Assessment Of Immigration Status In Health Research:

The Assessment of Immigration Status in Health Research Sana Loue, Arwen Bunce, 1999 Vital and Health Statistics, 1999 The Assessment of Immigration Status in Health Research J. Neil Russell, 2001-04-01 This is a report on survey methods used to ascertain immigration status The report includes the following a review of the literature on the use of immigration status survey questions the identification of questions that can distinguish between different relevantly defined immigrant statuses an assessment of questionnaire field performance recommendations for developing question sets to address specific analytic issues Assessing Race, Ethnicity and Gender in Health Sana Loue, 2006-12-22 This book deals specifically with the historical basis for use of terms in race gender ethnicity sex and sexual orientation It brings much needed clarity to the debate by identifying the ethical issues as well as the technical challenges inherent in measuring these elusive concepts The author expands on her work begun in Gender Ethnicity and Health Research by paralleling the evolution of racial and sexual categories with the development of health research In addition the book provides a salient guide to assessment tools currently used in measuring racial and sexual constructs identity and experience

Migration and Health in the European Union Bernd Rechel, Philipa Mladovsky, Walter Devillé, Barbara Rijks, Roumyana Petrova-Benedict, Martin McKee, 2011-12-16 This book can be read by anyone with an interest in migration and health whether as an advocate for migrants health as a student in a health profession researcher or policy maker It provides an ample orientation to the field in the European context Among other important raised issues it underlines an all too often neglected fact health is a human right By involving broad issues and problem areas from a variety of perspectives the volume illustrates that migration and health is a field that can not be allocated to a single discipline Carin Björngren Cuadra Senior Lecturer Malmö University Sweden Migrants make up a growing share of European populations However all too often their situation is compounded by problems with accessing health and other basic services There is a need for tailored health policies but robust data on the health needs of migrants and how best these needs can be met are scarce Written by a collaboration of authors from three key international organisations the European Observatory on Health Systems and Policies the EUPHA Section on Migrant and Ethnic Minority Health and the International Organization for Migration as well as leading researchers from across Europe the book thoroughly explores the different aspects of migration and health in the EU and how they can be addressed by health systems Structured into five easy to follow sections the volume includes Contributions from experts from across Europe Key topics such as access to human rights and health care health issues faced by migrants and the national and European policy response so far Conclusions drawn from the latest available evidence Comprehensive information on different aspects of health and migration and how they can best be addressed by health systems is still not easy to find This book addresses this shortfall and will be of major value to researchers students policy makers and practitioners concerned with migration and health in an increasingly diverse Europe

Encyclopedia of Immigrant Health Sana Loue, Martha Sajatovic, 2014-06-20 There is increasing interest in the scientific literature on immigrant health and its impact on disease transmission disease prevention health promotion well being on an individual and population level health policy and the cost of managing all these issues on an individual institutional national and global level The need for accurate and up to date information is particularly acute due to the increasing numbers of immigrants and refugees worldwide as the result of natural disasters political turmoil the growing numbers of immigrants to magnet countries and the increasing costs of associated health care that are being felt by governments around the world

Format and Scope The first portion of the encyclopedia contains chapters that are approximately 25 to 40 manuscript pages in length Each overview chapter includes a list of references and suggested readings for cross referencing within the encyclopedia The opening chapters are Immigration in the Global Context Immigration Processes and Health in the U S A Brief History Alternative and Complementary Medicine Culture Specific Diagnoses Health Determinants Occupational and Environmental Health Methodological Issues in Immigrant Health Research Ethical Issues in Research with Immigrants and Refugees Ethical Issues in the Clinical Context The second portion of the book consists of alphabetical entries that relate to the health of immigrants Entries are interdisciplinary and are drawn from the following fields of study anthropology demographics history law linguistics medicine population studies psychology religion and sociology Each entry is followed by a listing of suggested readings and suggested resources and also links to related terms within the whole book

Outstanding Features The book adopts a biopsychosocial historical approach to the topics covered in the chapters and the entries Each entry includes suggested readings and suggested resources The chapters and entries are written graduate level that is accessible to all academics researchers and professionals from diverse backgrounds We consider the audience for the entries to be well educated but a non expert in this area The primary focus of the book is on the immigrant populations in and immigration to magnet countries References are made to worldwide trends and issues arising globally In addition to the comprehensive subject coverage the text also offers diverse perspectives The editors themselves reflect the multidisciplinary nature of the topics with expertise in psychiatry law epidemiology anthropology and social work Authors similarly reflect diverse disciplines
