Human Reproductive Technologies and the Law Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Science and Technology Committee, 2005 Approximately 1% of births in the UK were conceived using IVF At present IVF and embryo research are controlled by the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Authority which was formed by a 1990 Act since then scientific progress has been rapid and the Department of Health has announced a review of that Act This extensive inquiry will inform that review It covers regulation of assisted reproduction problems with HFE Act the operation of the Act provision of infertility services review of the Act legislative and regulatory models It makes recommendations on issues such as choosing the sex of babies the need for a separate review of abortion the regulatory bodies required and a legislative framework that balances the freedom of the individual with the interests of the state so that any intervention has a sound ethical base

Routledge Handbook of Medical Law and Ethics Yann Joly,Bartha Maria Knoppers,2014-09-19 This book explores the scope application and role of medical law regulatory norms and ethics and addresses key challenges introduced by contemporary advances in biomedical research and healthcare While mindful of national developments the handbook supports a global perspective in its approach to medical law Contributors include leading scholars in both medical law and ethics who have developed specially commissioned pieces in order to present a critical overview and analysis of the current state of medical law and ethics Each chapter offers comprehensive coverage of longstanding and traditional topics in medical law and ethics and provides dynamic insights into contemporary and emerging issues in this heavily debated field Topics covered include Bioethics health and human rights Medical liability Law and emerging health technologies Public health law Personalized medicine The law and ethics of access to medicines in developing countries Medical research in the genome era Emerging legal and ethical issues in reproductive technologies This advanced level reference work will prove invaluable to legal practitioners scholars students and researchers in the disciplines of law medicine genetics dentistry theology and medical ethics

Law, Policy and Reproductive Autonomy Erin Nelson,2014-07-18 Reproductive choices are at once the most private and intimate decisions we make in our lives and undeniably also among the most public Reproductive decision making takes place in a web of overlapping concerns political and ideological socio economic health and health care all of which engage the public and involve strongly held opinions and attitudes about appropriate conduct on the part of individuals and the state Law Policy and Reproductive Autonomy examines the idea of reproductive autonomy noting that in attempting to look closely at the contours of the concept we begin to see some uncertainty about its meaning and legal implications about how to understand reproductive autonomy and how to value it Both mainstream and feminist literature about autonomy contribute valuable insights into the meaning and implications of reproductive autonomy The developing feminist literature on relational autonomy provides a useful starting point for a contextualised conception of reproductive autonomy that creates the opportunity for meaningful exercise of reproductive choice With a contextualised approach to reproductive autonomy as a backdrop the book traces aspects of the regulation of reproduction in Canadian English US and Australian law and policy arguing that not all reproductive decisions necessarily demand the same level of deference in law and policy and making recommendations for reform

Third Party Assisted Conception Across Cultures Eric Blyth,Ruth Landau,2004 First published in 2003 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Women in Biotechnology Francesca Molino,Flavia Zucco,2008-08-05 Johannes Klumbers Biotechnologies such as genetic engineering cloning and biodiversity raise many legal and ethical concerns so it is important that people understand these issues and feel able to express their opinions This is why the European Commission has been for a number of years supporting actions to improve communication among scientists in these diverse areas The project Women in Biotechnology WONBIT financed under the 6th

Framework programme of the European Commission is an excellent example of what can be done to target opinion formers such as scientists economists and lawyers in bottom up activities and to encourage a debate on gender issues triggered by developments in the life sciences WONBIT gave rise to a successful international conference highlighting the importance of adopting good practices and ethical considerations in parallel with the rapid pace of progress in biotechnology from a woman's point of view In particular the conference addressed women in decision making positions in biotechnology with specific reference to scientific excellence social competencies and management qualities as well as issues relating to environment society and the younger generation But it did not stop there a key part of the conference was dedicated to stimulating public debate among non specialists which has led to a number of recommendations to policy makers on better communication in biotechnology on taking better account of the gender aspects of research and on involving more women in the decision making process that surrounds developments in biotechnology
