - Individual Economy Assessments International Monetary Fund, 2015-06-29 The external sector assessments use a wide range of methods including the External Balance Assessment EBA developed by the IMF's Research Department to estimate desired current account balances and real exchange rates see

External Sector Report 2022 International Monetary Fund. Research Dept.,2022-08-04 Global current account balances the overall size of current account deficits and surpluses continued to widen in 2021 to 3.5 percent of world GDP and are expected to widen again this year The IMF s multilateral approach suggests that global excess balances narrowed to 0.9 percent of world GDP in 2021 compared with 1.2 percent of world GDP in 2020 The pandemic has continued to affect economies current account balances unevenly through the travel and transportation sectors as well as a shift from services to goods consumption. Commodity prices recovered from the COVID 19 shock and started rising in 2021 with opposite effects on the external position of exporters and importers, a trend that the war in Ukraine is exacerbating in 2022. The medium term outlook for global current account balances is a gradual narrowing as the impact of the pandemic fades away, commodity prices normalize and fiscal consolidation in current account deficit economies progresses. However, this outlook is highly uncertain and subject to several risks. Policies to promote external rebalancing differ with positions and needs of individual economies.
